We trust your Majesty, of your great Wisdom and Clemancy, will apply wife and wholesome Measures to conciliate their Affections, and reclaim those deduced People to a true Sense of their Duty and Interest.

But alas! should such Measures tail, we beg Leave to affine your Majefty, that we are ready, to the utmost of our Abilities, to support your Majefty, in such duce to accomplish this falutary Purpose, and promote the Happiness and Dignity of your Majesty, and the whole Prints Empire whole British Empire.

Given under our Common Seal, at the Guildhall in the faid City, the Sixth Day of November, in the Year of our Lord, One thousand seven hundred and feventy-five.

The following Address of the Bishop and Clergy of the Isle and Diocese of Man, having been transmitted to the Earl of Suffolk, One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very

To the KING's most Excellent Majesty.

PERMIT, most Gracious Sovereign! The Bishop and Clergy of the Isle and Diocese of Man, few in Number, inconsiderable in Influence, and remote in Situation, but in Duty and Affection to your Sacred Perion, your Family, and Government, equal to those of any Diocese in your Majesty's Dominions, to express, before You, Sentiments, which, springing warm from their Hearts, their coolest and most deliberate Judgments also approve.

Fully fensible of our own Unimportance, we should think it Presumption to interrupt your Majesty with the Tender of our most humble Duty, did not the Circumstances of the Times, and the very culpable Behaviour of some of our Fellow Subjects, seem to call upon all Persons, of all Ranks and Professions, "high and low, "rich and poor, one with another," to declare their Abhorrence of the daring and unprovoked Rebellion, begun and carried on, in feveral of your Majesty's Colonies, against the Authority of the whole Legislative.

We profess the same Passion for Freedom, the same steady Adherence to our just and legal Rights, which is pretended to be the Object in Pursuit by the Advocates for nominal Liberty and real Licentiousness; but we know not, nor expect any true Liberty, except under the Guardianship of the Laws; and we know not, and hope never to know, any other Guardians of the Laws, than our Sovereign, and his two Houles of Parliament.

That the deluded and unthinking Many are (as is usual in such Cases) miled and deceived by the defigning and ambitious Few, we are fully persuaded; and that the Former may have their Eyes opened, their Errors removed, and (then) their Faults forgiven; and the Latter be brought to speedy Repentance, or to their deferved Panishment, we carnestly pray.

Our Prayers and our Hearts are, alas! all we have, to offer to your Majesty; but these, because sincere, will by You, Sire, not be disclaimed.

May the present Disturbance be the only one that shall ever disquiet your Royal and Benevolent Mind! May it be flort as the transient Storm, and be succeeded by an unruffled Calm, a long and glorious Sunshine; May all unrumed Caim, a long and glorious Sunfhine; May all your Subjects, both at Home and Abroad, be duly fenfible of the Bleffings they enjoy under your just and gentle Rule! And may they express their grateful Sense of those Bleffings, by unseigned Piety towards their God, and undiffembled Loyalty to their King; May your Mijesty's Enemies (who, if your Subjects, are Enemies to their Country) "be clothed with Rebuke, "with Shame and Difhonor! But non your can Road! with Shame and Difthonor! But upon your own Royal Head, and on those of your Posterity, may your Crown of flourish, till all human Empire shall be no more."

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Somereign, We gour Majetty's Government.

We are desired we enjoy

We will be the the three transfers of Mann, humbly beg Leave to approach your Majetty's Throne with this our dutiful Address, sensible of the Blessings we enjoy under your Majetty's Government.

We are desirous to the transfers of the tran expreis our Loyalty and Altection to your Majesty's Person, and our utter Detestation of all traitorous Confpiracies and Rebellion, and especially at this critical Juncture, when an unnatural Rebellion has been raised in some of your Majesty's Colonies, and encouraged and abetted by wicked and defigning Men.
We not only lament the Delufion of those unhappy

People, but think it our Duty, as loyal Subjects and Well-Wishers to our happy Constitution, openly to declare our Abhorrence of fuch Mifdoings.

We trust in your Majesty's Wisslom, that every Means will be used to bring them to a proper Sense of the Allegiance which they owe to your Majesty, and the Power which has preserved and protected them: And we are consident your Majesty will exert that Fower with Lerity. And we most fervently pray, That Divine Pro-vidence may so prosper your Majesty's benevolent In-tentions, that your mistaken and deluded Subjects in America may see their Errors, and become once more happily united under your Majesty's Constitutional Go-vernment; and that the Bleslings, derived so us from your Majesty's August Family, may continue, and be handed down to our latest Posterity.

The following Address of the Gentlemen, Frecholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of the Land Tax of the County of Renfrew, has been presented to His Majesty by John Craufurd, Esq; their Reprefentative in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously,

To the KING's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Committioners of the Land Tax of the County of Renfrew.

Most gracious Sovereign,

W. E., your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of the Land-Tax of the County of Renfrew, humbly beg Leave to approach your Throne, with Hearts full of Zeal and Affection for your Alijeky's Person and Government.

Deeply impressed with a Sense of Gratitude and Fi-delity to your Majesty, happy under the Influence of your mild and beneficent Administration, rejoicing in the Contemplation of your Virtues, we behold, with Pity and with Indignation, the during Attempts of your. Colonies to disturb the Tranquillity, and to interrupt the

Felicity of your Reigns

We commiserate the Errors, we detest the Guilt, of those deluded People, who, seduced by the wicked Arts of designing Men, and actuated by Prejudice and Persion, abuse the venerable Name of Liberty, and employ it as a Cover for their Treasonable Purpose of withdrawing their Allegiance from your Majetty, of renouncing their Subordination to Great Britain, and of arrogating Independance to themselves.

We affert the Principle, that in the Constitution of every State, there must be one supreme, uncontroulable Power, whose Dictates all must obey. We wish for no Liberty to ourselves, and can admit of none to others, beyond what we all are intitled to, by the Laws of our Country. We disclaim those timid, interested, or factious Suggestions, in Favour of Lenity and Concessions, to Subjects in Rebellion, while they have Arms in their Hands. Upon their first Returns to Duty, and Submission, none can doubt your Majesty's gracious Declaration, That you will be ready to receive the Missed with Tendernels and Mercy

Though an occasional Increase or Diminution of
