Royal Patent Forte Piano Guitars.

MESS. Claúß and Co, the original and only Inventor and Patentees of the inimitable and beautiful new-invented Forte Piano Guitar, which, for Richness and Strength of Tone, Facility of Execution, and Delicacy of Expression, may be justly said even to rival the Piano Forte itself, return Thanks to the Nobility, Gentry, and the Public in General, for the generous Patronage they have experienced. The universal Approbation with which this Instrument has been favoured; having induced some Persons to attempt imposing a spurious and wretched Imitation for Sale, with Intent to injure the Patentees, and to defraud the Purchasers, the Public are requested to observe, that the Patent Instrument is distinguished from all others, by being stamped on the Front with His Majesty's Arms, surrounded with the Words Claúß and Co. Inventors, London, Patent Instrument; and also stamped below the Bridge with the Address of the Patentees, No. 7, Gerard-street, Soho, where they are to be had, and where may also be had several Pieces of New Music adapted to this Instrument. They have also some excellent Forte Pianos to dispose of, which they doubt not will be found equal to any that can be purchased in London, and at as reasonable Prices. Orders from the East and West Indies, America, and every Part of Europe, as well as in Great Britain and Ireland, addressed as above, are executed with all possible Punctuality and Dispatch.

§§ It having been maliciously reported that the Patent Internal Improvements are liable to speedy Disorder, the Patentees hereby warrant their Wear for Twenty Years.
