Whitehall, April 22.

CAPTAIN Clinton, Aide de Camp to His Royal Highness the Duke of York, arrived this Morning at the Office of the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, with a Dispatch from His Royal Highness, of which the following is a Copy.

Cateau, April 18, 1794.

S I R,

IT is with the greatest Satisfaction that I have the Pleasure to acquaint you, for His Majesty's Information, with the signal Success which has attended the general Attack made Yesterday by the Armies of the Combined Powers.

According to the Plan proposed, the Austrian, British and Dutch Armies assembled on the 16th on the Heights above Cateau, in order to be reviewed by His Imperial Majesty; after which the Austrian and British Armies passed the Selles, and encamped in Front of this Town, while the Dutch formed their Camp immediately in it's Rear.

At Nine o'Clock on Yesterday Morning the Three Armies moved forwards in Eight Columns. The First Column, composed of Austrian and Dutch Troops, under the Command of Prince Christian of Hesse Darmstadt, advanced upon the Village of Cattillon, which was forced after some Resistance, in which the Enemy lost Four Pieces of Cannon, and from thence proceeded across the Sambre, and took a Position at Favril, between the Sambre and the Petite Helpe, so as to invest Landrecies on that Side.

The Second Column, commanded by Lieutenant-General Alvincze, and consisting of the Reserve of the Austrian Army, moved forwards upon Mazinguer, and having forced the Enemy's Entrenchment at that Place, as well as at Oisy, proceeded to Nouvion; and took Possession this Morning of the whole Wood called the Forest of Nouvion.

The Third Column, which consisted of the Main Body of the Austrian Army, and with which His Imperial Majesty and the Prince of Cobourg went themselves, proceeded along the high Road leading from Cateau to Guise, and, after carrying the Two Villages of Ribouville and of Wassigny, where the Enemy were strongly entrenched, detached the Advanced Guard forwards, which took Possession of the Heights called the Grand and Petit Blocus, and pushed forward this Morning as far as Henappes.

The Fourth and Fifth Columns were formed of the Army under my Command. Of the First of these I took the Direction, having Lieutenant-General Otto under me. Lieutenant-General Sir William Erskine commanded the other Column.

My Column was intended to attack the Redoubts and Village of Vaux, as well as to render itself Master, if possible, of the Wood called the Bois de Bohain, which the Enemy had strongly entrenched.

In consequence of the very great Defiles and Ravines, which we found on our March, my Column was not able to arrive at the Point of Attack till One o'Clock in the Afternoon.

As soon as the Cavalry of the Advanced Guard appeared upon the Heights the Enemy began a very severe Cannonade, from the Effects of which, although very near, they however were enabled, in a great Measure, to cover themselves by the natural Inequalities of the Ground.

Having

[Price Eight-pence.]

Having examined the Enemy's Position, and finding it very strong, I determined to endeavour to turn it by their Right, and for this Purpose ordered the Whole of the Column to move forwards, under Cover of the high Ground, leaving only a sufficient Quantity of Cavalry upon the Heights to occupy the Enemy's Attention. Strong Batteries likewise were formed, which kept up a severe Fire, and protected the Movements very considerably.

As soon as the Troops had gained sufficiently the Enemy's Flank, the Advanced Guard, under the Command of Major-General Abercromby, was directed to begin the Attack, and Two Companies of the Light Corps of Odonnel, supported by the Two Grenadier Companies of the First Regiment of Guards under the Command of Colonel Stanhope, stormed and took the Star Redoubt, above the Village of Vaux, while the Three Battalions of Austrian Grenadiers, led on by Major-General Petrash, attacked the Wood, and made themselves Masters of the Works which the Enemy had constructed for its Defence.

