Whitehall, July 13.

THIS Morning one of His Majesty's Messengers arrived with a Dispatch from Colonel Sir James Murray, Bart. Adjutant-General to the Forces under the Command of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, to the Right Honourable Henry Dundas, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, of which the following is a Copy.

S I R, Streux, July 10, 1793.

I HAVE the Honour to acquaint you, that the Governor of Condé has this Day consented to surrender that Place to the Imperial Forces under the Command of the Prince of Wirtemberg, by whom it has been blockaded for some Time past.

The Austrian Troops are to be put in immediate Possession of the detached Works, and of one of the Gates of the Town, (that leading to Tournai.) The Garrison is to surrender as Prisoners of War, and to march out upon the 13th. The other Articles of the Capitulation are not yet arranged.

This is a Conquest of the utmost Importance; Condé being one of the strongest Places of this Frontier, requiring but a small Garrison for its Defence, commanding the Navigation of the Scheldt, and facilitating any future Operation.

I have the Honour to be, with the greatest Respect,

S I R,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

Ja. Murray.

Right Hon. Henry Dundas.

Whitehall, July 13.

The Empress of Russia published an Edict at St. Petersburg, on the 8th of April last, prohibiting all Trade and Intercourse with France; and also prohibiting the Importation into the Russian Empire of any French Merchandize, either in Russian or Foreign Shipping, or by Land. The Edict also contains a general Prohibition of the Importation of a considerable Number of Articles from any Foreign Country.
