Madrid, Decemb. 19.

AL L the discourse here is, that Don Juan of Austria hath even at the desire of the Queen been sent for again to Court; this is certain, that the Queen is going to lessen her Household, and that Don Fernando de Vasquezela, who, it's said, was contrary to Don Juan, parted privately from hence on Thursday last, without taking his leave of some of the principal Ministers; it is believed he is gone towards Venice, to reside as Ambassador there, having obtained that employment some time since. And the Spanish Ambassador who is at present at Venice, is to go for England in the same quality, in room of Don Pedro de Ronquillos, who is appointed one of our Plenipotentiaries for the Treaty at Nimeguen.

Leghorne, Decemb. 23. We have advice here of the arrival of Lieutenant-Admiral de Ruyter at Melazzo; and that two days since the French Fleet which parted lately from Boulon, passed by this Port, of which a Cotier has been sent exprefs from hence, by the Dutch to Naples, to give a lvice to Lieutenant-Admiral de Ruyter, who is supposed may by this time be arrived there.

Milford, Decemb. 24. The Providence of Southampton, Jamess Stokes Master, bound from Alicant, is come in here. On Monday last was cast away near this Harbour the Rost of one Buicher Master from the Cunaries. the Men saved and 20 Pipes of Wine. Many Wrecks are daily driven ashore, and the weather continues very violent. The Tingir Frigate is still in Port, waiting for a fair wind.

Swansey, Decemb. 30. The storms continue still very violent, and we hear of much damage already sustained by them. On Saturday last was cast away six miles to the Westward of this Port, a Vessel of 40 Tuns belonging to Bordeaux, homeward bound from the West-Indies, the Men were all saved, and some part of the Lading. We likewise hear of a considerable ship lost between Bristol and Newport, laden with Logwood, Elephants Teeth, &c. the Men, which were 14, being drowned; a Vessel cast away near Milford the Men all saved; another near the same place bound from Calais, the Men all drowned; three or four Colliers coming from Bridgewater and Minhead, have been cast away on the Welch Grounds; and another Collier lost near this Town, the Men saved.

Falmouth, Decemb. 30. The 27 instant arrived here the St. Peter of London from Bordeaux; and the 29 a French Man of War mounted with 14 Guns, bound for the West-Indies.

Deale, Jan. 2. Last night the Wind came N. E. and the Merchantmen that were in the Downs, to the number of 200, are sailed, except the Dutch East-India ships, who expect a Convoy from Holland; the Wind is now again at S. and by W. and if it blows any thing hard the ships will be forced to return into the Downs.

Vienna, Decemb. 29. We have already told you of the attempt which was made by General Strafford upon Dreben, whither many of the principal Rebels of Hungary were fled with their Goods and Families, and his success in it, the Imperial Soldiers, besides the Prisoners they took, making a vast booty; but since we are informed, that the Turks highly complain thereof, Reben being within the Territory, and that a Courier hath been sent exprefs from hence to the Port to excuse this Action General Montecuculi is daily expected here, to assist at the great Council of War which is to be held for the regulating the operations of the next Campaign; it is said he will make but a short stay here, and then return to Esslingen. Count Souches having justified himself in relation to the Campaign of 1674. comes now to Court again.

Strasbourg Jan. 3. The Fortifications of Schlestadt advance apace, and will now in a short time be finished; we have little else to advise you from hence, but of the great preparations that are making by the French, who lay up vast stores at Saverne and Hagenaw. A party of the Garrison of Philipsburgh burnt some days since the Village of Mulberg, in the Marquisate of Baden; and in revenge we hear that a party of 1000 Imperialists have passed the Rhine at Lauterburgh, and ravaged all the open Countrey about Hagenaw. The 3d instant General Montecuculi parted from Esslingen, on his return to Vienna, having resigned his command to the Prince of Lorrain.

Cologne, Jan. 7. The two Dutch Regiments which are going to the assistance of the Elector of Treves, are at present lodged at Duys and its dependances, and in two or three days will continue their march. From Alsacia they onely write us of the great preparation of the French, which makes us believe they will turn their greatest force this next Campaign on that side. The Marquis de Grana is gone to confer with the Duke of Newburg.

