Published by Authority.

From Tuesday March 17, to Saturday March 21, 1789.

Whitehall, March 21.

THE King has been pleased to order a Congé d'Elire to pass the Great Seal, empowering the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of St. Asaph to elect a Bishop of that See, void by the Death of the Right Reverend Dr. Jonathan Shipley, late Bishop thereof; and His Majesty has also been pleased, by His Royal Sign Manual, to recommend the Right Reverend Father in God Samuel now Bishop of Gloucester, to be by them chosen Bishop of that See.

The King has been pleased to present the Reverend Colin Mackenzie to the Church and Parish of Stornaway, vacant by the Translation of the Reverend Mr. Downie to the Parish of Urray.

Also to present the Reverend Francis Leslie to the Church and Parish of Bohame, vacant by the Death of the late Minister there.

Gloucester-House, March 19.

This Day His Excellency the Marquis Del Campo, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from the Court of Spain,

And the Chevalier d'Alvensleben, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of Prussia,

Had Private Audiences of his Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester:

And afterwards of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, at Cumberland House.

To both which they were introduced by Sir Clement Cottrell Dormer, Knt. Master of the Ceremonies.

Kew House, March 19, 1789.

THIS Day the Right Honorable the Lord Mayor, and Sheriffs, attended by the Recorder and the City Remembrancer, waited upon His Majesty, (being introduced by the Earl of Effex, one of the Lords of His Majesty's Bedchamber) with the following Address, which was read by the Recorder.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, beg Leave humbly to approach the Throne with the most heartfelt Emotions of Joy and Exultation.

We cannot sufficiently express our deep and awful Sense of this signal Instance of the Goodness of Divine Providence to these highly favored Kingdoms, in restoring the Health of our most Gracious Sovereign to the ardent Prayers of His People.

Your Majesty's faithful Citizens of London, at all Times eager to testify their Loyalty, are more particularly anxious to offer their renewed Assurances of Fidelity and Attachment in a Moment, which has rescued them from Despondency, and blessed them with an Opportunity to offer the Tribute nearest their Hearts.

And we earnestly supplicate the Great Disposer of all Events, that your Majesty may long continue the happy Instrument of preserving, in the most exalted Degree, the Civil and Religious Liberties of a free, loyal and grateful Nation.

Signed by Order of Court,

William Rix.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most Gracious Answer:

I Thank you for this fresh Mark of your Loyalty, and of your Affection for My Person. The Expressions of Fidelity and Attachment, which I receive from My loving Subjects, are most grateful to Me.

The City of London may always depend upon My watchful Attention to Their Liberties, Commerce, and Happiness.

They were all received very graciously, and had the Honor to kiss His Majesty's Hand.

Kew House, March 19, 1789.

This Day the Right Honorable the Lord Mayor, and Sheriffs, attended by the Recorder and the City Remembrancer, waited upon Her Majesty (being introduced by the Earl of Ailesbury, Lord Chamberlain of Her Majesty's Household) with the following Address, which was read by the Recorder.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty,

MAY it please your Majesty to permit us, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, to offer our most sincere Congratulations to your Majesty on the auspicious Recovery of our most Gracious Sovereign.

Impressed with the most sympathizing Affections, we have not the Power to convey how much we participate the general Felicity, of which your Majesty must enjoy so large a Share.

That the King may long be preserved in His Sacred and exalted Station, not less revered for His Domestic Virtues than for the Dominion He holds in the Hearts of a loyal and happy People, is the sincere Prayer of the Citizens of London.

There never was a Period when the Citizens of London felt the Value of their Privilege to address the
