WHEREAS it has been humbly represented to the King, That about Seven o'Clock in the Evening of Tuesday the 30th of November last, Edward Holborough, who was fined by Two of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Wilts, in the Penalty of Sixty-five Pounds, for harbouring Seventy-two Gallons of Spirits, came to the House of Mr. Robert Mann, Supervisor of Excise, at Corsham, in the same County, and paid the said Fine: That, about Eight o'Clock the same Evening, a Number of Ruffians came and knocked softly at the Door of the said Robert Mann, who was standing in the Kitchen with the Division Officer: That, upon the Door being opened, Seven or Eight Men in Disguise, rushed into the House, all armed with Pistols of various Sizes, and, with horrid Imprecations, demanded the Money to be delivered up immediately, or they would blow out his the said Supervisor's Brains; and that Five of them surrounded him with their Pistols pointed at his Head and Body: That, upon the said Robert Mann's asking them what Money they meant, they said, the Fine;—their own—their own: That, upon the said Robert Mann's declaring he had it not about him, they obliged him to say where it was; and Four of them forced him up Stairs into his Chamber; and, upon his taking the said Money out of his Chest, which was in a Purse, they pulled the Purse from his Hands, and emptied the Money into one of their Hats; and ran down Stairs, saying to their Companions, Here it is—Here it is: That they then left the House, mounted their Horses and fired many Pistols as they rode along the Street: That several respectable Neighbours came to their Doors while the Ruffians were in the said Robert Mann's House, but they were obliged to go in again, the Ruffians threatening them with immediate Death if they did not.