Wisnar, Decemb. 25. Notwithstanding all our resistance, it hath pleased God to put us into the hands of the Danes, who being wearied by the brave defence we made as well as by the incommodities of the season, at last resolved to attack us with all their force, which they accordingly did on the 23 instant very early in the morning, having the night before disposed their Bridges, as to be able to pass the Moras and the Ditch before the new Work; they assaulted us in three places, viz. at the Sparbruche Schans near the Haven, at the Kirmen Schans, not far from the Porter Gate, and at the New Work, where was the principal Attack: We had early notice hereof, for the evening before, six Horsemen having been sent out, brought in a Prisoner, who informed us of the intended Assault and therefore we were not wanting to put our selves every where in a fitting posture, but the Garrison, what by sickness and other accidents was very much diminished, insomuch that in the New Work, which would have needed 1000 Men to defend it, there was onely 90, and they so extremely wearied with continual service, and especially by having been in Arms the whole night preceding the Assault, that they were little able to fight; in the two first Attacks we repulsed the Enemy very smartly, and should have done them great mischief in the could have made use of the Mines that re, for they had taken wet. But on the Danes had better success, ere in the first Ravelin, being for-y at post retire into the inward s they were ordered, being quite made Prisoners; and by 10 of the possessed of all the New-Work, no way in the inward works begun now in their hands, to give the En-my a Volley, who pressed upon them, but they were become wet through the great and continual rains that fell and made all their Arms wet; whereupon they found themselves obliged to Parley, and accordingly hung out a sign, which the King having observed, sent two Trumpeters to know what we desired, and presently after sent the Major-General Szeke, and the Auditor Meyer as Hostages, who assure us, that the King in consideration of the stout defence we had made, was ready to grant us very honourable conditions. About four in the afternoon the Capitulation was signed, and that evening yet a Gate was delivered up to the Danes; who, it's said, have lost 6 or 700 Men in this Assault, and would have lost more, for they made their Attack in open day, our Cannon which were charged with small shot gauled them very much, but we wanted Men, and one Gunner was forced to manage five Guns, so that our discharges were not so quick as otherwise they would have been; the Bullets in the mean time were sent by the Enemy very thick into the Town, though without doing any great execution. We reckon in all that about 600 Soldiers of the Garrison have been killed during this Siege, but very few Burghers, and the last night only one Burgher was killed. Several houses have been ruined by the Enemy's Granadoes and Fireballs, and at four several times they occasioned a very dangerous Fire but, God be thanked, we still quenched the same, and not one house hath been burnt down, but only four Barns with Corn. This day the Swedes march out, and the Danes come in, and to-morrow the King will make his publick Entry. The Burghers are to enjoy all the Priviledges and Advantages they did at the time they came into the hands of the Swedes. We are now busy to repair all damages sustained in the Siege, and to demolish the Works of the Besiegers. Five Danish Regiments are at present here.

Rostock, Decemb. 26. The 23 instant Major-General Arensderf (whom we formerly told you was sent out of the Danish Camp to have an eye upon Count Coringmark) having joyned some Brandenburg Troops, attacked a small place called Ribnitz near Demgarten, in which was 400 Swedes, who at first made a good resistance, but finding the Brandenburgs were already got into the Town, retired into a Cloyster, where they soon after rendered themselves Prisoners at War; and since we have seen them pass through this place towards the Danish Camp, in all 340, amongst whom are several Officers, and one Major Wrangel.

Hamburg, Jan. 3. The Danish Troops are now marching to their Winter-quarters, some of them are come very near to this Town, which has made the Countrey people fly hither with their Goods and Families. From Premen they write, that great quantities of Fireworks, &c. were prepared at Hirburg, to be employed against Stade, which the Confederates were resolved to attack with the first Frost. Our ships from Spain are safely arrived except four, which were lost in the late bad weather.

