ON the 14th Instant died at Ratibon, Baron Karg, Minister Plenipotentiary from the Elector of Cologne. He was also charged with the Vote of the Elector Palatine at the Diet; and often by Proxy with that of Bavaria; together with those of the Grand Master of the Teutonic Order, the Bishops of Strasbourg, Hildesheim, Paderborn, Trent, Brixon and Münster; the Princes Abbots of Stablo, and of Corvey, and the Prince of Hohenzollern.

Hamburgh, November 19: We are informed, by Letters from Keil, that on the 15th Instant, about Noon, Monsieur de Saldern, the Principal Commissary from the Grand Duke of Russia, went to the Council Chamber, where the Members of the Regency were previously assembled, and declared to them, that their Functions were now to cease, and that the next Day (Tuesday the 16th Instant) was fixed for the Transferring the Dutchy of Holstein to his Danish Majesty: In consequence of which Declaration, a Message was sent to the Officers of the Council Board, and also to those of the other Colleges, to attend at the Council Chamber; and when they were all come together, Monsieur de Wolff, President of the Council, informed them of Monsieur de Saldern's Notification; at the same Time signifying to them, that they were to meet again at their respective Apartments about Seven o'Clock next Morning, in order to be present at the Act of Cession. Orders were likewise given for dispatching of all such Decrees and Resolutions as were necessary on the Occasion, and also for defacing the Council Seals.

The Prelates, the Deputies of the Nobility, the Officers of the Bailiwicks, the Magistrates of the Towns, and other Officers, who are to take the Oath of Allegiance to the King of Denmark, arrived at Keil on the 15th.

On the 16th, about Eight o'Clock in the Morning, the Members of the Regency, the Officers of the Council Board and of the other Colleges, being assembled, his Excellency Monsieur de Saldern opened the Business in a Speech, shewing his Authority from the Empress of Russia, and the Grand Duke, to deliver up the Dutchy of Holstein to his Danish Majesty's Principal Commissary, Count Reventlau; adding, that it was his Imperial Highness's Will and Intention, that, with the said Dutchy, all the Rights, Prerogatives, and Territorial Sovereignty, thereunto belonging, should also be transferred to the King of Denmark, according to Treaty. Monsieur de Saldern then proceeded to make the Cession, which was performed by delivering to Count Reventlau the Keys of the City of Keil, together with a Piece of Earth, it being the usual Ceremony on such Occasions. After which Count Reventlau administered the Oaths of Allegiance and Homage to the Military, Prelates, &c. who assured them of his Danish Majesty's Protection, and of the uninterrupted Enjoyment of their Rights and Privileges. The Ceremony lasted till Noon.

The Grand Duke's Arms, which were fixed over the Door of the Holstein Post-house in this City, were taken down last Tuesday, in consequence of Orders which the Post-Master had previously received for that Purpose.
