The Letters from Stetin are of the 6th inflant. The Danes in the life of Rugen, are still employed in the Siege of the Fehr-Scans, in which they have made no great progress by reason of the ill weather they have had fince they fet down before it. In Alface the Imperial Army is marching towards Wormes ; we expect our next Letters will tell us, that the Troops are all feparated and gone into Winter-quarters. In Hungary the Rebels grow confiderable, infomuch that they write from Fienna, that General Cob had fent to pray the Emperor to fend more Forces to join him, for that otherwife he was not able to make head against the Enemy, who were grown very firong by the conjunction of feveral thoufand Poles, which, it is faid, are commanded by a French Colonel.