Lipsbadt Jan. 5. The Troops of the Duke of Lunenburg, which were lodged in that part of the Dutchy of Weiphalia, which belongs to the Elector of Cologne, refusing; it seems, to remove from thence at the instance of the Lords of Arcensdorf, who are the Governours of that Countrey, they assembled 6000 Boors, who fell upon the Troops, and drove them out of the said Countrey, having killed a great many Soldiers and Officers, and taken most of their Baggage.

 Those that remain of the said Troops are now quartered in the Countries of Ritberg and Tectenburg, by permission of the Bishop of Raderne, whose Terri-torie they are.

Brussel, Jan. 10. The only news we have at present from Amsterdam of the extraordinary preparations there of the French for the ensuing Campaign, and that Count Mont-en being gone to Viana the 11th of the month, the Army is given to the Duke of Lorraine 11000 Men of the best sort, what the Poors of the Countrey of Artois, and West had again fallen upon the Lunen & g Troops that were quartered among them, under the command of the Count de Lepre, and chased them out of those Countries killing many, and plundering all they could meet with, not sparing the Count's own Baggage, which they rifled, and besides Plate, Horses, &c. they took 1000 Crowns in ready Money. From Lugor of the 7th instanc they tell us, that 3 or 400 Horse being sent out from Massibus on Monday last to execute the Count's order, met with a small party of 60 Men belonging to the Armenians, whom they made Prisoners. His Excellency the Duke de Villa Hermosa has sent for the Colonel of the Croats, to shew him for his gallantry in bearing into St. Quintin the party of French Cavalry which had some hours before defeated four Squadrons of our Horse, and taken prisoner the Baron Tarst, who commanded the . We are told, that by the Fire which lately happened in the Magazine at Amst, 20000 Sacks of Hay were burnt, and that the said fire was contrived by a Voluntary Officer.

Hague, Jan. 7. This State have ordered their Ambassadors to part forthwith to Amst, to be ready there to receive the Ambassadors of the several Princes, a being within their Territories. The Danish Ambassador here hath made a proposal to this State, to have a fleet of 45 Men of War in the Baltick this next Summer, of which, it's desired, they should be furnished from hence, though we do not yet hear that any resolution hath been taken thereon. By the taking of W. Frap the Campaign is wholly ended on that side, but in the Dutchy of Bremen the Confederates seem still to think of attacking Stade, with the first fair weather, though some are of opinion they may even be hindered therein, by the want of agreement among themselves, about sharing their Conquests. General Monten's is certainly on his way to Viana, and the Duke of Lorraine commands the Imperial Troops in his absence.

Dint, Jan. 10. Yesterday Sir Leoline Jenkins Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of His Majesty of Great Britain, parted hence, on his way to Nimwegen, whither he will in few days be followed by the Ambassadors of this State.
 The Danes come, as we are informed, as far as East-Friesland to seek Winter-quarters, though to the great dissatisfaction of the people there. From Fland they write of the apprehension they have that the French will be very early in the Field this next Campaign, and that they will attack Namur, before we can be ready to relieve it; but on the other side it is said, that the Confederates will act this next Summer with 7 Armies, with 4 against France, and with 3 against Sweden. By the way of Marseilles, we have advice, that the 8th instanc, Lieutenant-Admiral de Ruyster sailed from Cagliari for Naples.

Paris, Jan. 12. It is said this orders are given to the Troops of the Kings Household to be ready to march the tenth of the next month, and that the King will begin his journey the fifteenth, but whether is not known. Monsieur de Ron-vigny, who at present resides in the Court of England, in quality of Envoy Extraordinary, having desired leave to return home, we understand that his Majesty has appointed Monsieur Courvis to succeed him, with the Character of Ambassador Extraordinary. From Vienne we have advice, that the Re-publick has made choice of Procurator Nauis, to be their Ambassador for the Treaty at Nimwegen. From Amst they write, that they means of some Fireworks which had been privately brought into the Magazine there, a great quantity of Forage had been burnt, and that the Author thereof had made his escape.
