Hague, Nov. 13. Frince Ferdinand decamped from Ohr, on the 4th Infiant, and croffed the Wefer. His Serene Highnefs eftablished his Head Quarters at Hagenohlen that Night : The Army encamped between Hastenbeeck and Tundern, but were to march from thence immediately. The heavy Baggage was fent to Hameln. Marihal Broglio was on the fame Day at Elcherstaufen : His Troops were foraging, whill the Allied Army croffed the Wefer ; which had the accidental Inconvenience of difcovering Prince Ferdinand's Motions, whilft it obliged the French to retire with Precipitation.

The Hereditary Prince marched the Day before the Army, on the 3d Instant, crossed the Leine, and marched to Eltz; and on the 5th, had a Cannonade of fome Hours with a Body of the Enemy, upon the Mountain of la Huve above Eimbeck.

Major General Freytag, with his Body of Light Troops, marched forward the fame Day, on which the Army croffed the Wefer to Lutter ; and, on the 5th, attacked and carried a Post of the French, between that Place and Ahaufen : He was proceeding to Seefen, but learned on his March, that Lieutenant General de Stainville had abandoned that Place with Precipitation, and inftead of turning to Eimbeck, had retired to Northeim. General Freytag purfued, and came up with the Rear Guard, and took feveral Prifoners.

Lientenant General Wangenheim and General Luckner marched, on the 4th, to Bodenburg and Groffen Elve towards Gande: fheim, where Prince Xavier of Saxony was with his Referve.

The Confequence of these Motions is faid to have been the diflodging Marshal Broglio from Eschershaufen; and it is thought a general Action between the two Arnies may enfue.

Marshal Soubile continues to have his Head Quarters at Essen, whill his Troops are chiefly cantoned between the Emfer and the Roer. His Motions feen to depend entirely upon those of Marshal Broglio's Army; but his Operations have been confined of late to fending Patroles as far as Both Armies had expected to feparate for Werle. their Winter Quarters about the 15th.

Colberg held out still on the 2d of this Month, and it was hoped that Means had been found to fend them a Supply of Provisions. The Russian. Army is still in Pomerania.
