Horse Guards, November 15.

A Dispatch, of which the following is a Copy, has been received from His Royal Highness the Duke of York by the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Head Quarters at Arnhem, November 7, 1794.

S I R,

ON Tuesday Afternoon, as the Enemy had began to construct their Batteries, Count Walmoden made a Sortie, with a Party of the Troops, in Nimeguen, consisting of the 8th, 27th, 28th, 55th, 63d, and 78th Regiments of British Infantry, under the Command of Major-General De Burgh, and Two Battalions of Dutch, supported by the 7th and 15th British Light Dragoons, the Hanoverian Horse-Guards, One Squadron of the 2d Regiment of Hanoverian Horse, One Squadron of the 5th Regiment of Hanoverian Dragoons, One Squadron of the 10th Hanoverian Light Dragoons, and the Legion de Damas, in the Dutch Service.

This Sortie had every Success which could be expected from it. The Troops advanced to the Enemy's Trenches under a very severe Fire, and jumped into them without returning a Shot.

The Loss of the Enemy was almost entirely by the Bayonet, and amounted to above Five Hundred Men; that of the British and Hanoverians will be seen by the enclosed Return.

I am persuaded that the Gallantry of the Troops upon this Occasion will merit His Majesty's Approbation.

Count Walmoden speaks in the highest Terms of the Conduct of Major-General De Burgh, whose Wound, I am happy to find, is very slight.

This Sortie had the Effect of checking the Enemy's Operations till Yesterday Morning, when they opened Two Batteries upon the Bridge and One upon the Town. The Effect of the former, which very easily sunk One of the Boats, determined me to withdraw every Thing from the Troops posted in the Town, beyond what is barely necessary for it's Defence; and Lieutenant Popham of the Navy having repaired the Damage done to the Bridge, all the Artillery of the Reserve, with the British, Hanoverian and Hessian Battalions, marched out last Night, without any Inconvenience, leaving Pickets, under the Command of Major-General De Burgh, to the Amount of Twenty-five Hundred Men; which, with the Dutch Forces, has been judged sufficient to maintain the Place till the the Certainty of the Austrian Movements can be determined.

I am, S I R,

Your's,

F R E D E R I C K.
