

from that happy Form of Government under which we live, we feel ourselves deeply interested in the Safety of your Majesty, and consider every Attempt to insult your Person and endanger your Life as tending to the Subversion of our most excellent Constitution, and therefore exciting our strongest Abhorrence. These, we are happy to think, are the Sentiments of the great Body of the People committed to our Charge, whom it shall be our continued Endeavour to instruct in the great Principles of Religion, as contributing most effectually to their own present and future Happiness, and their quiet and peaceable Subjection to civil Authority.

Signed at Lanark the 25th Day of November, 1795 Years, in our Presence and by our Appointment, by William Menzies, Moderator.

[Transmitted by Sir James Stewart.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Presbytery of Hamilton, the 24th Day of November, 1795 Years.

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Hamilton, beg Leave humbly to express our sincere Attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and the grateful Sense which we entertain of the many great religious and civil Blessings which we enjoy under your righteous Administration.

With the deepest Sorrow and Repentment we have learnt that by an outrageous Mob, blind to the Advantages of good Government, and impelled by their own wicked Passions, your Majesty, in opening the present Session of Parliament, was grossly insulted, and your Life put in the most imminent Danger. We trust that, as well for the Safety of your Majesty's Person as for the Stability of our happy Constitution, the Wisdom of Parliament and the Vigour of your Executive Government will take effectual Measures to bring such daring Offenders to Justice.

That the Almighty may give his Angels Charge over your Majesty to keep you from the Hands of wicked Men, that He may make your Reign long and prosperous, and when you are full of Years and Honour you may be rewarded with a Crown of Glory in the Kingdom of Heaven, are Blessings for which we continually pray.

Subscribed, in Presence and Appointment of the Presbytery, by John Bowser, Moderator.

[Transmitted by his Grace the Duke of Hamilton.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Presbytery of Dunfermline.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most faithful Subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Dunfermline, met here this Day, beg Leave to approach your Throne with Sentiments of the most dutiful Respect, and to congratulate your Majesty on your happy Escape from the Dangers to which your sacred Person was lately exposed by the Violence of licentious and unprincipled Men.

Highly sensible of the Blessings which we enjoy under your Majesty's mild and equitable Government, and impressed with a due Regard for our excellent Constitution, we cannot but express our utter Abhorrence of the unprovoked and daring Outrages which on that Occasion were offered to your Majesty's Person and Authority.

That Almighty God may continue to watch over your Majesty's Person and Government, and that the Blessings of the British Constitution may be transmitted in the Line of your Majesty's Posterity to latest Ages, is the earnest Prayer of,

May it please your Majesty,
Your Majesty's most dutiful, faithful and loyal Subjects,

The Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Dunfermline.

Signed in our Name, Presence, and by our Appointment. William Forfar, Moderator.

[Transmitted by Colonel Wemyss.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Right Honourable and Most Worshipful William Earl of Ancram, Grand Master Mason of Scotland; Francis Lord Viscount Doune, Depute Grand Master; Thomas Hay, Esq; Substitute Grand Master; Sir James Foulis, of Colinton, Bart. and Andrew Houston, Esq; of Jordan-Hill, Grand Wardens; with the Brethren, in Grand Lodge assembled, on the Anniversary of St. Andrew.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful Subjects, the Grand Lodge of Scotland, humbly request Permission to approach your Majesty with the most sincere Expressions of that Attachment and Loyalty for which our ancient and respectable Order has ever been distinguished.

Your Majesty's late Deliverance from the Hands of wicked and sanguinary Men, while it recalls to us the Recollection of your Majesty's Virtues, impresses us with Gratitude to that providential Care which, by watching over your Majesty's Life, has averted the most alarming Calamities from your People.

We have on this Occasion witnessed the Interposition of Heaven for the Safety of your Royal Person; that it may never cease to extend it's Guardian Protection to your Majesty and to your illustrious House, is our united Prayer.

Signed by Appointment, and in our Presence, when in Grand Lodge assembled, this 13th Day of November, 1795.

ANCRAM, G. M. S.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Society of Solicitors of the Supreme Courts in Scotland.

May it please your Majesty,

IMPREESSED with a deep Sense of the inestimable Blessings which the Nation enjoys under our free and happy Constitution, and feeling in common with all your Majesty's loyal Subjects the warmest Attachment to your Person and Government, we the Society of Solicitors of the Supreme Courts in Scotland cannot view without Detestation and Abhorrence the flagitious Oubrage offered to the sacred Person of your Majesty.

That your Life has providentially been preserved from it is an Event which every real Friend to the Welfare of Great Britain considers with

Thankfulness