Published by Authority.

From Tuesday January 5, to Saturday January 9, 1768.

St. James's, January 9.

THE following Address of the Manufacturers and Traders of the Cities of London and Westminster, as also those of Spital-Fields and Parts adjacent, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, Manufacturers and Traders of your Cities of London and Westminster, as also those of Spital-fields and Parts adjacent, humbly offer our most grateful Thanks, for the late Instance of your Majesty's paternal Tenderness and compassionate Regard, expressed in your Royal Declaration, That all future Court Mournings shall be shortened.

We have the deeper Sense of this Mark of your Majesty's gracious Condescension, as it was unsolicited; a Resolution which at once promotes Trade, invigorates Industry, and can never be forgotten in the Annals of your Majesty's Reign.

The Example so replete with Love to your Subjects in general, and Compassion to the poor Manufacturers in particular, inspires us with the warmest and most respectful Gratitude; and will ever engage our Prayers to Divine Providence, that your Majesty may long continue to reign in the Hearts of your grateful People; to share the Blessings of domestic Felicity with your Illustrious Consort, and Royal Issue; and to experience the happy Reward your Majesty's distinguished Virtues so eminently merit.

THOMAS HARLEY,

The following Address of the Bayliffs, Wardens, Assistants, and Commonalty of the Trade, Art, and Mystery of Weavers, London, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Bayliffs, Wardens, Assistants, and Commonalty of the Trade, Art and Mystery of Weavers, London, in Behalf of ourselves, and the Silk Manufacturers in and about Spital-fields,

Most humbly beg Leave to embrace the first Opportunity, as in Duty bound, to return our most grateful Thanks to your Majesty, for your Majesty's late most gracious Declaration, that in Compassion to the Number of Manufacturers and Traders, who have been great Sufferers by the Length of Court Mournings, your Majesty hath been pleased to give Directions for shortening them in future: Such tender Feelings for the Subjects of a State could only inspire the Royal Breast of a Prince, whose Virtues loudly proclaim the Good of his People to be the first Object of his Thoughts, and the ultimate End of all his Actions.

We beg Leave most humbly to assure your Majesty, that this your Majesty's benevolent Resolution will greatly promote the Silk Manufactures of this Kingdom, give great Spirit to the Trade, tend to the Improvement of it, in many Branches, and be the Means of giving constant Employment to our Workmen; many of whom, owing to the late Mournings, have been out of Employ, and in Want of Bread.

At the same Time that we offer up our Tribute of Thanks to your Majesty, we should think ourselves very ungrateful to your Majesty's Royal Comfort, if we did not humbly express our Sense of the great Obligations we lay under to her Majesty, for her generous Patronage and Encouragement of our Silk Manufacture; and we are bound to make the same Acknowledgement to the rest of the Royal Family, for the distinguished Preference they give to the Wrought Silks of this Kingdom.

That your Majesty's Reign may be happy, long, and glorious, will be the constant Prayer of us your Majesty's most faithful Subjects.
