

Inhabitants of the Town of Southampton, beg Leave to present, at the Foot of your Throne, our unfeigned Congratulations on your Majesty's providential Escape from the daring Attempt of a base and desperate Assassin.

We cannot reflect without Horror on the atrocious Deed; and while we imagine to ourselves the Miseries in which your Kingdoms must have been involved if the infamous Design had been effectually perpetrated, we lift up our Hearts with Thankfulness to the King of Kings, who, in the Moment of Danger, so graciously interposed for the Preservation of His Anointed!

If the Lives of Princes are a sacred Trust committed to the Care of every good and loyal Subject, how are we, who enjoy such envied Privileges under your Majesty's auspicious Government, bound to watch over the important Charge!

But if it is possible that, among the Millions ever ready to sacrifice whatever is dear and valuable to them in Defence of your Majesty and your Illustrious House, there may yet be found a Wretch so lost to every Sense of Duty, Loyalty, and his Country's Love, as to raise a sacrilegious Arm against his Sovereign's Breast, permit us to intreat your Majesty to be careful of a Life in which the Happiness and Prosperity of the Nations over which you reign, are so essentially interested!

[Signed by the Mayor, Bailiffs, and 188 other Persons.]

Your Majesty's personal Safety and Welfare are so intimately connected with the Happiness and Prosperity of your People, that whatever endangers the former, naturally excites our Apprehensions for the latter, and calls forth those Emotions of Loyalty and Gratitude which are so justly due to your Majesty, and with which our Hearts are constantly animated.

May your Majesty's invaluable Life be long, very long, preserved in perfect Health and Security; and may your Majesty ever meet with the most grateful Returns of Duty and Affection for your unwearied Attention to our Rights and Interests, and for the various public Benefits we enjoy under your Majesty's wise, mild and equal Government.
