From Saturday June 21, to Tuesday June 24, 1777.

Extract of a Letter from the Honorable Sir William Howe to Lord George Germain, dated New York, May 22, 1777.

MY LORD,

YOUR Lordship's Dispatches by Major Balfour, in the Angulla, arrived on the 8th Instant; but as the present Conveyance is by a Private Merchant-Ship, I shall defer answering them particularly until the Sailing of the Packet, which will be in a short Time.

In my Letter of the 24th of April I mentioned an Embarkation of Troops detached under the Command of Major-General Tryon, for the Destruction of one of the Enemy's Magazines of Provisions and Stores, collected at Danbury in Connecticut. I have now the Honour of reporting to your Lordship the Success of that Expedition, and to inclose a Return of the Stores destroyed.

The Troops landed without Opposition in the Afternoon of the 27th of April, about Four Miles to the Eastward of Norwalk, and Twenty from Danbury.

In the Afternoon of the 26th the Detachment reached Danbury, meeting only small Parties of the Enemy on the March; but General Tryon having Intelligence that the whole Force of the Country was collecting, to take every Advantage of the strong Ground he was to pass on his Return to the Shipping, and finding it impossible to procure Carriages to bring off any Part of the Stores, they were effectually destroyed; in the Execution of which the Village was unavoidably burnt.

On the 27th in the Morning the Troops quitted Danbury, and met with little Opposition, until they came near to Ridgefield, which was occupied by General Arnold, who had thrown up Entrenchments to dispute the Passage, while General Wooster hung upon the Rear with a separate Corps. The Village was forced, and the Enemy drove back on all Sides.

General Tryon lay that Night at Ridgefield, and renewed his March on the Morning of the 28th.—The Enemy, having been reinforced with Troops and Cannon, disputed every advantageous Situation, keeping at the same Time smaller Parties to harass the Rear, until the General had formed his Detachment upon a Height, within Cannon Shot of the Shipping, when the Enemy advancing, seemingly with an Intention to attack him, he ordered the Troops to charge with their Bayonets, which was executed with such Impetuosity that the Rebels were totally put to Flight, and the Detachment embarked without further Molestation.

The inclosed Returns set forth the Loss sustained by the King's Troops; and that of the Enemy from the best Information; but I have the Satisfaction to inform your Lordship our wounded Officers are in the fairest Way of Recovery.

The Enemy's Army in Jersey has been encamped some Days near to Boundbrook. Lord Cornwallis is also encamped at Brunswick on each Side of the Rariton, and upon the Communication between that Place and Amboy; Major General Vaughan's Corps being encamped at the latter Place, making Use of the Tents of last Year, the Camp Equipage of the present not being yet arrived. His Lordship has also thrown a Bridge over the Rariton at the Town of Brunswick.

By various Accounts, received from the Neighbourhood of Albany, there is Reason to believe some advanced Parties from the Northern Army have appeared at Crown Point, and that Sir Guy Carleton will be upon the Lake early in June.
