St. James's, March 23.

THE following Address of the House of Burgesses of the Colony and Dominion of Virginia, has been presented to His Majesty by their Agent Edward Montagu, Esq; one of the Masters of the High Court of Chancery, being introduced by the Earl of Eglington, Lord of the Bedchamber in Waiting; which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously: And he had the Honor to kiss His Majesty's Hand.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Burgesses of Virginia; now met in General Assembly, animated with the highest and most lively Sense of that filial Respect and Gratitude which is due to the best of Kings, humbly beg Leave to approach your Royal Presence with the warmest Assurances of our most cordial and inviolable Attachment to your sacred Person and Government; to the Support and Maintenance of which we ever have been, and at all Times shall be disposed most cheerfully to devote our Lives and Fortunes.

The Reflection that any unlucky Incident should ever have interrupted that salutary and pleasing Harmony, which had subsisted between Great Britain and your Majesty's Colonies from their first Establishment, has been extremely irksome and grievous to us; but the Occasion of our Uneasiness, and the late Distractions in America, being now, by the Wisdom and Justice of your Majesty's Counsels, happily removed, we humbly beseech your Majesty to accept our most hearty and unfeigned Thanks for your paternal Attention and Care to promote the general Welfare of all your People, especially and most remarkably exemplified by your Majesty's gracious Assent to the ever memorable Act of Parliament declaring the Repeal of the late oppressive Stamp Act. By this your Majesty's reasonable and benign Interposition, your good and faithful Subjects of America are relieved from the greatest Anxieties, and their Minds restored to that State of Quietude, which is so very essential to the Happiness of every People.

Permit us, Great Sir, to implore your fatherly Goodness and Protection in every future Attempt that may be made to the Prejudice of us your Majesty's most dutiful Subjects; and to hope, that though we be far, too far, removed from the Seat of your Empire, your Majesty will at all Times favourably allow us to throw ourselves at the Foot of your Throne, where, from your Majesty's known Justice, and that Uprightness which has, and, we trust, will ever influence our Actions, we cannot doubt of receiving your Majesty's most gracious Indulgence and Royal Approbation.

Peiton Randolph, Speaker.
