

Francfort, Octob. 29. From Strasburg we understand, that notwithstanding the season, and that the French have quitted the Forts of the Bridge, the apprehensions of a Siege are very great there, or at least of their being blocked up this Winter, which would reduce them to great necessities; In case of the first, the Duke of Lorraine has assured them he will hazard all to relieve them, and to that end is come with the Imperial Army to Offenburg, having sent several Regiments to secure the passages of Suabia, where the French say they will go seek their Winter-quarters, and to that end have laid a Bridge over the Rhine below Brisac. The Affairs of Hungary are but in an ill posture, the Rebels upon their late successes increasing in strength as well as in their insolences, and being encouraged to new enterprizes; and according to our last Advices they had taken several places, called the Berg Towns, which are the more important, because of the Mines that are there, which are now fallen into the hands of the Rebels.

Cologne, Octob. 28. The Duke of Luxemburg decamped some days since from his quarters at Wyffweiler, and is returned towards the Meuse, as is believed to enlarge his quarters, the Town of Fuliers remaining in the mean time blocked up. The 26th instant the Bishop of Osnabrug arrived at Smarts-Ryndorp, right over against Bonne, where he took a review of his Troops, and is expected this day at Mulbeim, half a League from hence. The Marquis de Grana lies very ill here of a Fever.

Ditto, Nov. 1. The Baron de Landsee, the Imperial Minister, having been here some dayes, to oblige these Magistrates not to give the French a passage over the Rhine, is returned to Mentz. On Wednesday last the French possessed themselves of Bruggen, Dolcken, Greuenbracke, and Glabbach, in the Countrey of Fuliers; upon which the Brandenburg Troops, under the command of Lieutenant General Spaen, passed the Rhine the next day at Orsaw, and are marched into the Countrey of Elsen, so that the lower Diocesis of Cologne is now quite freed of the Confederate Troops, who have lived upon those Inhabitants for these 3 or 4 weeks past.

Maeftrecht, Nov. 2. The day is fixed for the evacuation of this place, which is to be the 6th instant, and the Dutch Troops that are to come hither, lie ready. The French Troops quartered in the Countreys of Fuliers and Liege, have Orders to live wholly upon the Inhabitants, who will be thus entirely ruined. At this moment we have Advice, that the Germans have surprized the Village of Sennick, in the Countrey of Fuliers, and put all the French that were quartered there to the Sword, without giving quarter to one.

Brussels, Nov. 1. By the Extraordinary Courier arrived since our last from Spain, we are assured, that the King had given Orders for the dispatching the Ratifications, and that they would follow this Courier in few dayes, who brings the Order of the Golden Fleece to his Excellency, and to the Duke d' Aersbott Governor of Hainault. The Count de Rafsch, our Maître de Camp General, is made, in consideration of his great service in the Battel of Sz. Denys, Prince de Rafsch. Prince Vaudemon, upon the same account, is made Gentleman of the Kings Bedchamber in Ordinary, and Don Francisco Marcos de Velasco, General of the Artillery, is made one of the great Council of War at Madrid, and Monsieur de Louigny has a Pension of 3000 Crowns. All things are disposing on this side for the putting the Troops into Winter-quarters. The Duke of Luxemburg is at Herac in the Countrey of Liege, and they tell us that the detachment of 10000 men, which marched towards Dinant, is gone back towards Fuliers, to take their Winter-quarters there. Last night arrived here an Express from Nimeguen, with an account of Straelsfond's being surrendered to the Elector of Brandenburg; from whence we are likewise told, that not only the Electors of Ments and Trier, and the Duke of Neuburg, have desired to be comprehended in the late Treaty between France and Holland, but that the Duke of Lorraine hath likewise by his Minister at Nimeguen, declared his acceptance of the conditions proposed by France in April last, with relation to him.

Ditto, Nov. 4. People here are much troubled, that the Ratifications tarry thus long, considering the great charge this Countrey lies under, through the Contributions they will pay to the French, who being besides displeas'd at this delay, have quartered 200 Troops of Horse in the several Castellaries of Acib, Audena d, Courtray, Gaun, and in the Countrey of Al B, by which means those Territories, which by the Treaty are to be restored to Spain, will be entirely ruined, the charge upon the Inhabitants amounting to 100000 Florins a day. His Excellency hath convened the States of Babans, of whom he demands a Million and 800 Florins. The Mortality is so great at Autwerp, and the Infection so catching, that hardly a House escapes, for which reason the Magistrates of Molines and Louvain, have prohibited all Commerce with that City, and it's believed, others will follow their example. Monsieur Dichvelt, one of the Ambassadors designed from the States to the French Court, expects a Courier this night from the Hague, with Orders to begin his journey alone. From Liege of the 2d instant they tell us, that the Duke of Luxemburg is still at Herac, that he had sent a detachment of 5000 Horse towards the Countrey of Cleves, and that the Brandenburg Troops were thereupon retired in great diligence from Kempen, leaving that side of the Dutchy of Cleves open. That the French have put 1000 men into Vifet, and have laid a Bridge over the Meuse there. That Maeftrecht is to be certainly evacuated on the 6th instant, the French being to march out at the Clogue Gate, and the Dutch to enter at the Bussels Gate. From Strasburg of the 28th they write, that the Marschal de Crequi was come nearer with his Army, that the French had taken two Posts, kept by the Imperialists for the guarding their passage over the Rhine, but that they had afterwards quitted them, as also the Forts of the Bridge, after having demolished them.

Paris, Nov. 8. The Letters from the Marschal de Crequi's Army give an account, that the Marquis de Ruvigny was to be the 3d instant at Crown-Weiffembourg, to meet there with the Deputie of the Duke of Lorraine, to treat a Suspension of Arms. That the Army was advanced as far as Schlstadt, where it would continue a day or two, and then go into Winter-quarters. From Flanders we are told, that the Count de Maulverier Colbers commands a Body of an Army between the Sambre and the Meuse. It is not doubted but the Court of Spain will ratifie the Treaty lately concluded at Nimeguen, and it is much wondred the Ratifications stay so long.
