Warsaw, Octob. 3.

IN our last, we told you of the taking of Podhais by the Infidels, and the resolution the King of Poland took thereupon, to march directly towards the Enemy, contrary to the advice of most of the Senators that were with his Majesty, who thought it an enterprize of too much hazard; but it hath pleased God to make it successful, and happy to the Poles; for the Turks who had been two days before Buczacz, no sooner had advice of his Majesties approach, but taking counsel from their fears, they quitted the design they had upon that place, and retired towards Arambowla, whither the King followed them; and receiving an account from some Prisoners, that there was a great disorder among the Infidels, on account of the purchase they had taken at Podhais, in sharing whereof, they could not agree, and that the same was increased by their sudden retreat from before Buczacs; his Majesty resolved to march up to them, and fight them, which he did, and obtained a great Victory over them; above 15000 Turks having been slain upon the place, the rest that escaped, taking their flight to the Camp of the Tartars, which was some few Leagues from thence. We know not yet the particulars of the Action, nor the loss on our side, but it's said to be very inconsiderable, considering the great Victory obtained. From the Ukraine we likewise hear, that the Lieutenant-Colonel Korf having fallen upon the Rebel Cossacks at Ladizin, had destroyed them all, and burnt the Town and Castle to the ground; and that Hokol the under General of the faithful Cossacks, is gone with 1000 Men to ruine the Bridge the Turks have there.

Florence, Sept. 24. On Sunday last arrived here the Cardinal Spada from France, on his way to Rome. We have advice, That the Prince Regent of Portugal hath declared War against the Corsairs of Argiers, and that the Portuguese Armada consisting in 14 Men of War, have taken their course towards Argiers, where, it is said, they have a correspondence with some principal persons in that Government.

Madrid, Octob. 7. The seizure of the German succors in their passage from Trieste towards Naples, through the Gulfe of Venice, by order of that Republick, for that they had not the leave the Venetians pretend they ought to have had from the State, hath been very much relented in this Court, and hath occasioned some warm discourse with the Venetian Ambassador here, concerning the Dominion or Jurisdiction of the Republick in that Sea. From Calix we have advice, That the 27th past, Lieutenant-Admiral de Ruyter came with 12 Men of War before that place, but he was not able, by reason of the strong easterly winds, to come into the Bay, till the next day. It is said, that de Ruyter will expect there five Men of War more from Biscay, whither they went to Convooy from thence the new Spanish Capitana built there; but we hear, that the said Men of War and Capitana having put to Sea, there arose a great storm, which obliged the Capitana to return into Port, and the Men of War being dispersed, are not yet heard of. The six Spanish Men of War who carried the succors to Oran, have, since their return, remained at Carthagen in expectation of the Dutch Squadron, with whom they are to join. It is not certain whether Don Juan of Austria will take his passage to Sicily on board the three Gallies that attend him at Alfalés, or on the Dutch Men of War; though after all, there are some that think his Highness will not go at all. The Marquis de Seralho, appointed to succeed the Duke of St. Germain in the Government of Catalonia, hath been taken very ill within some days. The Abbot Olli brought hither lately the Cap from Rome, to Cardinal Marescotti, Nuntio in this Court, which was put on his head with great formality, this last week, by the Patriarch of the Indies, in the Church of the Imperial Colledge.

Berlin, Octob. 11. The sixth instant, the Elector of Brandenburgh came to Wildberg in the Suedish Pomerania, with part of his Forces, the rest being in conjunction with the Imperialists, as the King of Denmark is before Demgarten. On Monday next, the Prince of Anhalt parts hence towards the Oder, being to command a flying Army of 6 or 7000 Men on that side, and some report, that with these Troops he will attack Stein.

Copenhagen, Octob. 12. The Dutch and Danish Men of War, under the command of the Sieur Koossteen, continue their station before Götenburg; and from the Baltick we have advice, that our Fleet in that Sea Cruises still on the Coasts of Pomerania, where they will remain till the season obliges them to return home, which will likewise hinder the Suedes from transporting any succors into their Territories in Germany. Two Frigats are sailed from hence, being laden with all sorts of military Provisions, and bound for Rostock, where our King, we hear, is erecting a Magazine.

Vitna, Oct. 12. All people here are in great expectation to hear of the Embresses being brought to bed, her Imperial Majesty being within few days of her time. The Turkish Garisons on the Frontiers of Hungary, notwithstanding all the complaints that have been made, continue to commit frequent hostilities upon the Imperialists, and they again on them. The Rebels in Hungary still appear in small bodies, and very much disturb the Peace of that Kingdom. The discourse at Court is, That General Montecuculi will put the Army into Winter-quarters, and return hither very suddenly; and that the Troops which are marched towards Egra, will quarter this Winter on those Frontiers, that so they may be the earlier with the Army in the Spring; there be those that seem to think this Winter will produce a Peace, though on what ground we know not. The Memorial presented to the Dyet at Ratisbon, by the States of Suabia, desiring to be excused from granting Winter-quarters, hath been presented to his Imperial Majesty, but we hear not that any resolution hath been passed upon it.

