

Red 12 Wagons, Laden with Provisions, to enter the Town on that side where he is quartered, which has created great jealousies in the Dukes of Luxemburg; and, it's said, that 6000 men of the Duke of Hanover are approaching the Weser, to have an eye upon the Bishop, who has very strongly fortified his quarters.

Strasbourg, July 10. The French Army continues encamped as we told you in our last; since which, 3000 Horse have been detached from it, under the command of the Chevalier du Plessys, towards Lorraine, to join Marschal de Crequi, who is drawing together a Body of an Army. We do not yet perceive any intention in the Duke of Luxemburg to attempt the relief of Philipsburg, which will now be more closely pressed than it has been hitherto. Major General Schulze keeps his Post on the other side of the Rhine, to have an eye upon the French, and to hinder their laying a Bridge over the River, if they should intend it. We have this afternoon news in Town, of a second Detachment being sent by the Duke of Luxemburg towards Lorraine, and that a Body of French Horse having been commanded out towards Weissenburg, to take an account of the Imperial Army, they had been met by General Dunewalt, and totally defeated by him, near 500 of the French being said to have been killed, of which we expect the confirmation.

Strasbourg, July 11. From the Camp before Philipsburg we hear, That the 9th instant, the Besiegers having finished one of their Batteries, on which they planted 12 Half-Cannon in the quarter of Prince Herman of Baden, began to fire upon the Town, and have ever since continued so to do, not without doing considerable execution, having beaten down the Red Gate, made a great breach in the Wall, and ruined several Houses in the Town. To morrow, or next day, the Battery in the Marquis of Dourlach's quarter will be likewise finished. The Troops of the Circle of Franconia are arrived in the Camp. Last night the Besieged made a brisk Sally, but were beaten in again. The Elector Palatine has recalled his Troops from the Siege, but it's thought they will suddenly return again.

Cologne, July 14. At the instance of the Envoy sent by the Prince of Orange, the Ministers of the Duke of Newburg, who have the Government of things in his Highness's absence, have ordered 2000 men more to be drawn out of the Dutchy of Fuliers, and the Countrey of Berge, to be sent to the Siege of Maeßtricht. There are Letters from Francfort, and those parts, which say, That one principal reason why the Siege of Philipsburg has hitherto advanced so slowly, is, that the Parties had not concluded what should be done with Philipsburg after it should be taken; which difficulty is at present removed, by an agreement that the place shall be slighted. Yesterday 300 French Horse of the Garrison of Limburg, appeared within half a League of this City.

Brussels, July 17. Our last Letters from the Camp before Maeßtricht, are dated the 15 instant, which tell us That they continued to work on the Lines of Contravallation; That that evening 60 pieces of Cannon were expected in the Camp, being arrived the day before at Stockhem, four Leagues from Maeßtricht; That it will be Sunday or Monday before the Cannon can be planted on the Batteries, or the Trenches opened. In the interim, our Army, under the command of the Duke of Villa Hermosa, remains encamped at Hautain and Genap; and, we are told, his Excellency has desired the Prince of Orange to send him a reinforcement of Horse from his Camp, upon the advice he has received, that the Marschal de Schomberg is preparing to march with the Army under his command, from his quarters about Kievrain, and Beuvry, and that several considerable De-tachements are on their march to join him. Monsieur de Louvois is arrived in the Army, and will, it's said, be followed by the Prince of Conde. From the Camp before Philipsburg, of the 11 instant, they write, That on the 8th instant the Besiegers had finished two Batteries in the quarters of Prince Herman of Baden and General Vermuller; upon which, the Besieged made the same day a Sally, without any great effect. That the 9th, about 3 in the afternoon, Prince Herman began to fire from his Battery with 12 pieces of Cannon, which had pierced the walls of the Town in several places, and had beat down the tops of some houses; That since the said 8th instant, the Besieged fired very sparingly, but on the 10th had made another Sally upon General Vermuller's quarter, but to as little purpose as the former; That on the said 10th, arrived in the Camp the Troops of the Circle of Franconia, being 4000 Foot, 1000 Horse, and 1000 Dragoons.

Ditto. We have advices from several parts, That the French Army is preparing for some great Action; and we have great reason to believe, the Siege of Valencennes is designed, which place has for some time past been in a manner blocked up, and still continues so. The Siege of Maeßtricht is as yet somewhat backward, by reason the Cannon was not expected to arrive in the Camp till this evening, occasioned by the low water, which hinders very much the passage of the Boats who come up the Meuse from Holland. The Prince of Orange has his quarters at Smeeth-Maes the Duke of Oranburg his at Wilde, where the Most Christian King was lodged during the Siege in 1693, and Monsieur de Louvois at Lichtenberg near St Pierre. On the side of the Wycke, the Brandenburg, Newburg, and some Spanish Troops are lodged, and have fortified their several Posts, but cannot finish the Line on that side, till the arrival of the Munster Troops. On the 15, the Besieged made a Sally on the Wycke side, and beat the grand Guard from their Posts, but were afterwards repulsed, and pursued to the Palisadoes of the Town, where some of the French were taken Prisoners. The Besieged make use of their Cannon against the Besiegers without intermission.

Paris, July 18. We have now the certainty that Maeßtricht is besieged by the Confederates, as is Philipsburg, by the Troops of the Circles: As to the former, we understand that the Sieur de Mombion has joined the Marschal de Schomberg with the Troops under his command, and that the Marquis de Renel, who has come as far as Charleville with the detachment he was sent with towards Lorraine, is marching back to join the Army likewise, which will then, as is said, enter upon some Action of no less importance than is that of Maeßtricht. And as to Philipsburg, the discourse is, That the Duke of Luxemburg has positive orders to endeavor the relief of it, and that he is accordingly about laying a Bridge over the Rhine near Drusenheim: our last Letters from those parts tell us, That the Besieged in Philipsburg make frequent and very vigorous sallies, and that they seldom return empty without Prisoners or Booty. In one they made the 3d or 4th instant, they took the Count of Isenbourg Prisoner, who some days after dyed of his wounds. Yesterday Madam Brinville was Executed at the Grève, according to the Sentence pronounced against her some days before, after having been convicted of having Poysoned her Father, her two Brothers, &c.
