Dublin-Castle, January 25, 1790.

SATURDAY last the Houses of Lords and Commons waited upon his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, with humble Addresses to be transmitted to His Majesty; and also with Addresses to his Excellency, which, with his Excellency's Answers, are as follow:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,
 The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, approach your Throne with the most grateful and zealous Attachment to your Majesty's Person, Family and Government, sensible of that Happiness which this Country, in common with the Rest of your Majesty's Dominions, enjoys in the Blessings of Peace, and in the inestimable Advantages of a free Constitution.

The increasing Riches and rising Credit of our Country will induce us to persevere in the Maintenance of good Order and Government, and of that System of Policy which has placed these desirable Objects upon a firm and steady Foundation. The Importance of Agriculture and the Linen Manufacture, so wisely pointed out to us from the Throne, will ensure our Encouragement to those beneficial Sources of Wealth and Population; and we will give the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools that Consideration, which the Interests of Religion and the good Education of Youth peculiarly demand.

We will earnestly apply ourselves to the improving and continuing such Laws as we find by Experience to be of National Benefit; and we return your Majesty our sincere and humble Thanks for your Majesty's Assurances, that such Measures, as contribute to that End, will meet with your most gracious Concurrence.

We most thankfully acknowledge your Majesty's Goodness in committing the Government of Ireland to the Earl of Westmorland, from whose Abilities, Integrity and Honor, we entertain the highest Expectations.

Convinced of your Majesty's benevolent and unceasing Regard to the Happiness of your Subjects of this Kingdom, we cannot repress our ardent Prayers, that your Majesty may continue in the Enjoyment of every Blessing, and that you may long reign over an affectionate and loyal People.

W. Watts Gayer, } Cler. Parliamentor.
Edw. Gayer,

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's Answer.

I Will immediately transmit this dutiful and loyal Address to be laid before His Majesty.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,
 The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes, in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland, in Parliament assembled, being fully sensible of the peculiar Benefits this Country enjoys under your mild and auspicious Government, in the Blessings of Peace, and the inestimable Advantages of our free Constitution, beg Leave to approach your Throne with the most dutiful Professions of grateful Loyalty and cordial Attachment to your Royal Person, Family and Government.

In reflecting upon the established Credit, increasing Industry, and rising Prosperity of our Country, we are filled with additional Incentives to maintain good Order, and permanently to uphold that wise System of Policy, which has been attended with such extensive and beneficial Consequences.

Your Majesty may rely upon your faithful Commons to make such Provisions as may be necessary for the honorable Support of your Majesty's Government, and the Exigencies of the Public Service.

The just Consideration of our Interests, which has been manifested in the Speech from the Throne, by directing our especial Attention to the Agriculture and Linen Manufacture, to the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools, and to the improving and continuing such Laws as Experience hath shewn to be of Public Benefit, demands our sincerest Acknowledgments; and we beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that that your faithful Commons, encouraged by your gracious Declarations to concur in whatever may promote these beneficial Ends, will apply themselves, with unremitting Zeal and Fidelity, to the speedy Discharge of the National Business, and to the Pursuit of those salutary Objects which your Majesty has been pleased to recommend to our Notice.

We cannot forbear to express our warmest Acknowledgments to your Majesty for the Appointment of a Chief Governor, from whose many and amiable Virtues we have every Reason to expect a just and prosperous Administration, and whose faithful Representations will ensure the Continuance of your Majesty's Confidence in an affectionate and loyal People.

Rob. Thoroton, Cler. Parl. Dom. Com.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's Answer.

I Will forthwith transmit this dutiful and loyal Address to be laid before His Majesty.

To his Excellency John Earl of Westmorland, Lord Lieutenant General and Governor of Ireland,

The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Excellency,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, request your Excellency to accept our warmest Thanks for your excellent Speech from the Throne. We sincerely congratulate your Excellency upon your Appointment to the Government of this Kingdom, at a Period when this Country, in common with the Rest of His Majesty's Dominions, securely enjoys the Blessings of Peace, and the inestimable Advantages of that free Constitution, which has been established by the Wisdom and Benevolence of His Majesty's Reign.

It is our Duty, as it is our Inclination, to improve the Advantages of this happy Situation, by the Maintenance of good Government, and by a steady Adherence to that wise System of Policy, which has so much promoted our Industry, Wealth and Prosperity.

We return our Thanks to your Excellency for so wisely recommending to our Notice the Agriculture and Linen Manufacture, the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools; and we will not fail to give to these most important Objects the Attention they so deservedly claim.

We are sensible of His Majesty's Goodness in committing the Government of this Kingdom to your Excellency's Care; and, with a just Reliance upon the Principles of Honor, Integrity and Ability, which distinguish your high Character, we are confident that your Administration will be conducted with Justice and Wisdom. And we assure your Excellency, that your Desire to advance the Welfare of Ireland will meet with a Disposition in us to promote to the utmost the Honor and Happiness of your Excellency's Government.

*W. Watts Gayer, }
Edw. Gayer, } Cler. Parliamentor.*

His Excellency's Answer.

I Request you to accept my sincere Thanks for this obliging Address. I shall endeavour to cultivate your good Opinion, and shall anxiously study the Means by which I may best promote the Happiness of Ireland.

To his Excellency John Earl of Westmorland, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgesses, in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Excellency,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament assembled, beg Leave to offer to your Excellency our cordial Thanks for your most excellent Speech from the Throne; and to congratulate your Excellency upon your Appointment to the Government of this Kingdom at a Time when we are in the full Enjoyment of the Blessings of Peace, and the inestimable Advantages of a free Constitution.

Your Excellency does Justice to our Sentiments in believing that our present happy Situation will induce us to persevere in the Maintenance of good Government, and adhere to that System of Policy which has firmly secured the Public Tranquillity, and has encreased the Wealth and Credit of the Nation.

We return your Excellency our Acknowledgments for ordering the Public Accounts to be laid before us, and shall cheerfully make such Provisions as the Interests of the State, and the Honor of His Majesty's Government may require.

While your Excellency is pleased to anticipate our Zeal for whatever may promote the Commerce and encourage the Industry of Ireland, we should ill requite your early Discernment of our peculiar Interests if we should not direct our especial Attention to the Agriculture and Linen Manufacture, to the Institutions of Charter and other Protestant Schools, and to the Maintenance and Improvement of those Laws, from which this Kingdom has already derived such material Advantages.

We are highly flattered by your Excellency's warm Professions of Zeal and Attention to promote our Happiness and Welfare; and from your Excellency's amiable Virtues and Integrity we entertain not the slightest Doubt of their genuine Sincerity. It will be our Wish, as it is our Duty, to co-operate with your Excellency in promoting these important Ends. Animated by the same Spirit, and united for the Attainment of the same Objects, the Honor of our Sovereign and the Happiness of His People, we shall study to secure your Excellency's Confidence, by forwarding such Measures as may contribute to the Credit of your Government and advance the Interests of Ireland.

Rob. Thoroton, Cler. Parl. Dom. Com.

His Excellency's Answer.

I Return you my sincere Thanks for this very cordial Address. The Zeal I feel for the Welfare of Ireland will always direct my Conduct to the best Means of obtaining and improving your Confidence.
