Falmouth, Jan. 3.

ON Thursday last arrived here the Constant Endeavor of London, in seven Weeks from Virginia, the Master tells us of a Rising of some of the Indians, and that several English had been killed by them.

Portsmouth, Jan. 6. At Comes in the Isle of Wight, are at present two Merchantmen bound for London, from the Canaries.

Deale, Jan. 7. This day, about Noon, the Dutch East-India ships sailed out of the Downes, the Wind at S. and by E. and at the same time about 50 Sail of English ships.

Ditto. This morning appeared on the backside of the Goodwin, a Fleet of about 100 Sail of Dutch Merchantmen, with their Convoy; and about Noon, the Dutch East-India ships, thit had been some time in the Downes, sailed, and joined them.

Warsaw, Decemb. 20. Our last Letters from the Court, left it in great sorrow for the death of one of the young Princesses, aged about two years: in the mean time the preparations are made for the Coronation on the 2d of February, and the holding a Diet presently after. Dorofensko has, after all his windings and turnings, deceived as well the Turks and Tartars, as us, in putting himself under the protection of the Moscovites, which he has really done, though it's thought to be only to gain time; and that when opportunity offers, he will turn again to his old friends the Turks, who have his Wife and Children as Hostages in their hands.

Naples, Decemb. 24. The 18 instant came into this Port two Dutch Men of War, to call upon the Vice-Admiral de Haen (who was here) with the ships under his command, and the 20th they all set Sail for Palermo, where it's said Lieutenant-Admiral de Ruyter is arrived, and has joined the Spanish Armada. On the said Dutch Men of War, arriv'd here the Prince of Piombrino, General of the Gallies of this Kingdom.

Florence, Decemb. 31. From Naples we have advice, that the 18 instant arrived there two Dutch Men of War in 13 dayes from Barcelona, they left de Ruyter at Cagliari, where he was taking in Provisions and Soldiers, and intended soon after them to sail for Palermo. The said two Men of War, with those that were before at Naples, sailed the 20 for Sicily, having provided themselves with Fireships, and other necessaries. And from Palermo we have advice, that de Ruyter appeared near that Port; and that at Messina were arrived several Vessels laden with Corn, and other Provisions. Young de Ruyter with the Smirna ships under his Convoy are arriv'd at Legorn, having met Sir John Narborough Cruising near Sapienza. From the Levant we hear, that the Plague is very violent in the Turkish Territories.

Copenhagen Jan. 4. On Sunday in the evening their Majesties arrived here very unexpectedly. All the discourse now is, that the King will make some attempt upon Schonen, which formerly belonged to this Crown, especially if the weather do any thing favor; though others will tell us, that, within three weeks, or a month at farthest, his Majesty will return towards Hamburgh, to be present at the Siege of Stade, which the Confederates seem resolv'd to take in hand, so soon as they have made themselves Masters of Carelshurg. The King of Sueden has by the English Minister here, demanded Passports for the Plenipotentiaries he means to send to the Treaty at Nimeguen, and we are told they are the Heer Oxenstern, and the Heer Guldensterne.

Vienna, Decemb. 29. Though the action of General Sirffoldo upon the Hungarian Rebels that were fled to Drebezen, was very brave, yet it is not altogether approved in this Conjunction, when this Court would not give the Turks any just cause of complaint, as now they seem to have, for that Drebezen was under their protection. The Emperors Plenipotentiaries will part in a few dayes for Nimeguen. Count Sautes is sent for to Court, and it's believed he will have some command this next Campaigne.

Strasburgh, Jan. 6. The 4th instant, the Governor of Brisac sent to our Magistrates, to desire leave that 40 Boats, purposely prepared with all sort of combustible matter, might pass under our Bridge, being designed to burn the Bridge which the Imperialists have at Lauterburgh, but our Magistrates desired to be excused. At the same time, we hear that some Imperial Horse are drawing together on the other side of the Rhin, to have an eye upon the French, who make great preparations every where, and they tell us they will be very early at our doors this next Spring; they continue their Fortifications at Saverne, Hagenaw and Schlestadt; the latter place they are the forwardest; but at Hagenaw, some dayes since, one of the new Bastions fell down, and buried several pieces of Cannon in its ruins. From Vienne they write, that the Marquis of Baden Doulach, General of the Empire, had promised the Emperor he would this next Campaigne have an Army of 16 000 men composed of the Troops of the Circles, which we can hardly believe, especially if they are not more forward to furnish their several Quotas than hitherto they have been. It is said that the Bishop of Wirtzburg, and the Bishop of Bamberg, have offered the Emperor to raise each 6000 men at their own charge.

Elogne, Jan. 10. The Dutch Troops, sent to the assistance of the Elector of Treves, decamp'd yesterday from Molsheim in the Countrey of Berg, and are march'd towards the Moselle; they were forced to quit those quarters sooner, than they intended, for that the Boors threaten'd to fall upon them, on which occasion a Dutch Lieutenant-Colonel having some sharp words with a principal Officer in the service of the Duke of Newburg, was struck with a Halberd by a Soldier that stood by, and was mortally wounded. The French Parties over-run this whole Diocesis, and exact Contributions every where.

