Downing-Street, September 22, 1796.

DISPATCHES, of which the following are Copies, have been received from Captain Anstruther by the Right Honorable Lord Grenville, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Head Quarters of His Royal Highness the Archduke Charles, Windecken, September 10, 1796.

MR. LORD,

I Have the Satisfaction of informing your Lordship, that the Progress of the Austrian Arms continues to be marked by brilliant and uninterrupted Success.

His Royal Highness the Archduke having quitted his Camp near Wurtzburg on the 5th, pushed on a strong Advanced Guard, under the Command of Lieutenant-General Kray, to secure the De Bouche of the Speart. That Officer arriving in the Neighbourhood of Aschaffembourg in the Afternoon of the 6th, found the Enemy, to the Number of Two Thousand Men, posted so as to dispute the Pass from the Forest. After a severe Cannonade, which lasted a considerable Time, he attacked them with much Spirit, drove them from their advantageous Position, and his Cavalry, pursuing them without Hesitation through the Town, dispersed them in the Woods on the other Side of the Meyn. The Loss of the Enemy on this Occasion amounts to above a Thousand Men, of whom Six Hundred are Prisoners.

The Archduke advanced on the 7th to Aschaffembourg, where the Main Body halted on the 8th; but Intelligence being received that the Enemy had abandoned Frankfort the preceding Night, the Advanced Guards were pushed on successively to the Kintzig and the Nidda.

On the 9th His Royal Highness marched to Dettingen, and on the 10th to Windecken; the Advanced Corps occupying the important Point of Friedberg.

Ten Thousand Men, drawn from the Garrison of Mayence, have advanced towards Kenigstein, (which was abandoned by the Enemy on the 8th) and will be a very essential Reinforcement of Infantry to the Army.

The Consequences of these rapid and decisive Movements have exceeded the Expectations of the most sanguine, and have uniformly frustrated the Designs and Efforts of the Enemy.

Jourdan, who after the Action of the 3d, had directed his Retreat on to Fulda, was still in Hopes of gaining before the Archduke the strong Position of Bergen, where, reinforced by the Two Divisions which had been left behind in the Neighbourhood of Frankfort, he might have checked for a Time the Progress of the Austrians. In this View he arrived by forced Marches at Schluittern, on the great Road from Fulda to Hanau, in the Evening of the 6th; but finding that the Duke was already Master of Aschaffembourg, he gave up his Attempt, and, turning to the Right, directed his March across the Vogeltberg towards Wetzlar, where, it is reported, he is endeavouring to assemble his Army.

From Information of the most authentic Nature, relative to the present Situation of the French Troops, I can venture to assure your Lordship, that they are in a State of the utmost Confusion and Despondency. A great Part of the Infantry have thrown away their Arms, and are almost naked. Their Retreat has lost all Semblance of Order, and has become a tumultuous Flight. Excessive Fatigue has probably destroyed more of them than the Sword; and the continual Dread they entertain of a general Rising of the Peasantry in the Countries they traverse has spread a Panic among them, which renders them deaf to the Commands of their Officers. The Loss which Jourdan has sustained since he advanced from the Lahn may be estimated, without Exaggeration, at Twenty Thousand Men; a Number which must be daily increased by Desertion, in the present State of his Army.

The Conduct of the French, during their Abode in this Country, has exhibited a Scene of Depravity, which is degrading to Human Nature. Robbery and Peculation have been universal in every Rank and in every Department of the Army.

Every Species of Violence has been exercised on the Persons as well as on the Properties of Individuals. Many Villages have been reduced to Ashes, without the Existence of even a Pretext for this Act of Barbarity; and the Countries, through which their Army has passed, exhibit every where a Spectacle of the utmost Desolation and Distress.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

R. ANSTRUTHER,

Captain 3d Guards.

Head Quarters of His Royal Highness the Archduke Charles, Windecken, September 11, 1796.

MY LORD,

BY Reports received from General La Tour it appears, that on the 1st and 2d Instant Moreau attempted, with his Right Wing, to make himself

Master of the Bridge on the Yser at Munich. After a very obstinate Combat, which lasted the whole of both Days, he was repulsed by the Prince of Fustenberg with considerable Loss.

General La Tour, in the mean Time, having formed a Junction with the Corps of General Nauendorf, attacked, on the 2d, the Left Wing of the Enemy, and drove it before him the Space of Six Leagues. In the Neighbourhood of Langenbruche, however, the Enemy having received considerable Reinforcements, posted himself so advantageously, that General La Tour, after several fruitless Attempts to dislodge him, judged it expedient to retire to his original Post behind the Yser; having, however, succeeded in the Object of his Operation, which was to weaken the Enemy's Attack on the Prince of Fustenberg.

