

customed. And for so doing this shall be your Warrant.

Given at His Majesty's Castle of Dublin, the 9th Day of October, 1783.

By his Excellency's Command,
T. Pelham.

To Sir William Hawkins, Knight,
Ulster King at Arms, or his Deputy.

Dublin Castle, October 13, 1783.

THE Officers of Arms, with the Serjeants at Arms and Trumpeters, assembled at College Green, and proceeded from thence, accompanied by a Squadron of Dragoons, to Cork-Hill, where the Lord Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Sheriffs attended: And Ulster King at Arms having presented to his Lordship the Warrant from his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant for Proclaiming the Peace, the Procession was made to the Castle Gate as follows, viz.

A Party of Horse to clear the Way.
Lord Mayor's Officers, Two and Two.
City Marshal with his Truncheon.
State Kettle Drum and Trumpets.
Pursuivants Messengers.

Athlone between Two Serjeants at Arms, with their Maces.
Heralds.

King at Arms, and a Sheriff on each Side, with Truncheons.

Lord Mayor, with Sword and Mace.
Recorder and Aldermen.
A Squadron of Horse.

When they came to the Castle Gate, after the Serjeant Trumpeter had sounded a Call thrice, Athlone Pursuivant made an Oyez, and Ulster King at Arms read His Majesty's Proclamation aloud; the Procession then continued to the Tholsel, Corn-Market, Old Bridge, Ormond-Bridge, and Essex-Bridge, at which Places the Proclamation was read by Ulster, in the same Manner: The Spectators, who were very numerous, at each Place expressed their Satisfaction by loud Acclamations. During the Procession the Guns in the Park were fired Three Rounds of Twenty-one Guns; and the Evening was concluded with ringing of Bells, Bonfires, and other Demonstrations of Joy.
