Genoua, January 4.

THE Diamond, Genoua Marchant, and Edward, who were ſeen near a Fortnight ſince on theſe Coaſts, bound for this place, are not yet arrived, which makes it believed that they are either blown for Leghorne, or that they are put into the Iſles of Eres, or into Santa Margarita; as we hear that the Marguarite is put into Villa Franca. We are now daily expecting the Newfoundland Convoy from Cadiz, and the Diamond Frigat with other Ships from Lisbon.

Coningſberg, Jan. 6. Two days ſince we received a reinforcement of three Regiments, two of Foot and one of Dragoons, who are to remain here for the defence of this City; and we are aſſured that the Elector of Brandenburg with 7 Regiments and a train of 56 pieces of Canon is on his March, and will be in Pruſſia the 18th of this Month. The Suedes have taken the Town and Caſtle of Inſterburg, which latter was ſurrendred to them by accord, they found there 4000 ſacks of Corn, and having put a very good Garriſon into it, their Army advances towards Wellaw, which is but five Miles from hence, and is guarded by ſome of General Gotski's Troops. The Suedes have likewiſe put good Gariſons into Ragnitz and Tilſe, and expect, as is ſaid a conjunction of thoſe Troops that were raiſed by the Marquis de Bethune.

Ditto, Jan. 10. This morning we receive advice, that the Suedes Army is come to Bojaten, which is not above four Miles from hence; our Troops that were at Wellaw having plundered, and then abandoned the place. What the Enemies farther deſign is we know not certainly, but it is ſaid that they have reſolved to continue their March towards Thalsberg, to facilitate the conjunction of the Forces raiſed by the French Ambaſſador in Poland. From Dantzick they write, that the King of Poland at the deſire of the Nobility of the Regal Pruſſia, who are alarmed at the near approach of the Suedes Army, had iſſued a Summons for them to appear in Arms, and to aſſemble at ſome convenient place of rendezvous.

Vienna, Jan. 8. It is ſaid at Court that a Spaniſh Envoy will be here in few days, to acquaint the Emperor with the King of Spains having Ratified the Treaty of Peace concluded between him and France, and to repreſent ſeveral other matters relating to the preſent conjuncture of affairs to his Majeſty. A full Power, it's ſaid, is ſent to the Imperial Ambaſſadors at Nimeguen to conclude the Peace, upon ſuch conditions as they ſhall think fit, which is very extraordinary, and conſequently a great argument of the Emperors deſiring a Peace. We have not any freſh account of the affairs of Hungary, though there are thoſe that pretend to tell us, that the conditions, which the Deputy of the Male-contents, who was here, was charged with, are not very well reliſhed by his Principals, as coming ſhort of what they had promiſed themſelves. About the middle of the next Month the ſaid Deputy is expected here again, with an anſwer from his Principals, and then we ſhall certainly know, how things ſtand there.

Trier, Jan. 6. The firſt inſtant 200 French Foot paſſed the Moſel at Urzigh, and fell unexpectly upon ſome of our Troops that were quartered thereabouts, who were forced to abandon their Quarters, and leave the French at liberty to make a great booty of Horſes, Cattle, &c. Two days ſince we heard for two hours together very great ſhooting of Canon, of which we as yet know not the occaſion, but we believe the French having got together in a body attacked the Caſtle of Loire, though it is to be wondred we ſhould be ſo long without an account of it.

Straſburg, Jan. 13. The French are hard at work to make a very large way from Slechſtadt to Briſac; and that they may prejudice this City, they are endeavouring to turn the Courſe of the River Ill, which paſſes through this City, by letting it into the Rhine near Ehrſtein. For the reſt we are at preſent very quiet in theſe Quarters, and hope we ſhall continue ſo, ſeeing the likelihood of a ſudden peace is ſo great as they write from Francfort and Cologne it is; The news whenever it comes will be very welcome.

