Warsaw, August 4. Whilst the Chamber was sitting, on Monday, on the Judgment of the Regicides, his Polish Majesty came into the Court, and, being seated on the Throne, interceded in the most pathetick Manner, not only for the Life of the Man who saved him, and brought him back, but for all the others, representing them as the innocent Victims of the infamous Projects of their Superiors, and being obliged to obey, at the Risk of their Lives, the Orders of their Commanders. Not satisfied with this Step, which certainly does great Honour to his Majesty's Clemency, he spares no Pains or Arguments with the Judges in their Favour: As to his Deliverer, there is no Doubt of his escaping, in consequence of his Majesty's Promise to him; but it is possible the Chamber may think it necessary to make, by the Punishment of the others, a striking Example of so dangerous and daring an Attempt.

Bonn, August 19. The Harvest of Rye, Wheat, and Barley, is finished in the Electorates of the Rhine. It is computed to have produced above one Half more than last Year, though there was then a middling Crop. There is a greater Plenty of Oats on the Ground than has been known for many Years past; and, if the Autumn proves warm, the Vintage will be better than was expected, though the violent and long Rains did great Damage to the Vines.
