Naples, August 26.

Her Sicilian Majesty was this Day happily delivered of a Prince.

Vienna, August 27.

The last Letters from the Bannat advise, that the Emperor arrived at Weiskirchen on the 20th Instant. Whilst His Imperial Majesty was on his March, the Turks made strong Efforts to penetrate into the Heart of that Province. They attacked a Defile, called the Veteranische Hole, with great Fury, made themselves Masters of an advanced Post, and put to the Sword two Divisions of Brechainville's Regiment of Foot, giving Quarter neither to Officers nor Soldiers. They made several unsuccessful Attempts to carry the principal Post, but were always beat back with great Loss. This however appeared to be only a secondary Object with them. Their principal one was to drive General Wartensleben from the Heights, where his Corps was advantageously posted near Meadia. For that Purpose, the Seraskier of Georgia was detached, on the 17th Instant, with a Corps of 16,000 Men, mostly Spahis, to attack that General, whose Force consisted of about 8,000 Men. The Action began early in the Morning, and was so ill conducted on the Part of the Turks, that the Austrian Infantry (from behind their Redoubts) had little else to do than to mow down the Turkish Ranks, as they rashly advanced within the Reach of Grape Shot. To this Carnage they exposed themselves repeatedly, during the Course of the Day, but with out ever making the smallest Impression on the the Austrian Line. At length, between Five and Six o'Clock in the Evening, they retreated, but were not pursued by the Imperialists, who chose not to quit their advantageous Position, to follow the Enemy into the Plain.

The Loss of Officers and Men on the Side of the Turks was very considerable, whilst that of the Austrians consisted only of Five Men killed and Twenty-five wounded.

The Turks have also attempted to penetrate into Transylvania. On the 13th and 14th Instant, they attacked the Two Passes of Vulcaner and Buzzauer, in large Bodies, and with the utmost Intrepidity, overthrowing the first Corps of Imperial Troops opposed to them at each of those Passes, and making a considerable Slaughter; but fresh Troops arriving successively to their Defence, the Turks were finally repulsed, without being able to gain any firm Footing in that Province.

Vienna, August 30.

Advices from the Camp before Chotzym, of the 20th Instant, mention, that notwithstanding the extreme Distress of the Garrison, which, according to the Reports of Deserters, and of some Prisoners of the combined Army, who had made their Escape, had no other Provision left than Wheat spoiled by the Fire and Smoke, the Garrison continued resolutely to hold out, and refused to surrender, in the Hope of receiving speedy Relief.

Berlin, September 2.

The King of Prussia, having compleated the Reviews of his Troops in Silesia, returned Yesterday in perfect Health to Charlottenburg. To-morrow His Majesty removes to Potsdam, to exercise that Garrison previous to the great Manœuvres which will take Place as usual on the 20th of this Month.
