Amsterdam, May 30. The French Ambaffador at the Hague prefics the payment of the Contributions demanded of the Barony of Breda, with formuch earnefinefs, that the States have been obliged to give order in it. No body knows what to judge of the affairs of the North, for a son one fide there feems to be great difpofi ions to a Peace, fo on the other the oblacle that remains is able to render the Negotiations that are now on foot in order to it, wholly fruitlefs; for we are informed that France makes it a point of honor to obtain to Sueden a reflictation of whatever it has loft in this War, and therefore infifts upon it; and that the King of Denmark and Elector of Brandenburg declare they will rather hazard all, than part, the first with the places he is now polfeffed of in Schonen, and the latter with Stetin, &c. the illue of all a short time will show.

Stetin, &c. the illue of all a short time will shew. Hague, May 30. We are told that Monsfieur d'Avaux the French Ambaffador has received orders from France to require a politive answer of the States in the matter of the Contributions demanded of the Barony of Breda, and to intimate that unlefs care be speedily taken to fatisfie the French Intendant about the payment of them, the threatned execution thall be no longer delayed. The Elector of Brandenburg has finally agreed to deliver Schen-fcans up to this State, which is the more prefied on this fide least it might otherwise fall into the hands of the French. From Denmark they write, that an Overture had been made by the French Ambassa-dor in the Court of Sueden, by a Letter to the Chancellor of Denmarke, that Deputies might be appointed by the two Kings to meet in Schonen, to try if they could agree the Terms on which a Peace might be made; That the King of Denmark had accepted of it, but that no great fuccefs was expected from this meeting, feeing the Crown of Sueden is politive in its demand of an entire rellitution, which the King of Denmarke will not hear of, Paris, May 31. On Sunday laft arrived here the Sieur Meinders Envoy from the Elector of Brandenburg; he has not yet had Audience of the King, but has been with Monfieur Pompone, whom he acquaint ed with the great defire the Elector his Mafter has to put an end to the War he continues engaged in, and in order thereunto made feveral Proposals, of which we know no more, fave that in general it is faid, that his Electoral Highness is willing to reflore a confiderable part of the Conquelts he has made during the War; but as for Stetin and the Territory thereunto belonging, he feems re olved not to part with it; fo that the general opini n here is that the War will go on; this we know, that the Officers who upon the appearance of the Peace being fpecdily concluded, had leave to repair hither, have now orders to return immediately to their Troops on the The marriage of Madamoifelle with the R bine. King of Spain, is not to much tpoken as formerly, and many look upon it as a thing very diffant.
