Stockholm, September 16.

A Cessation of Hostilities having been agreed upon between the Empress of Russia, and the Swedish Troops in Finland, the latter, in Compliance with the Stipulations, retired within their own Frontiers, except a Battalion of the Queen Dowager's Regiment, and another of the Regiment of Ostrogothia, who, not having acceded to the Convention, kept Possession of their Posts. Between these and a Corps of Russians a Skirmish happened on the 1st Instant, in which about Fourteen of the Enemy were killed, and only Two Swedes wounded. It is hitherto uncertain whether or not this Affair will lead to a Renewal of Hostilities between the Two Armies.

His Swedish Majesty set out on the 12th Instant for the Province of Dalecarlia.

Copenhagen, September 23.

The Russian Squadron, reinforced by Three Danish Ships of the Line, which sailed from hence last Week for the East Sea, is still detained near this Port by contrary Winds.

Letters just received from Elsinore mention, that, Six Days ago, Admiral Greig was seen cruising before Revel.

Vienna, September 24.

Letters of the 18th Instant, from the Emperor's Camp at Illova, advise, that the Situation of that Army, and particularly of the Right Wing of it, had become exceedingly hazardous, being almost within Reach of the Turkish Cannon from the neighbouring Hills; and that the Turks were continually skirmishing with General Wartenleben's

Corps. The heavy Baggage of every Denomination still remained at Caransebes.

The last Intelligence from Croatia mentions, that the Siege of Novi was carried on with Vigour; but that the Garrison made an obstinate Defence.

Letters of the 2d Instant, from the Russian Camp before Oczakow, assure us, that the Trenches were to be opened on the 5th.
