Whitehall, September 25, 1779.

By Lieutenant-Colonel Prevost, who arrived in Town on the 23d Instant from Georgia, a Letter from Major-General Prevost to Lord George Germain, One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, dated at Savannah the 4th of August, has been received, of which the following is an Extract.

Extract of a Letter from Major-General Prevost to Lord George Germain, dated Savannah, August 4, 1779.

SINCE my last Dispatches from St. John's Island, (Copies of which are herewith sent) I have had no Opportunity to write directly to your Lordship; our Operations since that Time have been chiefly confined in removing from one Island to another, and establishing the different Posts intended to be occupied during the great Heat, and the sickly Season: However on the 20th of June, after every Preparation had been made to abandon the Post on the Main at Stono Ferry, and to quit the Island of St. Johns', the Enemy's whole Force attacked that Post with 8 Pieces of Cannon and 3000 Men; their Attack was at first spirited, but the good Countenance of the Troops, and the Fire of the Armed Flat that covered the Left Flank of our Post, just as the Troops were ferrying over to reinforce it, obliged the Enemy to retreat; a favorable Opportunity of pursuing them and giving them a severe Check was lost for the Want of the Horses, which had been sent away two or three Days before; and, before the Troops arrived on the Ground, the Rebels had got too great a Distance to expect to come up with them with the Foot. I have the Honor of sending herewith a Return of our Loss on that Day. Lieutenant-Colonel Maitland, who commanded there, had with him the First Battalion 71st, then much reduced, a weak Battalion of Hessians, and the Refugees of North and South Carolina, amounting in the whole to about 800 Men; they all behaved with Coolness and Bravery. The Enemy lost a Colonel of Artillery much esteemed amongst them, and about 28 Officers of different Ranks, and between 3 and 400 killed and wounded; they were enabled to carry off the latter, and many of the former, by having a Number of empty Waggon, brought along with them for that Purpose. The Troops, after remaining three Days longer on that Ground, at last abandoned it, and began to move towards Port Royal Island, where the last arrived about the 12th ult. A Corps has been left there sufficient to act at all Times upon a most respectable Defensive, and occasionally to harass the Quarters of the Enemy, and those Parts of the Province that are accessible to our Gallies and Boats from the Bay of St. Helena; it cannot be eligible to extend our Posts far to the Westward, for Reasons for which I beg Leave to refer to Lieutenant-Colonel Prevost, whose Departure I must lament, as his Abilities and Zeal for the Service made him a most useful Assistant upon every Occasion: His Knowledge of the Country and its Resources will enable him to give your Lordship every necessary Information; Sir James Wright's Arrival in the Experiment, the 13th Instant; having relieved him from the Civil Administration.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL Prevost has also brought a Triplicate of another Letter from Major-General Prevost to Lord George Germain, dated Head Quarters, St. John's Island, 12 Miles from Charles-Town, June 10, 1779, of which the following is an Extract; neither the Original or Duplicate having been received.

Extract of a Letter from Major-General Prevost to Lord George Germain, dated Head Quarters, St. John's Island, 12 Miles from Charles-Town, June 10, 1779.

I would have been happy to be able to acquaint your Lordship with the Surrender of Charles-Town.

I shall relate to your Lordship the Means by which our Progress was so little interrupted, and the Reasons for bringing His Majesty's Army into this Province.

Towards the latter End of April I received Information that General Lincoln (who till then had occupied a Position on the North Side of Savannah River, by which he equally covered every Part of a River at all Times extremely difficult, but deemed impassable in Times of Freshes, and in the Face of an Army) had marched the best Part of his Army towards Augusta, to penetrate from thence into Georgia, and to protect a Meeting of the Rebel Delegates appointed to meet at Augusta on the 10th Ultimo; this Consideration, added to a Wish to preserve the Reputation of His Majesty's Arms, by acting on the Offensive, and to oblige Mr. Lincoln to quit his Project, and to procure Provisions from this Province for our Army, induced me to penetrate into Carolina. The Corps of Observation of the Rebel Army being about 2,000 Men, but chiefly Militia, under the Command of Brigadier-General Moultrie, surprised to see the British Troops emerging from Swamps deemed impassable, were struck with such a Panic as to make but a weak Resistance, at the several strong Passes through which we had to pass in Pursuit of them, and fled, with the greatest Hurry and Consternation, towards Charles-Town. The Enemies were so well persuaded that we only meant to forage the Country, that it was not till some Days after our Progress into South Carolina, that General Lincoln could be persuaded to retreat, and come to the Assistance of Charles-Town; towards which he immediately detached a Body of Infantry, mounted for the Purpose of Dispatch, and after collecting all the Militia of the upper Parts of the Country, he proceeded himself towards Dorchester. The Facility with which the British Army had proceeded towards Charles-Town, notwithstanding the Numbers of Rivers, Creeks and Swamps, and the natural Impediments of the Country, added to the repeated Suggestions of the Friends of Government we met with, who assured us positively, that Charles-Town would certainly surrender at our Approach, induced me, with the Advice of all the Field Officers of the Army, to make the Attempt; and Lieutenant-Colonel Prevost, who commanded the Advance, had Orders to summon them the 12th Ult.; but I have the greatest Reason to believe, that the Want of a Naval Force to co-operate with us, our Want of Battering Artillery, and momentary Expectations of a Reinforcement, and the Approach of General Lincoln's Army, actuated them in the Proposal they made of a Neutrality for their Province, and the Refusal of the generous Offers made to them if they would surrender. The numerous Artillery mounted on their Ramparts, their Shipping and Gallies covering and flanking their Lines; our small Numbers, not having more than 2000 fit for Duty; and the Risk of staking the Safety of this small but spirited Army, and the Province of Georgia, induced me, and every Member of the Council of War held on this Occasion, to resolve to return to the South-side of Ashley River, where a Part of the Troops had been left to secure the Passage of that River, and our Retreat if necessary. From that Time the Troops have been chiefly on the Islands of St. James and St. John, in Hopes and Expectations of the Supplies which our long unexpected March, the heavy Rains, the many Rivers we had to cross, had rendered indispensable to us; the first that came, for Want of a sufficient Naval Force, was partly taken and destroyed, and the Rest drove back by a few Rebel Privateers. His Majesty's Ships the Perseus and Rose are since arrived off the Coast with the Ammunition and Provisions we wanted.

I shall shortly change my Quarters to Beaufort, where the Advantage of keeping a Footing in Carolina, and quartering the Troops during the great Heat of the Weather, and the unhealthy Season, in the best Situation, are combined with that of being the most eligible Position for effectually covering and securing Georgia from any Attempt of the Enemy.

Whereas, in and by a Resolution of the House of Commons of this Kingdom, of the 6th Day of June, 1778, for raising the Sum of 300,000l. upon one or more Tontine or Tontines, Scheme or Schemes of Life Annuities, it is, amongst other Things, resolved, that the Lives for which such Annuities were to be granted, should be nominated within such Time or Times before the 29th Day of September, 1779, as the Lord Lieutenant, or any other Chief Governour or Governours of this Kingdom for the Time being, shall publicly declare and appoint. And whereas we did, by our Order, bearing Date the 8th Day of the said Month of June, 1778, amongst other Things, declare and appoint, that all and every Subscriber or Subscribers, or the Assignee or Assignees of such Subscriber or Subscribers, having completed the Payment of the Sum or Sums subscribed by him, her or them, according to and within the several and respective Times limited and appointed by our said Order, should, on or before the 1st Day of September, 1779, name or cause to be named, in the Manner mentioned