Cologne, Jan. 17. In our laſt we gave you an account that our Deputies were returned from Dueren, where they had been with a Complement to the Sieur Calvo, and that they had brought with them certain propoſals for a Neutrality, which, as we are ſince informed are, That this City ſhall give the French Troops a free paſſage through it, whenever they have occaſion to deſire it, and that beſides they ſhall pay the Sieur Calvo 130000 Crowns, who in lieu thereof will grant Us a Neutrality; but theſe are conditions, that none, how deſirous ſoever they are of preſerving the peace and quiet of this City under the ſhelter of a Neutrality, will conſent to, for beſides that the granting of paſſage through the City to the French Troops, is contrary to a Neutrality, which ought to be obſerved impartially between the Warring Parties, we have not here that confidence in the French, as to truſt them within our Gates, and it ſeems they themſelves do not expect that theſe propoſals ſhould have any effect, ſeeing they are working to lay a Bridge over the Rhine below Nuis, and ſo will have no need of the paſſage here. They have put a great Garriſon into Nuis; and at Duſeldorp the apprehentions of a Siege are ſo great, that many people are removing from thence. The Sieur de Louvigny lies with the Troops under his command near Bonne, for the ſecurity of that place.

Liege, Jan. 17. We have had a report here for theſe two or three days, that the French Troops, that are to be drawn out of the places now going to be delivered up to the Spaniards, are ordered to come down this way, which we here the more concern our selves at, because the 50000 Crowns which we promised the Sieur Calvo, in lieu of certain Contributions and Quarters, are not yet paid. From the Rhine we hear that the French are laying a Bridge over that River, that they have put 20 Companies of Foot into Huis, and that the Sieur Calvo has offered the City of Cologne a Neutralty, but upon such conditions, as those Magistrates will never consent to.

Amsterdam, Jan. 20. Some Gentlemen that came hither this morning from Nimeguen, seem very confident, that the Peace between the Emperor and France, will be concluded before the end of this Month, for that the main difficulties that might have hindred it, were taken out of the way; They add, that it's very probable the Peace between the Emperor and Sueden may be concluded at the same time.

Hague, Jan. 20. Great complaints being daily brought to the States by the Merchants of these Countries, that their Ships, under divers pretences, are taken and seized as well by the Suedes as Danes Men of War, they have resolved to write to those two Kings, to demand reparation for the injuries their Subjects have received, and to let them know, that if that be denied them, they shall be forced to right them themselves. The Deputies of the State are returned to Frizeland, with orders to remain at Leeuwaerden till the States of that Province assemble, for that the matter, which is at present contested by that Province, against the sence of the generality, appears to be of that importance, that it is by no means to be left undetermined, and therefore the States General are extream zealous in the thing. Two days since arrived here an Express from France, with Letters to the States from their Ambassadors at that Court, upon which an Express was likewise sent to the Prince of Orange, who we told you in our last, was gone for Gelderland. Here is arrived the Heer Meynders, from the Elector of Brandenburg, he has not had any publick Audience of the State, but only conferences with the Ministers. The 17th instant the French Ambassador Monsieur d' Avaux, and the Sieur Mayerkroon Envoy Extraordinary of the King of Denmark, had a long conference together at the House of the Marquis de Monpouillan, which has given occasion to believe that the peace of the North is not far off.

Ditto. The Letters we received yesterday from Flanders brought us the welcome News, that Aeth was Evacuated the 17th instant and delivered up to the Baron de Feu, by the Marquis de Nancre who marched out at the head of the Garison; they add, that the Duke de Villa Hermosa had received Bills of Exchange for a very considerable sum of Money from Spain, and that the English Troops had received orders to return home. The Negotiation between the Imperialists and French at Nimeguen has advanced very little since our last, for as we then told you, the Imperialists had agreed to the Articles concerning the Emperors not assisting the Northern Allies, and the French retaining several places in the Country of Liege, &c. till the Peace of the North be made, in return of which they expected some moderation in the conditions which concern the Duke of Lorrain, but the French have answered that their orders are positive in the point and that they cannot recede from one tittle that is insisted on by them with relation to that Duke.
