

and made a breach, which 60 men might enter in front; that accordingly the Brandenburgs made an attack, but that some of their chief Officers being killed, it so far discouraged them, that they could not be persuaded to go on; which the Besieged perceiving, sallied out, and drove them back; That two dayes after two other attacks were made by the Lunenburgs and Brandenburgs in their respective quarters at the same time; that the former were repulsed with the loss of 30 men; and that the Brandenburgs had not succeeded much better: since which nothing hath passed. These unsuccessful attempts, and the obstinate resistance of the Besieged, seems to make the event of the Siege somewhat doubtful. We have nothing new from Copenhagen.

Strasburgh, Nov. 15. The Duke of Lorraine no sooner received the News of Friburg's being besieged by the French, but he resolved to march with the Troops he had with him, (for several Regiments were already on the other side the Rhine, and marching to the Winter-quarters assigned them) and to that end having repassed the Rhine, he arrived the 13 instant at Offenburg, with an Army of 15 or 16000 men, from whence he continued his march the next morning. In the mean time the account we have of the Siege, is, that the French press it with all the vigor possible; that they have already made several attacks, and have gained several advantageous Posts, though not without loss of men; and we say here that they have had killed two Colonels, three Lieutenant Colonels, and 16 Captains.

Postscript. It is all the News in Town, that Count Mansfeld is got into Friburg with 1500 men, having fought his way through the French quarters, though with the loss of above 100 men.

Francfort, Nov. 17. The Imperialists are extremely concerned at the News they have of the Siege of Friburg, which was, it seems, so sudden and unexpected, that the Governor had not time to call in the Cowary people, which would have been a great reinforcement to the Garrison, and are resolved to do all that lies in them to relieve it; and in order thereunto, the Duke of Lorraine has passed the Rhine with part of his Army, and came the 13 instant to Offenburg, from whence he continued his march with all the diligence possible, purposing to be before the place on the 16; and this afternoon we have an account that the Prince of Baden was already come very near the place, and that of his Troops 1500 men were got into Friburg. It is certain that no time is to be lost, for the French press the Siege vigorously, and have already taken several Out-works.

Aix la Chapelle, Nov. 19. The Munster Troops having continued some time in our Neighborhood, to try if they could by fair means persuade us to accord them Winter-quarters in this City, to which end the Baron de Nesseltraeth hath been employed in several messages to our Magistrates, but finding the same ineffectual, they resolved to make use of force, and accordingly planted several pieces of Cannon and Mortars on the 14 instant, and fired several shot into the Town; the Burgers were immediately put into Arms, and we in like manner made use of our Cannon against them, which we did with that good effect, that this morning the said Munster Troops have withdrawn their Cannon, and have quitted our Neighborhood, leaving several dead behind them.

Amsterdam, Nov. 23. The Siege of Siccia seems now to draw towards an end; for our last Letters from the Camp, which are dated the 15th, say, that the Besiegers had made themselves Masters of a Bastion, and that the Besieged had thereupon demanded a Cessation of Arms, which the Elector would not agree to. The Febr-Stans in the Isle of Rügen holds out still.

Brussels, Nov. 23. His Excellency the Duke de Villa Hermsa continues still at Gbaunt, but is expected here on Thursday or Friday next. From Strasburgh we have an account, that Friburg is very much pressed by the French, and that the Duke of Lorraine was marching to the relief of it.

Marseilles, Oct. 16. By a French Vessel arrived from Argiers we have advice, That that Government had declared War against the English, and given Orders to their Men of War to bring in all English ships they meet with. We hear that Sir J. Van Narborough, hath taken another Algerin of 40 Guns; and that some of those Corsairs are steered to the Eastward, to avoid the English Frigats.

Paris, Nov. 20. Our last Letters from the Camp before Friburg are dated the 14th, they tell us, that the 13th at night the Besiegers were advanced to the Ditch, which they filled up, with the loss of 5 or 6 men killed, and about 40 wounded; That the 13th at night the Sieur de Montille Ingeneer was killed with a Musket-shot, as he was passing the Escarpe; and that night the Besiegers took two Half moons of the Castle, the Count de Buffy was killed. The Duke of Lorraine is marching to the relief of the place, but in all appearance will come too late; his Troops are said to be in a very ill condition.

Postscript. We are just now told that a Courier arrived about midnight, with the News that Friburg is taken.

Ditto, Nov. 24. On Sunday last we had the confirmation of the taking of Friburg on the 16 instant; and the next day Te Deum was sung in our Cathedral on that occasion. It seems the Duke of Lorraine was advanced beyond Offenburg, to the relief of it: 1500 Foot and 400 Horse marched out of the place.
