

hood of Rahe, the former has it's head-quarters at Dankfirken, and the other at Hegenbeym being divided by the Rhine. The 4th inst. n<sup>o</sup> passed through this City Count Mansfelt, on his way to the Imperial Army, being charged with the Emperors orders to the Duke of Lorrain, about the distribution of Winter-quarters, which we expect the Imperial Troops will now in few days go into.

Brisc, Nov. 7. The Troops of the Circles, which separated some time since from the Imperial Army, in order to their return home, were it seems countermanded, and have ever since continued in the Neighborhood of Friburg, in expectation of the success of the Duke of Lorrain's design to pass the Rhine, but finding that through the opposition of the Swissers the same was not like to succeed, they marched the 4th instant, in order to their going into Winter-quarters in Swabia, Franconia, &c. The Duke of Lorrain in the mean time continues encamped as formerly, being desirous to see what success the Duke of Zell has before he removes. The French Army under the command of the Duke of Luxemburg continues as yet together.

From the Marschal de Crequi's Camp at Sarquemines, three Miles from Sarbruck, on the other side of the Saar, N<sup>v</sup>. 8. The Lunenbourg and Munster Troops are within six Leagues from hence, on the other side of Deuxponts, they passed the Rhine about 13 or 14000 strong, but having joined the detachment commanded by Major-General Dunewalt we reckon them 18000. The Marschal Crequi has sent some Infantry to reinforce the Garrison at Deuxponts, where the Sieur de Fust, who was the Kings Lieutenant at Philipsburg commands. The Marquis de Renel arrived here the 4th instant, with a detachment from Flanders.

Cologne, Nov. 11. The Osnabrug Troops continue their march towards the Moselle, three days since they attacked a small place in this Diocess, called Lin, but were repulsed with the loss of 70 men, and among them five Captains killed, besides wounded. The 2 Dutch Regiments who came from Treves, have orders to march back again, and to follow the *Osnabrug*s. From Treves we have Letters inform us, that the Confederate Troops under the command of the Duke of Zell were come to Birkenfeldt two Leagues from Deuxponts; we hear of great complaints that are made of the violence committed by the said Troops in their march.

Hague, Nov. 13. Though the state of the War for the year ensuing be not yet finished, yet in the mean time it's said that eight new Regiments will be raised against Spring. Yesterday the Court of Justice finished the affair of the Sieur de Groot, his Highness having as Stadtholder personally assisted there from nine in the morning till nine at night, and to morrow we expect the Sentence will be pronounced. This afternoon his Highness is gone to his house at Soesdyke, and will be back in a day or two. We have the confirmation of a Peace being concluded between the Poles and the Turks.

Brussels, Nov. 10. Since the arrival of the last Ordinary from Spain, here hath been much discourse at Court of great Levies that are to be made against Spring, in order to the forming an Army of 25000 men, to be under the sole command of our Governour-General; and to this end, we are in expectation of receiving by the next Spanish Ordinary Bills of Exchange for a Million or two of Crowns; in the dispatch of which, the new President of the Finances in Spain is as we are told very zealous. From Cambray we hear that several parties have been sent abroad from thence into the French Territories to raise Contributions, one of which in a Village near Arras found some resistance from a small number of Soldiers, sent from Arras, but the Spaniards entered the Village, killed some, and of Soldiers and Inhabitants took 200 Prisoners, with a good booty of Horses and Cattel. Lieutenant General Aguis has put the Troops designed to St Omers into that place, and is come back hither, where he intends to remain this winter. The Bishop of Osnabrug having left his Troops in the Diocess of Colgne, which, it's said, at present hardly amount to 3000 men, with orders to continue their march towards the Moselle, is gone home attended with his Guards onely, having promised to recruit his said Troops against Spring. From Liege they write, that a great Convoy with 3 or 4000 Horse are going from Charleroy to Maesricht by the way of Candors, which is the onely part of that Country which hath not been already ruined in this War. The last Letters we had from the Duke of Zell's Camp were dated the 5th instant at Kusfeld, about four Leagues from Deuxponts, which said, that the day following the Army was to march. From Alsace we understand, that the Duke of Lorrain had new quitted all thoughts of passing the Rhine, but that for want of subsistence he would be obliged to put his Army very quickly into Winter-quarters.

Ditto, Nov. 13. We still discourse of great preparations against Spring, and we expect with some impatience the arrival of the Spanish Ordinary, which, it's said, will bring Bills for a very considerable Sum. They write from Alsace that both Armies continue in the same posture as formerly, and that both have received orders to go into Winter-quarters; and from Colgne, that on Friday last the young Princes of Newbourg passed by there; in their way towards Newbourg, to be present at the Emperess's Marriage, which is to be celebrated the 9th of the next month at Passaw. The Troops of Osnabrug continue their march towards the Moselle, to join with the Duke of Zell, and likewise the two Holland Regiments that came from Treves, have received orders to march after the Osnabrug Troops, who in their march through the Pais de Cologne, did attack the Castle of Linne, where they were repulsed with the loss of above 150 men, besides many wounded. We are told from Metz that Monseur de Renel is come with a detachment from Marschal Crequi to Sarbruck, to observe the motions of the Duke of Zell, and that the French were resolved to defend Deuxponts. Our Italian Letters by this last Ordinary assure us, that the Marquis Castel Rodrigo the new Viceroy of Sicily, hath forced the French to retire, from a post they had taken near Syracusa; that in the retreat the French lost several Men, and amongst them some Officers of Quality, whereof the Lieutenant-General of the Cavalry is said to be one; neither did the Spaniards come off without loss though not so considerable as the French; a Lieutenant General of the Spaniards is also said to be wounded.

Rome, Nov. 14. The Court is at present at St Germain, where it will pass the winter. The Armies in Alsace and Briscum are now in good earnest preparing to go into Winter-quarters; but as for those commanded by the Duke of Zell and the Marschal Crequi it is very probable they will come to an Engagement. Two days since we received a certain account of the conclusion of a Peace between the Poles and the Turks very honourable for the first.
