

Wesel, August 7. The greatest Part of this Garrison, with some Piquets of the Troops in Duffeldorff, Cleves, &c. form a flying Camp of 6500 Men, which are ready to oppose any Motion the Allied Troops may make, and to guard the Dutchy of Berg. M. Muret, with 500 Light Troops, is near Solingen, to gain Intelligence of the Enemy's Designs.

The City of Cologne has near 1000 Men in Garrison; and the Cannon of that Arsenal is put in Readiness to defend the Ramparts on the Approach of the Enemy.

At Duffeldorff there are 400 Men of Piemont; 200 of Orleans; four Piquets and two Companies of d'Ailly Royal Grenadiers.

Brunswick, August 10. Advices were received here Yesterday, that the Corps commanded by Prince Frederick of Brunswick, had, by four forced Marches, reached on the 8th the Upper Werra, having occupied Eschwege, Wanfried, and Mulhausen, and had by this Position cut off the only Communication the Enemy had left open through Thuringia.

Hague, August 13. We expect to receive News from the Army every Hour. Our last Accounts from Gudensberg are of the 8th Instant in the Afternoon: Prince Ferdinand was then in March to attack the French Army, and had thrown eight Bridges over the Fulda: We don't hear that the Prince of Condé was advanced farther than Hohenfolms.

By a late Decree of the Parliament of Paris, the Jesuits are totally annihilated, and rendered incapable of being re-established.

St. James's, August 17.

On Saturday last Lieutenant Colonel Ligonier, Aide de Camp to his Serene Highness Prince Ferdinand arrived here with the Trophies taken from the French at Lutterberg, and brings the following Particulars relative to the Action: That in Consequence of his Serene Highness's Orders, the Generals Zastrow and Gilsa, with their respective Corps, passed the Fulda the 23d at break of Day, and attacked the Right of the French Army, composed chiefly of Saxons, under the Command of Prince Xavier. General Waldhausen took Post at Bonnefort, by which Position, he not only kept in Check the Garrison of Munden, but was ready to fall upon the Enemy's Rear, when Occasion offered. Our Troops passed the Fulda, under a heavy Fire from the Enemy, which they sustained with the greatest Intrepidity; and soon got Possession of a Wood which covered the Enemy's Right: Prince Xavier finding his Flank gained, after an obstinate Resistance, began to give Way, which General Waldhausen perceived, and, by immediately attacking with his Cavalry, completed the Defeat. We took thirteen Pieces of Cannon in the Pursuit, two Standards, and Eleven Hundred Prisoners, amongst whom is the Prince of Isenbourg. Lieutenant General Stainville, who occupied the intrenched Camp upon the Kratzenberg, with a Corps of 10000 Men, quitted his Intrenchments with an Intention of covering Prince Xavier's Retreat. The Intrenchments were immediately occupied by Prince Frederick of Brunswick; and all the Works, Redoubts, &c. upon the Kratzenberg, totally demolished. By the present Position of the Allied Army, the French are so surrounded, and their Communication with Franckfort, &c. &c. so entirely cut off, that they must soon either retire, or endeavour to disengage themselves by a General Action.

St. James's, August 17.

The King has been pleased to order Letters Patent to pass under the Great Seal of Great Britain, for creating His Royal Highness the Prince of Great Britain, (Electoral Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, Duke of Cornwall and Rothsay, Earl of Carrick, Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles, and Great Steward of Scotland,) Prince of Wales, and Earl of Chester.

Admiralty, August 12, 1762.