Hamburg, Octob. 18. The news we had here four days since, of the King of Denmark's having taken Demgarten by storm, hath not been confirmed; and our last Letters from Berlin said, that the Danish Forces lay still before it, though it is thought, the Suedes will at last, be forced to give way to the great numbers of their Enemies, who appear on all sides of them. The Duke of Zell is preparing to enter into Bremen, and to him the Bishop of Munster will give over the command of the Forces that act in that Duchy. The Magistrates of this City are fitting out two Men of War, who are to Cruise off of the Mouth of the Elbe, to secure our Merchant-men against the French Privateers, who we hear, have Commissions to rake them. Our Letters from Dantzick and Warsaw, speak of a second, and greater Victory obtained by the King of Poland over the Turks; though at the same time, the Letters that come from Leopol, do somewhat lessen the thing.

Spire, Octob. 15. The Imperial Army remains as yet near Landaw, and the Head-quarter is at Offenbach; where, it's said, General Montecuculi expects the return of Count Mansfeld from Vienna, whether he was lately sent by his Excellency, to acquaint his Imperial Majesty with the necessities of the Army. His Excellency is at present very much troubled with the Gout.

Philipsburgh, Octob. 17. The Imperial Army continues in our Neighborhood, having its quarters at Offenbach, Landam, Weissenburg, Lauterburg, and other places, in the mean time, General Montecuculi fortifies three or four Posts to bridle this Garillon this Winter. Our parties bring in Prisoners daily, and very much disturb the Enemies Foragers; it is said, that the Imperial Army is much weakened, as well by deserters as those that have dyed, which are not a few.

Cologne, Oct. 18. The Imperialists demand of this Diocess, and the Duchy of Fuliers, a monthly Contribution of 3000 Rixdollers, which the poor Inhabitants will hardly be able to raise, having been already ruined by the continual marches and quartering of Soldiers, during this War. We expect our next Letters from Spire will inform us, of the Imperial Armies having passed the Rhine at Lauterburg, in order to their going into their Winter-quarters, which, it's said, will be in Franconia, and that the Head-quarter will be kept at Franckfurt; though those Magistrates endeavor to free their City from that trouble and vexation, and have offered a good sum of Money to obtain that exemption. The Duke of Holstein has still his quarters with the Lunenburgh Troops that remain in the Diocess at Woeringen.

Metz, Octob. 20. Some days since arrived here the Dauphin Regiment of Dragoons, and several Troops of Horse commanded by the Marquis de Chazeton, who are marched again, with the Infantry that was here, to Moyenvic, the place appointed for the Rendezvous of the Troops to be commanded by the Mareschal de Rochefort, who is at present posted with a small Body between Fanquemont and Sarbruck, to have an eye upon the Duke of Lorraine, who hath lately appeared with 5 or 6000 Men towards Hamburgh, as if he designed to besiege Sarbrucke on the Saar; but upon the approach of the Mareschal de Rochefort he is retired towards Messenheim, beyond St. Vandel, on the River Glan, which passes to Creutzenac, where he expects, as is said, the Imperial Troops from Mayence. Two days since arrived at Moyenvic a commanded party of 1200 Men, from the Prince of Conde's Camp, for the reinforcement of the Mareschal de Rochefort.

Liege, Octob. 20. The Countrey people who come in here, tell us, that the French Army is come into the quarters which the Dutch and Spaniards quitted some days since at Orple Grand. The Dutch Army was advanced within three Leagues of this place, which alarmed the French in the Citadel, but is since marched towards Hasselt, and those quarters. Three days since 14 Troops of Horse, and 9 Companies of Dragoons marched out of Maastricht, with orders, as was given out, to go and join the French Army, under the command of the Mareschal de Montmorency, who, it was said, resolved to fall upon the Dutch in their retreat; but these Troops have been since countermanded.

Hague, Octob. 22. The Burghers (who are ordered to receive his Highness's Arms) that they may not be surprized with his coming, have appointed Watches, who are to give them notice, and upon the ringing of the Bell, and beat of Drum, they are all to repair immediately with their Arms to their Colours. The 20 instant, the Lunenburgh Ministers caused Bonfires again to be burnt, and entertained the Deputies of the States at supper at Prince Maurit's house. Our Letters from Bremen, confirm the taking of Buckbeede by the Confederates, who are marched directly towards Stade, likewise to beseege that place, though in probability they will find their attempts there more difficult, than they have hitherto done. People here seem not altogether satisfied, that General Minneduculi hath continued so long without attempting any thing upon the Enemy, especially when it was said he had so great an advantage upon them.

Paris, Octob. 26. We are told that the Men of War which are arrived at Thoulon from Messina, will be ready to put to Sea again by the beginning of the next month, and that they will take with them great stores of all sorts of Provisions. The Assembly of the Parliament of Britany, is removed from Remes to Vannes. We have Letters from the Prince of Conde's Camp at Kastelboitz near Schlesstadt, of the 19 instant, which tell us, That the Sieur de Tracy, who was taken Prisoner some months since, was returned, with several other Officers, to the Camp, having been exchanged; That a little before the coming away of these Letters, the Prince of Conde had received an Express from Strasbourg, which informed his Highness, that the Imperial Army was going to pass the Rhine at Lauterburg, where Montecuculi intended to leave 6 or 7000 Men; From Philipsburgh, of the ninth instant, they write, That the Mareschal de Schomberg having given out that he would put his Forces into Winter-quarters, had accordingly sent greatest part of them to the places designed for them; upon which, the Boors, and other Countrey people of Catalonia, who had retired with their goods and families into the fortified places, returned to their several habitations with their Cattel, &c. but the Mareschal who designed to surprize them, had reserved a Body of his Troops, whom he sent out in the night to those several places; they executed the design, and took most of these poor people Prisoners, and near 40000 Head of Cattel, which will be an irreparable loss to that Countrey.
