Whitehall, July 27, 1776.

THE following Letter from General Sir Guy Carleton to Lord George Germain, was this Day received by Captain Le Maitre, who arrived Express from Montreal.

Montreal, June 20, 1776.

My Lord,

IN a former Letter I informed your Lordship that the Troops were ordered to assemble at Three Rivers; they all pushed forward with great Expedition, as fast as they arrived off Quebec, by Land or Water, as best answered that End. The 8th Instant the Rebels attempted a very bold Enterprize indeed; they crossed over from Sorel in 50 Boats, better than 2,000 Men, landed at the Pointe du Lai before Day Light, and marched to attack the Troops at Three Rivers, disregarding the Sloop Martin, some armed Vessels, and Transports full of Troops, that were at Anchor Three Miles above the Town, otherwise than to keep out of Reach of their Cannon. They made some Attempt to force the 62d Regiment; but whether they found Brigadier General Frazer, who commanded at Three Rivers, too strong and too well posted, or that they were alarmed by Brigadier General Nesbitt, who landed the Troops from the Transports behind them, 'tis certain they soon gave up offensive Measures, and retreated with all Speed up the River, keeping in the Woods. The Brigadiers Nesbitt and Frazer pushed up likewise, but kept by the Water-side, in Hopes of getting their Boats and cutting off their Retreat; the first as far as Machiche, the latter to the Pointe du Lai. The Sloop Martin and armed Vessels failed as high as the River du Loup, and took two Boats, but the rest were gone too far, as were their Troops.

I know not the Number of Killed and Wounded of the Rebels; about 200 surrendered or were taken Prisoners, amongst those was their Chief, Mr. Thompson, whom I think they call a Major General, and a Mr. Irwin, who was the Second on this Expedition, and some others. The Killed and Wounded of the King's Troops amounted to 12 or 13 Soldiers only.

The next Day the Troops were ordered to their former Stations; all who had Transports up re-imbarked; — Brigadier-General Frazer was ordered to march along the North Shore with the Troops whose Transports had not been able to get up, and Measures were taken to march a Body of Troops also by the South Shore, had the Wind continued unfavorable: for it seemed of great Importance in this unhappy War, that the Rebels should be driven from the upper Part of the Province as soon as possible. The Wind springing up fair, the Fleet failed, and arrived off Sorel the Evening of the 14th Instant; the last of the Rebels had retreated from thence some Hours before: The Grenadiers and Light Infantry of the Troops in this Division immediately landed, supported by Brigadier Nesbitt and Part of his Brigade. The next Morning more Troops were sent on Shore, and the Command of this Column given to Lieutenant-General Burgoyne, with Instructions to pursue the Rebels up the River Sorel to St. John's, but without hazarding any Thing till the Column on his Right should be able to co-operate with him. As soon as the Regulations for the different Transports could be made out, the Remainder of the Fleet failed for Longuiel, four Leagues from Chamblé, (Chamblé is 15 Leagues from Sorel, by the River of that Name,) and had not the Wind failed, this Column might have arrived at Longuiel the same Night, and about the same time with Mr. Arnold, and the Remainder of the Rebels, retiring from Montreal. The next Day the Troops landed and marched by La Prairie towards St. John's. The Advance Guard was supported by all the English remaining after the Dispositions already mentioned, under the Command of Major-General Phillips, and this Division followed by 2 Regiments of the Brunswick Troops, and that of Hanau, commanded by Major General Riedesel.—The Advance Guard arrived the Morning of the 19th Instant near to St. John's, when they learned, that the Head of Lieutenant-General Burgoyne's Column had taken Possession of the Redoubts the Night before: They found all the Buildings in Flames, all the Craft and large Boats the Rebels could not drag up the Rapids of Chamblé, with some Provisions, were also burned. I hear 22 Pieces of Cannon are left behind, hid in the Woods: Several other Marks appear of great Precipitation and Fright; on this Occasion I think they had no small Cause. All His Majesty's National and Foreign Troops shewed a great Zeal and Eagerness to overtake the Rebels; and I doubt not but they would have given every Proof of Fidelity and Valour, had the Enemy delayed their Retreat a little longer.—The Corps of Artillery shewed great Diligence likewise on the Occasion; there were Brigades which marched with both Columns. — Brigadier Frazer's Corps crossed from the North, and fell into the Rear of the two Columns on the South Side; they were also joined by Numbers of Canadians, and that on the Right by many Indians.

Captain Le Maitre will have the Honour to present to your Lordship these Dispatches; he is an intelligent Officer, and well qualified to give any further Information of the Transaction in this Province; I shall take the Liberty to recommend him to your Lordship as an Officer of Merit.

I am, &c.

Guy Carleton.

AT the Court at St. James's the 24th Day of July, 1776,

Translation of an Edict, published at Lisbon by Order of His Most Faithful Majesty, dated at the Palace of Ajuda, the 4th of July, 1776.

E D I T A L.

BEING lately informed, That the Colonies of English America, by an Act published by the Congress held on the 15th of May last, do not only declare themselves entirely separated from the Subjection of the Crown of Great Britain, but are already making Laws, by their own particular Authority, to resist the lawful Authority of His Britannick Majesty, My good Brother, Friend, and Ally;

And as such a pernicious Example must be interesting to Princes the most indifferent, so as to deny all Favour and Assistance, directly or indirectly, to Subjects who in so public and formal a Manner have risen against their natural Sovereign; I am pleased to order, That in none of the Ports of these Kingdoms and Dominions there be given Pratick or Entry to any Ship which shall arrive there with or without a Cargo, coming from the Ports of the abovementioned English North America; but that on the contrary they be driven from the said Ports in the same State in which they shall arrive, without any Succour of any Nature whatever being given to them. The Masters of Ships, to whom an Entry may till now have been permitted, in Consideration that there was no Motive for hindering them, shall have Notice to go out of the said Ports with their Ships, within the Term of Eight Days, without further Prolongation; an Examination being made before they go out, whether they have on board any Gunpowder, or such Ammunition as I have already prohibited by my Royal Orders, given on the 21st of October of the last Year, at the Arsenal and the Consulado; and confiscating for the Benefit of the Publick Works all such Ships in which there may be found such prohibited Ammunition clandestinely and privately put on board, as Effects deemed by such a Discovery to belong to Rebels. The Conselho da Fazenda is to understand it so, and is to order this Edital to be printed and fixed up in all the Public Places of the City of Lisbon, and the Ports of this Kingdom and of Algarve, that it may come to the Knowledge of all, and no one may alledge Ignorance of it.

Palace of Nossa Senhora da Ajuda, 4th July, 1776.
