

disturbance left the City free, as they found it, which is since strengthened with a stronger Garrison, and such Officers intrusted as will be faithful and obedient in the execution of the Archduchesses intentions. The Garrison of Casal is also reinforced.

Legorne, Decemb. 20. The 14 instant arrived in this Port, the St. Francis de Paul of 30 Guns, 350 Tuns, and 150 Men, and the Anima del'Purgatorio of 24 Guns, 250 Tuns, and 100 Men, with several sorts of Goods and some Passengers from Cadix, and both are said to have commission with them: they tell us of two lusty French Men of War that are gone from Thoulon, and are bound for Malta, whose colours they are to wear, and to serve them against the Turks. Here are lately arrived two ships belonging to this Port from Cyprus, bringing us news of great succors sent into Canea by the Turks, whither the Grand Visier intends speedily in person, but in the meantime sties in Morea to provide all necessaries for their Fleet. That the Venetians are not wanting to themselves in fortifying all their Posts and Garrisons in Candia, and furnishing them with Provisions and Ammunition. They further tell us, that five Algier ships with a Tripoly Flaggs, have seized upon several French Bauxes laden with Merchandises for the Ottoman Countreyes. From Milan they tell us, that the late forces raised in that Duchy for the Kings of Spaines service in Flanders, are quartered in Alexandria, expecting orders to march for Finale, where they are to be imbarqued. The Governour of Milan is fallen ill, and neither gives audience, nor receives visits.

Genova, Decemb. 22. The Duke de Albuquerque still continues in and about this City, expecting his Gallies, but neither gives nor receives any visits: A Vessel from Lisbon in 14 daies informs us that the French Auxiliaries are taking their leave, and returning into France, five of the principal Senators of this Republicque, are made choice of for the Government of this Republicque; and are to enter upon their charge the first of January next ensuing, viz. Giacomo Ottavio Giustiniano, Raffaello Merello, Pietro Luigi Saburzo, Giacomo Garbarino, and Antonio Grimaldo. We have not of late received any news from our Convoys at Constantinople, but are so well satisfied of the advantages and security of our Trade there, that 30000 pieces of Eight are ordered to be taken out of the Publick Treasury at St. Georges, to be added to the stock for the Levant Trade.

These are to give notice that Mr. Richard Royston Bookseller, who formerly lived at the Argell in Ivy-lane, and the Shop keepers who formerly dwelt in the Round-Court in St. Martins, are now placed in St. Bartholomew's-Hospital near Smith-Field.

Paris, Decemb. 31. Orders are given out to all Officers to keep their Companies full, and other fresh Companies are to be speedily raised: 'Tis likewise said, That two Regiments of Horse, and the like number of Foot are to be raised under the command of the Daulphin.

The Pension of 50000 Crowns formerly granted to the Duke de Valois, is by his Majesty continued to Monsieur.

On Monday and Tuesday last her Majesty found her self much indisposed with several pains, and a scavorish distemper, but is since upon bleeding, well recovered, to the great satisfaction of the Court.

The Chevalier de Chaumont is here arrived from Quebec and Canada: Monsieur Talon, Governour of that Country, has dispatched hither an Officer, with a full account of the state of those parts, where they have had some success upon their Neighbors, from whom they have won four or five small Cities, forcing the inhabitants to leave their habitations, and seek for shelter farther off.

The ten Vessels of the Daulphin company sent out for the use of that name, about the Cape of Good Hope, met with a storm which drove them as far as Fernambouc, from whence endeavoring to continue their Voyage, another tempest taking them, forced them to the Carary Islands; where they were unresolved, whether to proceed in their intended Voyage, or to return again to France, their provisions growing scarce, inclining them rather to the latter; which puts that Company upon fresh preparations, to repair the damage which this accident will produce in their affairs.

'Tis here reported, that his Majesty has by his Ambassador at Rome, demanded of his Holiness the Execution of the Treaty of Pise, especially in that point relating to the Duchy of Castro, to which the Duke of Parma has some pretensions.

Middleburgh, Jan. 2. The States have given order for the speedy sending out 18 or 20 Fregats from several Ports, who ('tis said) are to Rendezvous at Hulsting, and in four or five days will be ready to sail. Their design is variously reported, but most persons believe they are to pass through the Channel, and to joyn with the French fleet.

The Ostend Merchants still continue under Arrest in Zealand, which is very ill resented by the Spaniards, who (we fear) may upon this provocation be induced to stop many of our Merchants that are in their Ports.

The 25 past, one of the new great ships building at Amsterdam was launched, containing in length 175 feet; and 'tis thought, that two others will be likewise fitted within a month, and great store of men are already listed for the service of the Fleet that is to be set out from that City.

Ditto, Jan. 5. The 31 past, Twenty five sail of our Men of War went out of the Meuse, four or five of them from Zealand, the rest from the Texel; their design for some said to be upon Ireland, by others to be Guiny, or else for the West-Indies. With them they carry good store of Tools for the breaking of Ground, but by the Provisions they have aboard, they seem not to be furnished for any long voyage.

Bruges, Jan. 5. The Holland Fleet of about 20 Sail were lately seen off of Ostend, but meeting with Westerly winds, it is thought they could not make their way (as they intended) through the Channel. 'Tis here confidently said, that there is a general Embargo in France; but upon what design, not divulged.

The last Saturday in the night, the French Caper detained at Ostend, for several Silks taken by him out of a Vessel of the Town, stole away out of the Harbor, and carried away the plundered Goods with him; with one of the Spanish Soldiers of the Guard that was set upon him; but the Captain continues still there under Arrest.

Hull, Decemb. 30. The 28 instant arrived two Vessels from Newcastle that were formerly prizes, one of them laden with Coal, the other with prize Wine.

Alborough, Decemb. 31. Yesterday appeared two ships standing out of the Sea, which proved to be the St. Patrick, with one of the Dutch Men of War lately taken. This morning we discovered seven sail, viz. The Warspight with some other Fregats in his company, which we suppose to be the Rear of the whole Gottenburgh fleet, and are standing in for the Gunfleet. This morning likewise, a small Galliot Pickaroon put to shore in this Bay two laden Colliers, and upon the report of his Guns, was for some time pursued by one of our Fregats that came in from the Southwards; but being a nimble Sailer got away.

Portsmouth, Jan. 1. Yesterday arrived the Little Francis, who on Sunday night cruising off the Ile of Wight, met with a Vessel, whom haling in Dutch, they supposing him a Dutch Caper, answered, They were of Amsterdam; and was immediately made prize, and brought in hither, and since sent to the Commissioners for prizes at Southampton, the lading consisting of Salt and Log-wood.

The same day two Galliot Heys pretending to belong to Newport, laden with Wines and Brandy, were by contrary Wines blown in hither. About twelve days since they came from Bourdeaux, in company of 80 sail without Convey, none of them as yet being gone through the Channel.

Whitchal, Jan. 2. The Fleet of Colliers from Newcastle, are with their Convoys safely arrived in the River of Thames, having met with no enemy, nor distressed by the way.
