Admiral Seebad said to be escaped, is now Prisoner with Lieutenant Colonel Makleer and other Captains in this City. The Danes Fleet lies in Kroge Bay four Leagues from hence.

Vienna, June 13. On Wednesday next their Imperial Majesties are expected here from Luxembourg. The Bishop of Garch, the first of the Emperors Plenipotentiaries for the Treaty at Nimeguen, intends to spend some time in Bohemia, before he goes thither. The Emperor has given out Commissions for the raising of 4000 men, which are to be employed in Brisgow. The Regiments of Straßfolds and Schultz are marched to assist the Elector of Brandenburg in Pomerania.

Hamburg, June 14. From Berlin we hear, that a great part of the Elector of Brandenburg's Train of Artillery was brought thither, to be thence conveyed to Stetin, with the siege of which place his Electoral Highness intends to begin the Campaign. The place is in great want of Provisions, and the Elector for the more easie supply of his own Camp, hath promised, that whoever shall bring any Provisions to it, shall pay no Customs nor Duties. The Troops of the Duke of Zell, which were in Garrison at Staden and Boxtebude, are marched towards Stetin, to join the Brandenburgers.

Ditto, June 18. Letters from Schonen say, that the 14 instant the King of Denmark was encamped at Rurup, and intended to go and besiege Malmoe. The Munster Troops are arrived near Landscroon, and are to be employed on the Siege of Elfenbourg. The Lunenburg Troops which quartered the 15 instant at Ludow, are marched towards Pomerania, under the command of Major General Enden. From Berlin they write, that to morrow the Elector of Brandenburg will take a review of his Army at Lockenitz, three Leagues from Stein, whither the Regiments of Straßfolds and Schultz are marching to assist at the Siege. In the mean time the Count de Köningsmark is encamped with a Body of an Army on this side of Straßfonsd, to observe the motions of the Enemy, and has lately reinforced the Garrison of Gripfswaldt. The King of Denmark has made the Sieur Meerheim Lieutenant General of his Army. Letters from Liesland of the 7th instant, confirm the burning of Riga, the loss whereof is reckoned to amount unto 800000 Crowns.

Lunden in Schonen, June 18. His Majesty, after a short stay here, continued his journey towards Malmoe, which place he has viewed himself, and will in a few dayes actually besiege it. The 16 instant the Munster Troops joined our Army, and the same day one of our Parties took a Major and 60 Horse that were in Garrison at Ronneholme. This day we have advice that the Suedes Fleet, consisting in 25 Men of War, were seen at Sea. Yesterday 12 Mortar-pieces were sent from Copenhagen to Malmoe, where the Guns have been heard to play very fiercely all this Evening.

Strasburgh, June 18. The Forces of the Circles commanded by the Duke of Saxen Eysenach, are still encamped near Wilsstadt, expecting the arrival of their Artillery from Philipsburg. Two dayes ago the Regiment of Dunewaldt came up to them, and to morrow they will pass the Rhine on a Bridge of Boats they have made at Lunzigh. They are now strong between 8 and 10000 men. Yesterday 600 men marched out of this City to defend the Villages in our Neighborhood, which the French do threaten to burn. The Sieur de Monclar is removed from Benfeldt, and is now posted between Brisac and Schlestadt, having sent a Party of 150 men to Luzelsstein.

Cologne, June 22. The Duke of Newburg being informed, that the Lunenburg Troops which were quartered in Wetteravia, were to take their march through the Duchy of Bergen, hath commanded all the Peasants of that Countrey to take Arms to oppose their passage, so that it is thought they will pass the Rhine higher, and take their march through this Diocess. The Osnabrug Troops which were quartered in the upper Diocess, consisting of 10 Companies of Foot, passed the Rhine yesterday, and are now at Zohs, from whence they begin their march to morrow towards the Meuse, and this day Monsieur de Louvigny intends to part hence to follow them. The Troops of the Bishop of Paderborne are come to Essen, on their way to Keiserswerth, where they are to pass the Rhine, and continue their march towards the Meuse.

