We, therefore, with the most pious Sentiments, offer, in all Humility, our Thanksgivings to Almighty God, for those His great Mercies to your Kingdoms, in thus replacing all your Majesty's loving Subjects under the Direction and Influence of that Wisdom which gave Energy and Efficacy to the National Councils, the Privation of which has been distressful in every Department of the State, and throughout your Majesty's Realms.

Permit us, most Gracious Sovereign, after having been deeply afflicted in common with our Fellow-Subjects, now to express, with the sincerest Zeal, Duty, and Affection, our fervent Wishes and Prayers, that your Majesty may long live to continue to your People the Blessings of your Majesty's just and beneficent Government.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the President and Fellows of Sion College within the City of London.

Most Gracious Sovereign!

WE, your Majesty's dutiful Subjects, the President and Fellows of Sion College, beg Leave to approach your Royal Presence with our most cordial Congratulations on your Majesty's happy Recovery.

As Members of the Community at large we feel, in common with every Rank and Description of Men, the liveliest Emotions of Joy upon an Event so auspicious to the general Welfare of the British Empire. But, as Ministers of the Gospel, we are impressed with a peculiar Sense of the Divine Goodness in the Preservation of a Life, in the highest Degree interesting to the Cause of Piety and Virtue. We have enjoyed the Happiness of seeing that Cause, during the whole of your Majesty's Reign, invariably recommended by the Royal Example; and Immorality and Profaneness discountenanced by Royal Proclamation, as well as by all other Means in your Majesty's Power. In offering, therefore, our unfeigned Thanks to the great Arbiter of Life and Death, for the signal Mark of His Favour we have already experienced, we shall not fail to add our most fervent Supplications, that our revered and beloved Sovereign may long be preserved (in the possession of Health and every other Blessing) the Father of a loyal and united People, the Patron of Religion and Learning, and the special Protector of the Church of England as by Law established.

[ Delivered by the Rev. Henry Fly, M. A. President, the Rev. William Fitz Herbert, M. A. Dean, and the Rev. Dr. Morice, Assisant. ]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the President and Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians in London.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

AMIDST the universal Joy which has been diffused through the Nation by the Re-establishment of your Majesty's Health, we beg Leave to assure your Majesty that no Part of the Community can possibly have felt a more cordial Satisfaction than the College of Physicians in London, who now with all Humility offer their Congratulation to your Majesty upon the present most happy Event.

Your Majesty's Goodness will excuse us, if we indulge a Complacence peculiar to ourselves, when we reflect that the Art which we profess has contributed to your Majesty's Recovery, and, in that Event, has been highly instrumental to the public Welfare. That Art never was directed to an Object of greater Importance; and we are most thankful to Providence for having so conspicuously blest it with Success.

The great Virtues, Wisdom and Justice which distinguish your Majesty's Reign, are acknowledged by all Orders of your Subjects. Learning and Science have an additional Tribute of Praise and Gratitude Gratitude to offer, in commemorating the Patronage and Protection which your Majesty has constantly afforded to all Exertions of Genius, as well in Literature and the polite Arts, as in every Branch of useful Knowledge.

May your People long enjoy the Blessing of your Majesty's Reign; your Majesty every Blessing, public and domestic, that Providence can bestow; and may no Weight of your Royal Cares interfere with your Attention to the Preservation of that Life, which is so essential to the Happiness, the Prosperity and Glory of your Kingdoms!

We trust that a Society formed and associated for the express Purposes of promoting the Arts, Manufactures and the Commerce of this Country, may with becoming Propriety approach their beloved Sovereign, who has ever distinguished Himself as the Patron of every useful and ornamental Art, and under whose Auspices the Commerce of the British Empire now flourishes to an Extent which these Kingdoms never before experienced.

That the Divine Providence (to whose especial Interposition the Cause of our present Exultations is to be immediately ascribed) having restored your Majesty to your loyal and affectionate Subjects, (to their great Comfort and Happiness) may continue to your Majesty, your Royal Consort, and every Branch of your Illustrious House, that Blessing of Health; and may bestow on you every other Blessing of this Life: That your Majesty may long, very long, sway the Imperial Sceptre of these Kingdoms with accumulating Honor to yourself and increasing Happiness (if possible) to your Subjects; and that when, full of Years and Renown, your Majesty shall be called by Divine Providence to sustain a Crown of Glory in the other Life, your Temporal Crown of these Kingdoms may descend to your Majesty's Posterity in the Line of the Illustrious House of Brunswick till the latest Ages, is the sincere Wish and incessant and most ardent Prayer of your Majesty's very dutiful and loyal Subjects.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the High Sheriff and Grand Jury of the County of Somerset, assembled at the Assizes at Taunton, approach your Throne to pour before it the joyful Effusions of our Hearts on the happy Restoration of your Health.

