Rome, Octob. 30. The Pope is resolved to abolish the great Jurisdictions pretended by the Foreign Ministers residing here, who on the other hand are very unwilling to part with what they have been so long in possession of; and for the effecting his intentions, the Pope has given command that the Garrison of this City be increased, and that strong Guards be set in several places. A new Troop of 100 Horse has been likewise raised, and the command of it given to the Count de Fiesque. On Tuesday last dyed here the Father Dominican, who was sent to the Pope by the King of Persia.

Vienna, Nov. 7. The Turkish Chiaus, who arrived here two dayes since, demands the liberty of two Persons belonging to the Bassa of Newhausel, which were lately taken by a party of Hussars. We are told that the Marquis de Grana is ordered to go to the Army, to command that part of it which will winter along the Rhine. From Hungary they write that the Rebels grow very powerful, and that they expect assistance from the Turks and Tartars. General Cobs presses for supplies from hence.

From the Camp before Stetin, Nov. 12. Yesterday about Noon a Mine was sprung on the Lunenburgs side, in which were 30 Barrels of Powder, and 200 men were commanded to post themselves so soon as the Mine was sprung, the same had the desired effect, but the Besieged had put themselves in so good a posture to receive us, that we could not execute the orders that were given; in this action Lieutenant Colonel Westrumb with several other Officers were killed and wounded. The hard Frost does very much incommode us in our Trenches, though we do all we can to secure our selves against the cold, by keeping great Fires in them.

Hambrough, Nov. 16. The Advices we receive from Stetin say, that on the 11 instant the Besiegers sprung a Mine, and followed the same with an Attack, in which they were repulsed; that they had been informed by Deserters, that the Besieged had resolved to defend the place for three months longer; and that the cold weather did so extremely incommode the Soldiers, and the hard Frost made their working so difficult, that it was thought his Electoral Highness would after all be forced to raise the Siege. The report we had of the taking of the Fehr-Scans in the Isle of Rugon by the Danes, proves a mistake; and on the contrary, the Letters we receive this morning from Straelfond say, that the Danes have made no great progress in their attacks upon the said Fort; and that they having brought their Men of War and other Vessels before it, to attack it on the side of the water, they had been so warmly received by the Fort, that they were forced to remove to a greater distance, he that commanded the ships with several others being killed. They continue to write from Denmark of the illnesses of the King of Sweden, but what ground they have for it we know not.

Ditto. The last account we had of the Siege of Stetin by Letters of the 12 instant, was, that the Besiegers having sprung two Mines, the one (the other being only intended for a false attack) did the desired execution; and made a breach, which 60 men might enter in front; that accordingly the Brandenburgs made an attack, but that some of their chief Officers being killed, it so far discouraged them, that they could not be persuaded to go on; which the Besieged perceiving, sallied out, and drove them back; That two dayes after two other attacks were made by the Lunenburgs and Brandenburgs in their respective quarters at the same time; that the former were repulsed with the loss of 30 men; and that the Brandenburgs had not succeeded much better: since which nothing hath passed. These unsuccessful attempts, and the obstinate resistance of the Besieged, seems to make the event of the Siege somewhat doubtful. We have nothing new from Copenhagen.

Strasburgh, Nov. 15. The Duke of Lorraine no sooner received the News of Friburg's being besieged by the French, but he resolved to march with the Troops he had with him, (for several Regiments were already on the other side the Rhine, and marching to the Winter-quarters assigned them) and to that end having repassed the Rhine, he arrived the 13 instant at Offenburg, with an Army of 15 or 16000 men, from whence he continued his march the next morning. In the mean time the account we have of the Siege, is, that the French press it with all the vigor possible; that they have already made several attacks, and have gained several advantageous Posts, though not without loss of men; and we say here that they have had killed two Colonels, three Lieutenant Colonels, and 16 Captains.

Postscript. It is all the News in Town, that Count Mansfeld is got into Friburg with 1500 men, having fought his way through the French quarters, though with the loss of above 100 men.