The Enemy's Fire at first was very severe, but when the Troops approached they began to retreat on all Sides, and were soon put to Flight. I immediately detached a Part of the Cavalry, consisting of Hussars, and One Squadron of the 16th Regiment of Light Dragoons, commanded by Major Lippert of the former Corps, round the Wood to the Right, who completely succeeded in cutting them off, took Four Pieces of Cannon and a Howitzer, with a considerable Loss of Men on the Part of the Enemy; whilst the Cavalry of the Advanced Guard on our Left, under the Command of Colonel Devay of the Regiment of Arch-Duke Ferdinand's Hussars, pursued them through the Wood, and drove them into the Village of Bohain, which they evacuated immediately.

Sir William Erskine was equally successful with his Column, which was intended, by the Villages of Marts and Prémont, to turn the Wood of Bohain, in order to facilitate my Attack. He met with no Resistance till he arrived at the Village of Prémont, where he found the Enemy strongly posted; he immediately formed his Line, and having detached the Brigade of British Infantry and the Austrian Regiment of Cuirassiers of Zetchwitz, with Four Squadrons of British Light Dragoons, under the Command of Lieutenant-General Harcourt, in order to turn the Position, he attacked it in Front with Three Battalions of the Regiment of Kaunitz, supported by a well-directed Fire of the Austrian and British Artillery of the Reserve, under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Congreve, and succeeded completely in driving the Enemy from the Redoubts, where he took Two Pieces of Cannon and a Pair of Colours: He from thence proceeded to turn the Wood with a Part of the Corps, leaving the rest upon the Position at Prémont.

The Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Columns were intended to observe the Enemy on the Side of Cambray, the First of these composed of Austrians, and commanded by Major-General Count Haddick, pushed forwards as far as the Village of Crevecoeur, and detached some Light Troops across the Scheldt, without meeting with any Resistance.

The Seventh Column, consisting of Austrians and Dutch, under the Hereditary Prince of Orange, moved forwards upon the high Road leading from Cateau to Cambray, and advanced beyond Beauvois with the Eighth Column, composed chiefly of Dutch Troops, commanded by Major-General Geysau, covered the Hereditary Prince of Orange's Right Flank, and moved forwards in Front of St. Hilaire. Neither of these last Columns were in the least engaged; but this Morning the Enemy attacked the Prince of Orange's Advanced Guard, who repulsed them with great Ease.

The signal Success which has attended these extensive and complicated Operations has determined His Imperial Majesty to begin immediately the Siege of Landrecies; and therefore the Hereditary Prince of Orange, who will have the Direction of the Siege, has moved this Evening with the greatest Part of his Camp from Beauvois, and taken a Position so as to complete the Investiture of that Fortress; while His Imperial Majesty, with the Grand Army, covers the Operations of the Siege on the Side of Guise, and that under my immediate Command does the same towards Cambray.

What adds greatly to the general Satisfaction upon this Occasion is, the inconsiderable Loss which the Combined Armies have sustained, whilst that of the Enemy has been very great. The British, in particular, have been peculiarly fortunate. The Honorable Captain Carleton, of the Royals, a young Officer of promising Merit, is the only one we have to regret; nor has any one Officer been wounded: Of Privates we had Three killed and Six wounded.

The Enemy has lost in these various Attacks upwards of Thirty Pieces of Cannon, of which Nine were taken by the Column under my Command, besides the Two which were taken by Lieutenant-General Sir William Erskine.

I have equal Satisfaction in reporting, from my own Observation, and the Account I have received from Sir William Erskine, the Spirit and good Conduct of all the Officers and Men under my Command; but I have particular Obligations to Lieutenant-Generals Sir William Erskine and Otto, as well as to Major-General Abercromby, who commanded the Advanced Guard of my Column, to Colonel Devay, Major Lippert of the Austrian Hussars, and to Lieutenant tenant-Colonel Count Merfeldt of the Austrian Etat Major.

I cannot help likewise mentioning the good Conduct and Bravery of Lieutenant Fage of the British Artillery, who distinguished himself very much by the Skill and Activity with which he directed one of the Batteries.

This Dispatch will be delivered by my Aide de Camp, Captain Clinton, whom I beg Leave to recommend to His Majesty, his Conduct upon every Occasion having merited my fullest Approbation.

I am, S I R,

Your's,

F R E D E R I C K.
