

Newark, January 22, 1768.

Whereas it has been for many Years a Matter of Doubt whether the Owners of Vessels upon the River Trent, or the Proprietors of the Goods, Merchandize, &c. which have and still continue to be conveyed up and down the said River, are answerable for the Damages that have and may happen by Vessels sinking, &c. which said undetermined Case has and might be productive of very expensive Law Suits and Troubles to the Parties to whom such Misfortunes might happen; and as the present Freight paid for such Conveyance of Goods and Merchandize up and down the said River, from Gainsborough to Newark and vice versa, and elsewhere, whereunto our Vessels may have Occasion to go, are not a sufficient Consideration for both Freight and Risque of such Goods: Therefore we whose Names are hereunder written give this Publick Notice, That from and after the 1st Day of February, 1768, we will not run any Risque or Hazard, or be accountable for any Damage or Loss that may happen to any Sort of Goods or Merchandize being on Board any of our Vessels that may have the Misfortune to sink, unless we do by a particular Agreement in Writing insure the same; but shall continue to convey what Goods are consigned to our respective Care, on the following reasonable Terms, viz.