Francfort, Nov. 17. The Imperialists are extremely concerned at the News they have of the Siege of Friburg, which was, it seems, so sudden and unexpected, that the Governor had not time to call in the Cowary people, which would have been a great reinforcement to the Garrison, and are resolved to do all that lies in them to relieve it; and in order thereunto, the Duke of Lorraine has passed the Rhine with part of his Army, and came the 13 instant to Offenburg, from whence he continued his march with all the diligence possible, purposing to be before the place on the 16; and this afternoon we have an account that the Prince of Baden was already come very near the place, and that of his Troops 1500 men were got into Friburg. It is certain that no time is to be lost, for the French press the Siege vigorously, and have already taken several Out-works.

Aix la Chapelle, Nov. 19. The Munster Troops having continued some time in our Neighborhood, to try if they could by fair means persuade us to accord them Winter-quarters in this City, to which end the Baron de Nesseltraeth hath been employed in several messages to our Magistrates, but finding the same ineffectual, they resolved to make use of force, and accordingly planted several pieces of Cannon and Mortars on the 14 instant, and fired several shot into the Town; the Burgers were immediately put into Arms, and we in like manner made use of our Cannon against them, which we did with that good effect, that this morning the said Munster Troops have withdrawn their Cannon, and have quitted our Neighborhood, leaving several dead behind them.

Amsterdam, Nov. 23. The Siege of Siccia seems now to draw towards an end; for our last Letters from the Camp, which are dated the 15th, say, that the Besiegers had made themselves Masters of a Bastion, and that the Besieged had thereupon demanded a Cessation of Arms, which the Elector would not agree to. The Febr-Stans in the Isle of Rügen holds out still.

Brussels, Nov. 23. His Excellency the Duke de Villa Hermsa continues still at Gbaunt, but is expected here on Thursday or Friday next. From Strasburgh we have an account, that Friburg is very much pressed by the French, and that the Duke of Lorraine was marching to the relief of it.

Marseilles, Oct. 16. By a French Vessel arrived from Argiers we have advice, That that Government had declared War against the English, and given Orders to their Men of War to bring in all English ships they meet with. We hear that Sir J. Van Narborough, hath taken another Algerin of 40 Guns; and that some of those Corsairs are steered to the Eastward, to avoid the English Frigats.

Paris, Nov. 20. Our last Letters from the Camp before Friburg are dated the 14th, they tell us, that the 13th at night the Besiegers were advanced to the Ditch, which they filled up, with the loss of 5 or 6 men killed, and about 40 wounded; That the 13th at night the Sieur de Montille Ingeneer was killed with a Musket-shot, as he was passing the Escarpe; and that night the Besiegers took two Half moons of the Castle, the Count de Bussy was killed. The Duke of Lorraine is marching to the relief of the place, but in all appearance will come too late; his Troops are said to be in a very ill condition.

Postscript. We are just now told that a Courier arrived about midnight, with the News that Friburg is taken.

Ditto, Nov. 24. On Sunday last we had the confirmation of the taking of Friburg on the 16 instant; and the next day Te Deum was sung in our Cathedral on that occasion. It seems the Duke of Lorraine was advanced beyond Offenburg, to the relief of it: 1500 Foot and 400 Horse marched out of the place.

W Hereas there have been several Robberies lately Committed on the Highway, viz: A Robbery about five weeks since, between Rumford and Illford in the County of Essex, in which there was about 200 l. lost. Another in London-lane in the County of Middlesex, about 10 weeks since. Another committed upon Chetter Coach, a little beyond St. Albans, about 10 weeks since. Another upon Bagshot-hexth, about 7 or 8 weeks since. Another near Shooters-hill in Kent, about 8 or 9 weeks since: Together with several others lately committed in other places.

T His is therefore to give Notice to all Persons governed, That upon Monday night the 13 of this instant November, there were seven Men Apprehended, who are very Notorious for Highway-Men, and go by the Names of Cornelius Fullum or Little Tom, Martin Urylyn, John Moore, William Thurloe, Michael Purcell, Francis Fry, and Thomas Chabitor, who are all Committed to Newgate; where they may be at any time seen by those Persons that were Robbd, or any others that will Prosecute them, who may do well to repair thither before the next Gaol-delivery.