From the Imperial Camp at Clemery, June 18. The Duke of Lorraine having the 14 instant observed the passages to the Enemies Camp, marched nearer to them the next day, but found them so advantageously posted, that he could not without much danger to his own men attack them. In the mean time the Enemies having received advice, that part of the Army was sent to convoy the Provisions coming from Treves, begun to shoot from three Batteries they had made the night before, with which they incommoded very much our Horse. Upon which his Highness having caused his Artillery to advance, they continued shooting till 9 at night, when his Highness retired to his Camp, and the next morning, being the 16 instant, sent Orders for the marching of the Baggage towards Nomeny, and caused the Army to draw up in Battalia between Clemery and Menicours; the Right Wing was commanded by the Marquis de Grana, and the Left by the Count de Starenberg. In this Encounter the Count d'Arc, General of the Artillery, and the Count de Dietrichstein, Lieutenant Colonel of the Regiment of Heyster, had their Horses killed under them. Yesterday arrived a great Convoy with Provisions from Trèves, and to morrow we expect another from thence.

Bag-

Luxemburg, June 21. Here are arrived several Deferters from the French Army, who say that many wounded men have been sent to Metz, that the French did the Imperialists great hurt with the Battery they placed on the Hill near Morville, who having only four pieces of Cannon, were forced to retire with some loss and disorder. Yesterday we heard great shooting from the Armies. The Marechal de Schomberg has not yet join'd Monsieur de Crequi; yesterday he was encamped with 1500 Horse and 1000 Foot between Tvoh and Arion, expecting more men from Flanders under the Count de Montal, after which he intends to continue his march towards Sedan.

Metz, June 22. The Marechal de Crequi having resolved to extend the Right Wing of his Army to the Seille, and to possess himself of Posts from whence he might see the Right Wing of the Imperialists, caused several Bridges to be laid at Longneville, and the 14 instant marched towards Morville, leaving his Right Wing near Mousson, to oppose the passage of the Enemies. The next day he arrived at Morville, and had a view of the greatest part of the Right Wing of the Imperialists, who perceiving his motion, advanced in great diligence to possess themselves of a Wood on the Right Wing of our Army, but were prevented by the Marechal de Crequi, who had before placed there 10 Squadrons of Horse, and three Battalions of Foot; and the rest of the Army being drawn up in Battalia, he gave Orders for the discharging the great Guns: upon which, the Enemies caused their Artillery to advance, but being not in a condition to play in three hours after, were forced, after some loss, to retire. The next night they re-passed the Seille, and encamped at Clemery between Nomeny and Port-sur-Seille. In this Action, one Lieutenant Colonel, and 40 of the Gardes du Corps were killed, and about 50 wounded. The Marechal de Crequi had a Horse killed under him by a Musket shot. The Enemies desert in great numbers, and suffer much for want of Bread and other Provisions. The Marechal de Crequi has sent several Parties towards Vic, to incommode them on that side.

Brussels, June 25. Since our last we are informed, that the French Army continues still at Ninour, and that a great Detachment only is marched towards Tubise. Yesterday we had advice, that they marked out a Camp at Gauré betwixt Ghent and Oudenard, and that their Army would suddenly move thither. The Prince of Orange continues still encamped at Lokers. Letters from Luxemburg of the 21 say, that the 15 instant the Imperialists endeavoured to pass the Wood between both Armies, which the French having so fortified, that it was impossible to attack them that way, the Imperialists after much execution done by the Cannon on both sides, retired to their Camp. That the same night the Marechal de Crequi marching silently with his whole Army, gained an Eminence on the Left Wing of the Imperial Camp over against Nomeny, where they encamped, and that the Imperial Army continued their Camp between Clemery and Port-sur-Seille; That several Persons of Quality had been killed and wounded in taking a Redoubt lying between both Camps; That the Marechal de Crequi had his Horse killed under him in the dispute; and that the Count d'Arc, General of the Artillery of the Imperial Army, was dangerously wounded. The Armies continue in sight of one another, and the Canaan plays very fiercely. Our Governor General having dispatched his affairs at Antwerp, and received this day 300000 Florins from that City, is expected here to morrow. Yesterday the Prince of Orange was to take a general review of his Army.

Hague, June 25. We do not yet hear that the Ships which are designed for the Baltick, are yet sailed from the Texel; but Admiral Tromp hath positive Orders to depart, and the Danish Envoy who returned lately from thence, is gone thither again to hasten them out. The differences between the Princes of Oldenburg and the States, are now said to be in a fair way of composition, though the Assembly at Bremen be separated without coming to any determination about them. From Flanders we hear, that the Prince of Orange was lately in danger of being surprized by a Party of 40 French Horse, and as many Foot, who, upon intelligence of his going to Antwerp, laid an Ambuscade for him: But his Highness having had notice of them on the way, sent some Dragoons to charge them, who with little resistance made them all Prisoners, and among the rest took some Dutch Deferters, who are said to have directed them.