It has pleased, Sire, the all-wise Disposer of Events to cast a temporary Shade over the Light of these Kingdoms, to evince in the most unequivocal Manner it's inestimable Value. Duly impressed with this Idea, and sensible of the Importance of your Majesty's Life to the Prosperity of the British Empire, we are impelled by every Motive of Duty and Inclination thus publicly to declare the high Satisfaction we feel in your Majesty's resuming the Reins of Government unimpaired, and we presume to think in some Degree preserved inviolate by the Exertions of those Ministers whose Measures have obtained the Confidence of your Subjects, and whose Conduct, on that trying Occasion, we doubt not equally meets your Royal Approbation.

Permit us, Gracious Sovereign, to join our most fervent Wishes and Prayers to those of our Fellow Subjects,

Subjects, that your Reign may be long and prosperous over a free, loyal and united People: And that, from the Wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, the Blessings of Civil Liberty and Public Peace (we so amply enjoy at present) may be extended to our latest Posterity.

"Could we be insensible of the Blessings we enjoy under your mild and auspicious Government, we must be incapable of Reflection; but to be sensible of them, and not to feel the most poignant Sorrow at the Apprehension of their Loss, and the most exulting Joy upon the Prospect of their Continuance, we must be destitute of the Feelings of a free People, and have abandoned the best Affections of human Nature.

May that all merciful Providence, to whom we offer the most fervent Tribute of Gratitude for your Majesty's Recovery, be graciously pleased to shower down upon you every public and private Blessing, and long continue you to reign a Pattern to your Subjects in the Practice of every domestic Virtue, and an Example to other Monarchs in the Exercise of your Authority as the Father of your People.

The following Addresses having been transmitted to the Earl of Ailebury, Lord Chamberlain of Her Majesty's Household, have been by him presented to the Queen: Which Addresses Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Dean and Chapter of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter, in the City of Westminster.

MADAM!

WE, your Majesty's most faithful and devoted Servants, the Dean and Chapter of the Collegiate Church of Westminster, feel ourselves inexpressibly happy in this much wished-for Occasion of congratulating relating your Majesty, that it hath pleased the Almighty to manifest His Mercy in withdrawing His assisting Hand from our most Gracious Sovereign, and restoring Him to the ardent Wishes and Prayers of your Majesty and His People.

To this National Blessing we have only to add, what all must devoutly wish, that your Majesty's many Virtues, so clear and manifest to every discerning Eye, may long prove a well-imitated Pattern for the Manners of the present Age, and be handed down to remote Futurity by your illustrious and amiable Descendants.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the President and Fellows of Sion College within the City of London.

MADAM!

WE, the President and Fellows of Sion College, beg Leave to join in the general Voice of Congratulation on the happy Return of His Majesty's Health, the late Interruption of which had filled us with inexpressible Concern.

We adore, with Sentiments of the sincerest Gratitude, the Divine Providence which hath heard our united Prayers, and dispersed the Cloud, which, while suspended over the Royal Mansion, could not but diffuse a Gloom throughout the whole Realm.

And yet, important as the Blessing bestowed is to the national Prosperity, permit us, Madam, to assure you, that we consider it as deriving a peculiar Value from it's intimate Connexion with the Happiness of our amiable Queen.

We could not behold Distress invading that Bosom, which ever felt for the Sufferings of the meanest Subject, without the most powerful Sympathy.

The conjugal Tenderness, the unremitting Attention to the Safety of our Sovereign, displayed by your Majesty during the awful Interval, demand the warmest Acknowledgments of a loyal Nation; While an unaffected Piety and Christian Fortitude on this and every other Occasion excite the Admiration and animate the Labours of those whose more immediate Province it is to promote the Interests of Religion and Morality.

They find it their Privilege and Encouragement that, in a licentious and dissipated Age, they can direct the Attention of their Fellow-Subjects to an illustrious Example of Moderation, amidst the greatest Confluence of earthly Felicity, of Resignation and Patience under the severest Trials, and of every private and domestic Virtue.

May your Majesty's Tranquillity continue henceforth undisturbed, till, at the latest Period of human Life, you shall be called to exchange a perishable for an unfading Crown!

WE, the President and Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians in London, humbly request Permission to approach your Majesty with our sincerest Professions of Duty and Joy on the happy Return of Health to our beloved Sovereign.

Our Solicitude, during a long and painful Suspence, was highly aggravated by our Sense of the Anxieties and Anguish endured by your Majesty, whose eminent and amiable Virtues, in every domestic Relation, were never exceeded, rarely equalled, in any Station of Life, and will become the Admiration of future Ages, as they are now an Ornament and an Example to the present.

Heaven, in this great Event, has seconded the Wishes of a whole Nation; and can only add to the Happiness bestowed on your Majesty by giving to it a lasting Continuance.
