From Monday April 15. to Chursday April 18. 1678.

Portsmouth, April 16.

He 1 3th inflant arrived here the Richard Adventure, Richard Scrutten Mafter, from Roan, who brings news, that he got from thence, as it were by flealth, for that there was an Embargo upon all Veffels whatfoever, and that he left there four or five Englifh Veffels under the faid Embargo. The 14th arrived at Spithead the Harwich, Sir Robert Robinfon Commander, from the Weffward. Yefterday arrived here three or four Frigats from the Downs, to take in Soldiers here to be transforted to Flanders. Volentier Seamen come in in great numbers, fo that the Royal Fames and Ebarles are almost mann'd without prefing any men.

Fienna, April 10. We expect here in few days the Ambaffador of the Czar of Moleovy, who is on his way. It is faid that he comes to demand the Archdutchefs Anne, the Emperors Sifter, in Marriage for the Czar, as also to propole an Alliance against the Turks; but it's thought he will not have any fuccels in either. Their Imperial Majefties intendafter, the Holy-days to go to Newstat, to be fo much nearer the Allembly of the States of Hungary, who are to me t about the 20th of this month. His Imperial Majefty has received Letters from the Duke of Lorrain, by which he gives him an account that he was halling to the Army, which he hoped to have in the Field by the latter end of the month. The Emperor has appointed Count Leflie to command his Troops in Husgary, where the Rebels have not of late attempted any thing of moment; and we have no great reason to apprehend they will be able to do much, confidering the Turks do again and again declare they will not give them any countenance or protection.

Copenhagen, April 12. We have heard nothing more of the loss which the Suedes are faid to have fulfained before Christianstadt, which makes fome people yet doubt the truth of it; and the more, for that all the account we have of that matter, was brought by fome Bores only. We have advice from feveral places, that the King of Sueden will be very fuddainly in the Field and that he will have an Army of 24 or 25009 Men; to answer which we are on this fide endeavouring to bring a very good Army into the Field, and to make it up the Bilhop of Munster is to assist our King with 6000 Men, the Landgrave of Hessen with 2000, and the next week the Sieur Guldenlieu parts hence for Norway, from whence he will return again in three weeks with 4000 Men. But our greatelt diligence is used to get out our Fleet betimes, to hinder the Suedes from fending any Succours to Pomeren, and particularly the transporting thither the Suedish Troops from Livonia. According to the last account we had by Sea from Stockholme, the Suedes do not fit out their whole Fleet, but only a Squadron of Men of War, which are to cruife on their Coafts.

Hamburg, April 19. In our laft we told you, we had received advice from Roftocke that the Branden-burgs had made themfelves Mafters of the Fortrefs of Dangarten; which is fo far from being true, that we are fince informed from certain hands that the

we are fince informed from certain hands that the Brandenburg Troops, upon Ordersthey received from the Elector, have wholly quitted the Siege, and are retired towards Domitz, what the reason hereof may be, we are yet to learn. There are Letters. from Dantzicke of the 12th inflant, which fay, that a Vessel was arrived there in five days from Riga, who reported that he left that City in a Plame, which we hope will prove a miltake. The Elector of Brandenburg and Dukes of Lunenburg feem diffatisfied with the Duke of Mechlenburg, whom they look upon as a Favouret of the suedes, and therefore it is faid that their Troops are gone to attack Domitz, which belongs to that Duke: by the next we shall know the gertainty.

Metz, April 12. The Officers of the Marelchal Metz, April 12. The Officers of the Marelchal Me Crequi's Army arrive here daily from France, and repair to their respective commands. We hear the Duke of Lorrain will be in the Field with the Impe-Lial Army by the beginning of the metrif infonth? wherefore the Mareschal de Grequi is likewise haftening to take the Field with the Troops he is to command. He expects a confiderable detachement? from Flanders, and io foon as that arrives, he will be able to bring a very confiderable Army together.

Straburg, April 15. Yefterday arrived here a Perfon from Schleftadt, who gives us an account, that a great part of the Fortifications of that City was fallen down fome days fince, at which the French were very much troubled, fearing the like would happen to all the reft, and that the Governor had fent an Exprefs to inform the King of it. From Brijac they tell us, That the Sieur Monelar, underflanding from all hands that the Imperialifts would for a certain open the Campagne with the Siege of Friburg, had taken care to reinforce that Garifon, to that degree, that there are at prefent 8 or 9 Battalions in the place ; and befides, he pretends to have an Army of 20000 Men in Brigow to obferve the Enemies motions.

Mentz, April 17. The Imperial Troops are every where on their march to their Rendezvous, which, it's faid, is appointed for the 29th inftant. The Duke of Lorrain has ordered a detachement to be made of 20 Men out of each Company, who are to march towards Brilgow, and joining with those Troops which have had their Winter-quarters in Suabia, befiege Friburg. The Duke of Lorrain has likewife given Orders for the making a Bridge'over the Rhine below Straburg, and for the raifing certain Redoubts to fecure it.

Amfterdam, April 22. The French Ambaffadors'at Nimeguen have made a Declaration of the Terms on which the King their Mafter is willing to admit of a Peace : We have feet the faid Proposals made publick here; and the Parties have only till the roth of May, New Stile, allowed them to receive them in. The Letters we receive from Germany affure us, that the Imperial Troops are marching to their general Rendezvous;