There is as yet no positive Information that Moreau has begun his Retreat, although from the late Movements, there is Reason to apprehend that he is making Preparations for it.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

(Signed)

ROBERT ANSTRUTHER,

Captain 3d Guards.

Wilhelmsbad, near Hanau, September 6, 1796.

JOURDAN continues his Retreat in the same disorderly Manner: Numbers of Stragglers pass by Hanau, and likewise on the other Side of the River by Steinheim; but the principal Part of the Army seems still to direct its March by Fulda and Gettenhausen. About 200 Artillery Men passed this Place Yesterday, without even Side Arms: They said they were disarmed and ill-treated by the Inhabitants of the Spesselt. It appears that great Numbers of the Enemy have been killed by the Peasants; they fell upon the Quarter-Master-General Ernouff, who was retreating with what is called the Grand Etat Major of the Army, killed the greatest Part of the Escort, seized the Military Chest, and divided the Money they found in it. General Ernouff, who is arrived at Frankfort, only escaped by the Swiftmess of his Horse. As soon as the French appear, the Alarm is given by the Ringing of Bells, when the Peasants immediately assemble where they think they may be able to attack the Enemy to Advantage.

AT the Court at St. James's, the 21st of September, 1796.

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

HIS Majesty in Council was this Day pleased to declare the Right Honorable John Earl of Chatham Lord President of His Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, and his Lordship took his Place at the Board accordingly.

PROCLAMATION for pardoning DESERTERS.

War-Office, September 22, 1796.

WHEREAS it has been represented to the King, That there are at this Time several Deserters from the different Regular Corps in His Majesty's Land Service, who might be induced to return to their Duty by an Offer of His Majesty's gracious Pardon, and that such an Instance of his Royal Clemency would have a due Influence upon their future Behaviour;

His Majesty has been graciously pleased, by his Order in Council, to grant his free Pardon to all Deserters from his Regular Land Forces, who shall surrender themselves, on or before the 10th Day of November next, to any of the Superintending Field Officers of the Recruiting Service, whose Stations are mentioned in the Margin hereof, or to the Inspector-General of the Recruiting Service at Chatham Barracks.

Such Deserters, if able-bodied Men and fit for Service, shall be appointed to such Regiments as His Majesty

Edinburgh. may be pleased to command; and
Glasgow. shall not be liable to be claimed by Aberdeen. any other Corps to which they may
Liverpool. formerly have belonged.

And whereas many of the said Deserters may have enlisted in other Regular Corps, and are now serving therein, His Majesty is graciously pleased to extend to such Deserters the Benefit of this Pardon; and to direct that they shall continue to serve in the Corps wherein they now are, without being under the Necessity of declaring themselves Deserters, in order to entitle them to the Benefit of this Pardon; and they shall not be liable, at any future Time, to be claimed by the Regiments in which they formerly served: But this Clause is not to extend to Deserters enlisted by the Corps raising Recruits for general Service; which Deserters are only to be entitled to their Pardon on declaring themselves at Chatham Barracks to be such, and being there transferred to some established Regiment.

And whereas several of the said Deserters have been apprehended, and are now in Gaol, or in Regimental Custody, His Majesty is likewise pleased to grant them his free Pardon, of which they are to have the Benefit upon their Arrival under Escort at Chatham Barracks, where they will be disposed of in the Manner above-mentioned.

Any Soldier who may desert after these His Majesty's gracious Intentions are made public, shall not be included in the above Pardon, but be proceeded against with the utmost Severity.

By His Majesty's Command,

W. Windham.

Whereas it has been humbly represented to the King, that, on the Afternoon of June the 11th, Mr. William Stephens, an Officer of Excise, accompanied by an Expectant, came up with Two Men on Horseback, on the Road between Penryn and Gweek, one of whom had a single Horse, the other Two Ankers, which the Officers supposing to contain smuggled Spirits, attempted to seize, when One of the Offenders immediately cocked his Gun, and presented it at Stephens, swearing, with horrid Imprecations, that if he attempted to touch it he would shoot him. That at this Time Three more Men had come to the Smugglers Assistance, armed with large Bludgeons, which obliged the Officers to desist; and as they were going off one of the Offenders fired at them, and lodged several Shots in the said Stephens's Hat.
