

jefty's Attention to the Happiness and Prosperity of your Kingdom, testified by the late Proclamation.

Truly sensible of the invaluable Blessings we enjoy, by the Favour of Divine Providence, under a well-regulated Government, and convinced that Freedom cannot be preserved but by a due Reverence to the Laws, we hold it our Duty to stand forward and avow our Abhorrence of every Measure that has any Tendency to affect our excellent Constitution; in Church or State, by raising groundless Jealousies and Discontents in the Minds of your faithful Subjects, and bringing into Contempt the wise and wholesome Provisions made at the Time of the Glorious Revolution.

The Veneration which that noble Fabric (raised by the Virtue, and cemented by the Blood of our Ancestors) inspired in us, is, we are now more than ever convinced, the prevailing Sentiment of your Majesty's Subjects, and so deeply engraven on our Hearts as to keep us ever vigilant in it's Protection against the insidious Attacks of it's false Friends, and the open Assaults of it's professed Enemies.

We beg Leave to assure your Majesty that we will exert our utmost Zeal and Ability in promoting the Object of your paternal Goodness, the Preservation of Public Order, and a just Regard for a System of Government, the peculiar Blessing of this, and the Envy of all surrounding Nations; and we most anxiously pray that your Majesty's Reign may be long extended over a loyal, happy, and free People.

Signed at the Request, and on the Behalf of the County Meeting,

Alex. Adair, Sheriff.

The following Address of the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Freeholders and other Inhabitants of the County Palatine of Chester has been presented to the King by the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bedchamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Freeholders and other Inhabitants of the County Palatine of Chester, beg Leave to offer our united Thanks for your Majesty's late most gracious Proclamation, which we consider as a further Instance of your Majesty's unceasing Attention to the true Welfare of these Kingdoms.

We have viewed with Concern the Efforts of a few misguided Individuals, to interrupt the Peace and Prosperity of this happy and flourishing Country, by the industrious Propagation of seditious Writings, tending to the Subversion of all good Order and Government.

We are sensible of the Blessings enjoyed under your Majesty's mild and auspicious Reign, and observe with a very peculiar Satisfaction the numerous and unanimous Addresses which your Majesty's Proclamation has called forth, as they prove beyond a Doubt that the Sentiments which we here offer to your Majesty must be considered as the prevailing Sentiments of the Nation.

Happy thus to coincide with the general Voice of the People; we feel ourselves bound, by the most important Motives, to preserve, to the utmost of our Powers, that Subordination so essential to the Happiness of every Individual, as well as of the Community at large, and to declare, in the fullest Manner, our most zealous Attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

The following Address of the Alderman, High Steward, Capital Burgeses and Free Burgeses of the Borough of Malmesbury has been presented to the King by Edmund Wilkins, Esq; High Steward, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bedchamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Alderman, High Steward, Capital Burgeses and Free Burgeses of the Borough of Malmesbury in the County of Wilts, being the whole Body Corporate in our Common Court assembled, impelled by a deep Sense of Gratitude and Respect for your Majesty, and firm Attachment to the unparalleled Constitution of our Government under your paternal Protection, presume to present this humble Address of our sincere Thanks for the recent Favor shewn us by your Royal Proclamation; a Pledge to your People of your continued Care and Attention to the Preservation and Security of their just Rights and Liberties, founded in equal, mild and adequate Laws; prohibiting the late wicked and seditious Publications, and restraining the sinister and insidious Attempts, which we have seen with Concern and Contempt, to excite Tumult and Disorder, and Discontent in the Minds of your well-disposed Subjects, so evidently aimed at the Subversion and Destruction of the same; the Shield of our internal Safety, Peace and Happiness.

We assure your Majesty of our unalienable Fidelity and Affection for your Royal Person and Family; and, as a Testimony of it, will most religiously and cheerfully obey the Commands in your Royal and gracious Proclamation; and by every Example and Precept endeavour to promote good Order, and keep quiet the Minds of your faithful People, in Confidence of their happy State within our Jurisdiction.

Signed with our Names, and sealed with the Arms of our Borough, the 23d Day of July, 1792.

The following Address of the Mayor, Capital Burgeses, and others, of the Borough, Town, and Vicinage of Westbury, has been presented to the King by Lord Abingdon, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bedchamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble and dutiful Address of the Mayor, Capital Burgeses, and others of the Borough, Town, and Vicinage of Westbury, in the County of Wilts.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most faithful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Capital Burgeses, Gentlemen, Manufacturers, Principal Traders, and others of the Borough, Town, and Vicinage of Westbury, ever fully sensible of the Blessings derived to us from the Constitution and Government under which we live, but more especially so in the present Moment, when the Anarchy and Distractions of other Countries serve but in the same Degree to enhance the Value of our own enviable Situation: We say, under such Circumstances, we cannot but admire, and, in admiring, exult in the Wisdom of your Majesty's late Proclamation, the Object and End of which being, to a happy, and it is to be hoped to a now united People, the Maintenance and Preservation of that Constitution and Government, as it is, both in Church and State, equally secure from the Dangers of foreign Disturbance as from the more internal Mischiefs of chimerical Innovation.

And