Wesel, Jan. 14. The 9th instant, some Troops march'd out from hence towards Dorsfen, belonging to the Elector Electors of Cologne; and being arrived there, desired of the Magistrates that they might pass through the Town on their march to the Countrey of Mark; but being entered the place, they possessed themselves of the several Gates, and obliged the Cologne Soldiers to march out; it is said that our Elector hath been obliged hereto, for that others were about making themselves Masters of this Town.

Hamburg, Jan. 4. The last week the King and Queen of Denmark passed very near this City, and lodged at Rensburgh, whither our Magistrates sent three Deputies to Compliment their Majesties; who after having stayed two dayes at Rensburg, continued their journey to Copenhagen, where they purposed to arrive before the 10 instant. It is reported that his Majesty intends not to be idle this Winter, having formed a design upon Schonen, which formerly belonged to Denmark, in order whereunto the Baron de Rosenkrans, Lieutenant-General of the Kings Forces, has orders to embark several Regiments of Foot at Wismar, and to pass with them to Zeland; and at the same time, the Duke of Holstein, and Major-General Scack, have directions to repair forthwith to Copenhagen. Three Regiments of Danish Cavalry, one of Foot, and one of Dragoons, have taken their quarters in the Baillages which are common to us and the City of Lubeck, and 200 Imperialists under the command of Colonel Moltzow in the small Town of Bergerdorf belonging to this City. The Major-General Arendsdorf remains with several Troops at Wismar, with the Title of Governor of all the Kings new Conquests. The Sieur Habeus, the Imperial Commissary, having executed his Commission at Bremen, in seizing and confiscating the Goods and Effects that were found there belonging to the Crown of Sueden, is expected here within few dayes, with the same orders, and from hence he will pass to Lubeck.

Ditto, Jan. 7. The Danish and Imperial Troops are now lodged in the four Lands belonging to this City, and our Soldiers are returned from thence. We have news of the Surrender of Carelsburg, and that the Confederates will, notwithstanding the season, once more besiege Stade, which they believe is not at this time very well provided, and they expect a Frost in order to it.

Berlin, Jan. 5. The 2d instant, some Suedish Troops sent out from Straelsont, attacked Wolgaß, and without great difficulty entered the Town, now possessed by the Brandenburghs, who retired into the Castle, from whence they fired very furiously upon the Suedes, who had raised several Batteries in the Town, and afterwards made a very brisk Sally upon them, beat them from their Batteries, and nailed up several of their Cannon; but the Suedes rallying, beat the Brandenburghs into the Castle again: yet finding they could not do any good, retired to Straelsont. But another Party sent from Straelsont, under the command of Major-General Gosshusen, had better success; for having attacked the New Fort in the Isle of Usedom, held by 100 Brandenburghs, after nine dayes forced them to surrender upon discretion.

Bremen, Jan. 8. This morning we have by an Express, advice, that the 6th instant, the Suedes in Carelsburg made a Capitulation with the Confederates; and that in pursuance of it, the Suedes were to march out, and the others to enter the place as this day. The Imperial Commissary having finished his Commission in seizing and confiscating all the Goods and Effects of the Suedes that could be found here, is preparing to pass on the same errand to Hamburg.

Brussels, Jan. 14. Last night his Excellency the Duke de Villa Hermosa, gave out Commissions for the raising of five Troops of Horse, and it is expected the rest of the Commissions will be distributed in a day or two. We have been somewhat alarmed by the news we had, that 10000 French are marching towards Luxemburg, and that their design is upon Treves where they are said to hold a Correspondence with some principal men. Don Emanuel de Lyra, the Spanish Minister at the Hague, has, as we are informed, received from Spain the necessary Passports for the French Ambassadors; who, in expectation of them, and those from Holland, continue still at Charleville. From Hamburg our last Letters told us, that the King of Denmark was returning to Copenhagen; that he seemed to have some thoughts to endeavor to recover Schonen from the Suedes, and that in order to that design, great part of the Troops that had been employed in the Siege of Wismar, were marching towards Zeland. And that in the Duchy of Bremen, the Confederates made great preparations for the Siege of Stade.

Hague, Jan. 14. We are now assured of the conclusion of a Treaty of Commerce between this State and the Crown of Sueden, and we hope ere long to have a like Treaty with France; by which means, though the War continue at Land, our Trade will be open at Sea. From Bremen we have advice, That the Suedes in Carelsburg, who from 1200 were reduced to 400, had made an accord with the Confederates, viz. That they would surrender the place to them, if they were not relieved before the 12 instant, of which there is not any appearance. The Confederates, it seems, are resolved not to lose any time but to soon as they have Carelsburg, to go and attack Stade. The Plenipotentiaries of this State will now certainly part in two or three dayes for Nimeguen, where it is supposed Sir Leoline Jenkins, one of the English Ambassadors, is by this time arrived. The Prince of Orange is in Town again from Scheldt.

Paris, Jan. 15. We still discourse with much uncertainty concerning the Kings journey, that is, whether it is designed; some telling us it will be towards the Rhine, others towards Flanders, &c. but it is time only can truly inform us; in the mean time the Troops of the Kings Household have been Mustered, and are commanded to be ready to march the 10th of the next month. According to our last advice, the Kings Ambassadors for the Treaty at Nimeguen, were still at Charleville, expecting the necessary Passports from Spain and Holland. Monsieur Courzin, who is appointed to go for England with the Character of Ambassador Extraordinary, will set forward on his way thither about the latter end of the next month.
