St. James's, August 18.

THE following Address of the General Assembly of the Colony of New York in America having been transmitted to Robert Charles, Esq; Agent for that Colony, was by him presented to the King, being introduced by the Lord of the Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously: And Mr. Charles had the Honour of kissing His Majesty's Hand.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the General Assembly of the Colony of New York.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the General Assembly of the Colony of New York, amidst the deep and undissembled Sorrow, so universally diffused through your Majesty's Dominions, by the Death of your Royal Grandfather, of glorious Memory, beg Leave to express our particular Affliction on that mournful Occasion, and with the utmost Sincerity to condole with your Majesty on the affecting and melancholy Event.

When we review the inestimable Blessings of His happy and auspicious Reign, which Posterity will recount with Admiration, as well for the matchless Lustre derived to His Kingdoms by His inflexible Steadiness and Magnanimity, as His Paternal Regard for our Religion, Laws, and Liberties, we cannot refrain from paying this cordial Tribute of unfeigned Grief to the Memory of so good and so great a Monarch.

Nor can we, without the profoundest Gratitude to Almighty God, consider this unspeakable Goodness, in continuing to the Nation a Life of such singular Importance, until your Majesty, then Heir apparent to the Crown, from your Princely Education, and the full Maturity of your Virtues, was qualified to sway the Sceptre with equal Renown.

We therefore beg Leave most humbly to assure your Majesty, that affected, as we are, with the tender Emotions at so interesting and complicated a Loss, we feel, at the same Time, the most inexpressible Joy at your Majesty's happy Accession to the Imperial Throne of your Ancestors. Under your Majesty, we are confident of the same uninterrupted Enjoyment of our Sacred and Civil Liberties, and that the Lustre of your Reign will suffer no Diminution, when compared with the ever memorable Era of George the Second.

Your Majesty's affectionate Concern for your People, and your most gracious and solemn Declarations, "That you will make it the Business of your Life to promote in every Thing the Glory and Happiness of your Kingdoms," cannot but excite, in every grateful Breast, the most ardent Acknowledgements, and may safely be relied upon from a Prince who is pleased so early to distinguish himself by His Royal Regard for Virtue and Piety, the most resplendent and unperishing Ornaments of the Royal Diadem.

These great and exemplary Instances of your Majesty's Goodness to your People, undoubtedly merit all imaginable Returns of Zeal and Affection to your Sacred Person and Government, and have deservedly inspired us, in this remote Part of the British Dominions, (already cherished by the benign Influences of your Majesty's Reign) with the most inflexible Resolution, on all Occasions, to support the Honour and Dignity of the Crown, and with the greatest Alacrity to assist your Majesty in your magnanimous Purposes of reducing your Enemies to speedy and honourable Terms.

When we reflect, most gracious Sovereign, on your Majesty's benevolent Disposition, and those inherent and hereditary Virtues, which promise us all the Blessings naturally flowing from an Administration conducted by the Maxims of immutable Justice and Rectitude, we rejoice in the glorious Prospect of a Reign, teplete with immortal Honour to your Majesty's Person, and the happiest Consequences to your Kingdoms and Dominions.

That the same indulgent Providence, which remarkably blessed your Royal Predecessor, and crowned His Arms with such a Series of Victories, as rendered the Period of His Reign but the Meridian of His Glory, may equally prosper all your Majesty's Undertakings, and enable You, with a Dignity becoming the Arbitrer of Europe, the Champion of Liberty, and of the Protestant Interest, speedily to sheath that destructive Sword, which the Enemies of both obliged that Royal Friend of Mankind to draw with Reluctance: That your Majesty may be ever directed by unerring Wisdom, and constantly exert your native Greatness of Soul, and all your extensive Authority, in the Support of Truth, Religion, and Liberty, (the genuine Glory of all Princes, and the strongest Bulwark of every Throne) and thence feel the Disinterested and Godlike Pleasure of rendering Multitudes happy. And that your Majesty's Government, thus founded in the Hearts and Affections of your People, may finally be transmitted, as it descended from your Ancestors, pure and inviolable, to one of your Majesty's Royal Line, possessed of your exalted Endowments, is the hearty Prayer of,

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most dutiful, most loyal, and most obedient Subjects.
