

he, who, instead of giving him the assistance required by the States, the negated them, and made a separate Peace, thereby abandoning as well his as their own Affairs, and lying upon him the whole burthen of the War, in which he should have had no part, had it not been for his desire to help his Friends in their Misfortunes. as if it were a consolation to their Et. and Mi. (the States) to see him, (who had endeavoured with all his Might to save them from utter destruction) as a recompence, actually ruined. That he does not think it necessary to set before them more particulars of what he suffers for his assisting them, and how his Countries of Cleves, Marke, Ravensberg, and Minden, in view of their Armies, are quite ruined and desolated, which they have already understood from his Ministers, according to the orders he had given them. That he had expected they would have returned him an Answer to the Letter, in which he advised them of the Dangers that threatened him, and desired their assistance, that so at least he might have had the comfort to see the concern they had for his Misfortunes, which he had the more reason to expect, for that it must be yet fresh in their Et. and Mi. memory, how in their greatest necessity, he hazarded all for them, and preferred their Friendship before all the advantageous Conditions that were offered him. That their Et. and Mi. will according to their great Wisdom, comprehend, That he ought not to bear these unestimable Damages, for their sake, without compensation, and that according to all Right, he ought to expect the same, and his Indemnity from those, who might and ought to have prevented them; that therefore he writes their Et. and Mi. this Letter, that they may not think he had swallowed their unjust Proceedings or quitted the Obligations his Alliance with them laid upon them; but that as he on his part had always performed his Promises and Engagements, and done even more than they required, so he expects the like from them, or in default thereof, satisfaction for the same, and reserves to himself and his Posterity all the Right thereunto belonging. That he prays God to preserve them from all Misfortunes and Hostile Invasions for the future, that so they may not, to their great prejudice, come to know the consequence of forsaking faithful Friends.

Dated at Fossdam, July 11. 1679.

Brussels, July 28. Yesterday arrived our Spanish Letters, dated the 13th instant, which tell us, that the Plague is very hot in Andaluzia and Granada, to the great interruption of the Commerce of those parts. We are every day expecting here the arrival of Monsieur Hoeg, the Danish Ambassador, in his way to Paris, whither he goes, as you have been already told, to treat a Peace between the King his Master, and the Crowns of France and Sueden, the Conferences in Schonen being like to prove fruitless. From Wesel we have an account, that a Courier was passed through that place with orders to the Maréchal de Crequi to quit the Territories of the Elector of Brandenburg, and to return with the Army under his command towards the Rhine.

Hague, August 1. The States of Holland having almost finished the affairs before them, are going to separate. Their Resolution concerning Maastricht, as we are informed, is, That the Spanish Minister shall be told, that the States are ready to make good the obligation of their Treaty with the Crown of Spain and accordingly to restore Maastricht, but that they expect at the same time the King of Spain will give them satisfaction in their pretentions, and cause the Arrears due to this State for the Equipage that was made here for Sicily, to be paid.

Hague, August 1. This day Monsieur Colbert, who came hither two days since from Nimwegen, parted hence on his journey for Paris. The States have resolved to write an Answer to the Elector of Brandenburg, to let him see how unjustly he complains of them. From Wesel we have Letters, which inform us, that the Maréchal de Crequi was on his march thither, intending to repass the Rhine. The City of Cologne is very jealous of the French.

Paris, August 2. The Ratifications of the Peace between our King and the Elector of Brandenburg, being exchanged, the same was published here two days since. The Peace between the Northern Crowns is treating here.

Pendennis, July 21. The Wind being the last week variable, very few ships came into this Harbour; amongst those that did, were the George of London, George Stephens Master, bound for the Canaries, and the Satisfaction of Chester, bound home.

Plimouth, July 22. The 20th instant arrived here the St. Michael of Newport, and the Morlaix Merchant of this place from Hamburg. The next day came in here the Magdalen of St. Valery, the Sea-flower of Yarmouth, with Deals from Norway, the Hope of this place, likewise from Norway; the Pestilion of Calais, bound for Rochel, the Fortune of Rotterdam bound for the Groyne, and the Hope of London, Francis Richardson Master, bound for New York.

Deale, July 23. Last night Sir John Holmes came hither from London, and went on board His Majesties Ship the Captaine; and this morning his Flag was hoisted on the Main-top. The Success Frigate is come into the Downes from the River.

Advertisements.

A Narrative of the Depositions of Robert Fenison Esq; With other Material Evidences, plainly proving that Mr William Ireland, lately Executed for High Treason, was in London the Nineteenth of August, 1678. Notwithstanding his confident Denial thereof both at his Tryal and Execution. Collected by Charles Clotwind Esq; Sold by Henry Hills, Thomas Parkhurst, John Sparkey, Drury Newman, Thomas Cockeril, Thomas Simmons; and Jacob Tonson.

Horæ Mathematicæ, seu Urania, The Soul of Astrology, containing that Art in all its Parts. In IV. Books. Illustrated with an Introduction to the same. As also the Doctrine of Nativities, considered in the various way: of Rectification, Direction, Configuration Transits and Revolutions. Of Radical Elections, Solution of Horary Questions, Annual Judgments, Monthly Observations, Eclipses, Comets, Conjunctions of the Superiours, Judgments of the Weather: The Rising, Southing, and Setting of the Sun, Moon and Stars, by new Tables never before Published. The Via nova Genethliacæ, or new way of managing Nativities, and finding out all their several directions by Inspection only. Without trouble of Calculation. By W. Salmon, Professor of Physic. Sold by Thomas Dawkes at the Blw Anchor in Ludgate-street.

S Tolen so strayed the 14th instant out of the ground of Mr. John Rymel near Hackney Church, one brown bay Mare about 14 hands high, thorough paced, long main, bob tail, about 6 or 7 years old strained in the back sinews on both the fore legs and dressed with cold Charges. One bay Nag, between 13 and 14 hands high, bob tail, long main, and has lately had two Plaisters on the nape of his neck, a small blaze of white down his face. Whoever gives notice to Mr. Rymel at Doston near Hackney, or to Mr William Bignol at the White Hart in Clerkenwell Street, London, shall be well rewarded.

L OSt on Tuesday the 22 of this instant, a little Gold Watch, in an Oval frame, between W. Smith and Chapman, the Workmans name Chamberlain, and the Key tied with a black and white Ribon. Whoever has taken up the said Watch, and brings it to Mr J. F. at the Kings Apothecary in the P.O. Mail, over against the Countess of Portlands, shall be well Rewarded.