St. James's, May 16, 1766.

Whereas it hath been humbly represented to the King, That in the Night betwixt Tuesday the 29th and Wednesday the 30th of April last, the Dwelling-house, Barn, Stable, and Byre of William Barclay, at Invergrain, in the Parish of Arrochar and Shire of Dumbarton, in Scotland, were burnt to the Grounds by which Twenty two Head of Black Cattle, One Horse, and a great Deal of Household Furniture, were consumed in the Flames, and the Lives of the said William Barclay and his Family were put in the most imminent Danger; and that there is strong Reason to believe, that the same were set on Fire maliciously and of Design: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Person or Persons guilty of or accessory to the Burning of the said Houses, is pleased to promise His most gracious Pardon to any one of them,

(except the Person who actually set Fire thereto) who shall discover his, her, or their Accomplice or Accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they, may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

H. S. CONWAY.

And as a further Encouragement, a Reward of Fifty Guineas will be paid by Walter Macfarlane, of Macfarlane, Esq; to any Person making such Discovery, (except as before excepted) upon the Conviction of any one or more of the Persons concerned therein:

St James's, May 10, 1766.

Whereas it hath been humbly represented to the King, That John Trotter, formerly a Servant to John Bockett, Distiller, in the Borough, Southwark, but who was discharged from the said Service about Eleven Months since, was, on Thursday the 1st Instant, about Seven o'Clock in the Evening, found concealed, behind some Casks, in the Cellar of the said John Bockett's House in the Borough aforesaid; and that some Person or Persons, supposed to be his Accomplices, did, between One and Two o'Clock in the Morning of the 2d. attempt to pull out the Pin of the Shop Window-Shutters of the said John Bockett; from which, and sundry other Circumstances, it is apprehended, that the said John Trotter (who is now in Custody) had, together with his Accomplices, some evil Designs against the House and Property of the said John Bockett: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned in the said Attempt and supposed evil Designs, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious Pardon to any one of them, (except the said John Trotter, who was actually found concealed as above-mentioned) who shall discover his or her Accomplice or Accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

H. S. CONWAY.

And, as a further Encouragement, the said John Bockett does hereby promise a Reward of Ten Guineas to any Person or Persons making such Discovery as aforesaid, (except as above excepted) to be paid by him upon the Conviction of one or more of the Offenders.
