

Army pressed so close on the Rear, that a Quantity of Baggage, and a great many Horses, were lost. The 17th, the Army marched by St. Annen and Boffendorff towards the Lippe, which they passed near Halteren; the 18th they continued their Retreat to Westerbolt; the 19th they halted; and the 21st they were to march to Rockum. A Camp has been traced between Wesel and this Town, whither, 'tis believed, the Prince will retire, in case the French Army in Hesse should be obliged to abandon Cassel, and retreat to Frankfort,

Three Engineers are sent to trace a Camp above Konigsdorff, about two Leagues from Cologne.

Breslaw, July 23. The Russian Troops, under the Command of General Czernichev, are now separated from the Prussian Army, and actually on their Way to Auras, where they are to repass the Oder, and continue their March to Posen.

Hamburgh, July 27. The Russian Army, which was expected to enter the Dutchy of Mecklenbourg Schwerin, is now on its March back to Colberg; and we hear that General Pannin has taken the Command thereof, in the room of M. Romanzow, who is recalled to Petersburg.

Hague, July 30. The Letters from France mention, that M. de Blenac, who was coming out from Cape François with his Squadron, had the Misfortune to run upon a Rock, which damaged his Ship, the Hector, so much, that he was obliged to put back. The Accounts, received from Spain, which are of the 12th Instant, are very barren. The Want of Provisions, and the Desertion, were very great in the Spanish Army. Two large Convoys of Mules from Galicia had been attacked, and taken by the Portuguese Militia, who continued to incommode very much their Communication with Spain.
