Warsaw, Novemb. 3.

THE last account we had from our Ambassadors at Mosco, was, that they continued to have frequent Conferences with the Ministers of that Court, and that they hoped to bring their Negotiation to a speedy and good conclusion, and the rather for that the endeavors that had been used by some to bring the Turks and the Moscovites to a Treaty had proved abortive, through the extravagant demands of the former; so that according to all appearance this Crown will the next year join with the Moscovites in the War against the Ottomans, to which all the Nobility are extremely disposed, hoping that this conjuncture may be favourable to them to recover what this Kingdom has lost within some years past; though the Ambassadors which our King sent to all the Great Princes of Christendom to demand their assistance, are like to return with very little encouragement.

Genoua, Nov. 15. The 11 instant arrived here Sir Richard Munden in the St. David, with the Samuel and Henry, the Unity, the Danby, and the Advice, bound for Legorn and Venice, under his Convoy. The Greenwich, with 3 or 4 Merchant Ships parted from thence off of Marseilles; and 7 or 8 Merchant Ships more of the same Fleet are passed by for Legorn. The Centurion and Nonfuch Frigates were according to our last advice still at Cadix. This Senate hath written to the Most Christian King; to acquaint him, that his Majesty may please to send what Gallies or Men of War he thinks fit to winter in this Port; but pray his excuse that they cannot admit them into their Arsenal, which was never granted to the Spanish Gallies, except to those of Turks, whose General and Captains are Genouefes, and besides are obliged, in case there be occasion, to defend the Republic against all persons whatsoever, as they lately did, in assisting this State against the Savoyards.

Prague, Nov. 15. The last Letters from Munick gave an account, that the Imperial and French Ministers there were not wanting to promote to the utmost of their power the Interests of their respective Masters; That Monsieur Colbert had proceeded so far as to bring the Marriage between the Dauphin and the Princess of Bavaria very near to a conclusion; but as for that proposed between the Elector and the Duke of Orlean's second Daughter: Count Lobcomits, the Emperors Envoye, had prevailed so far, as to obtain a Declaration that the Elector would not marry till he is of age to take upon himself the Government of his Countries; which in effect is to decline the Overture now made by the French concerning his Marriage. The Letters add, that Prince Maximilian, the Electors Uncle, in whose hands is at present the chief administration of affairs, is in this matter on the side of the Imperialists, promoting all he can, his Nephews marriage with the Emperors Daughter, which we here persuade our selves will take effect. The Emperor is resolved to go on with the disbanding part of his Forces, though many are of opinion the security of the Empire does rather require their number should be increased.

Berlin, Nov. 16. There passes here not any thing worth the writing, unless it be, that our Elector is making a very considerable reduction of his Forces, to ease his Countries, which have for several years past born the burthen of so expensive a War, as his Electoral Highness was engaged in. From Frankfort and those parts we have an account, that the Deputies of several Princes had complained to the Dyet at Ratisbonne of the French proceedings in Alsace, who have cut off that Country from the Empire, and subjected it to the Crown of France; but that those complaints had not produced any resolution, the States assembled there, looking upon the present posture of affairs to be such, as will not permit them to take one, becoming the Dignity of the Empire.

Hamburg, Nov. 22. The King of Denmark is certainly gone for Copenhagen, without holding a Dyet at Flensburg, as was reported, perhaps because the Duke of Holstein-Gottorp would not join with him in the calling of it. There seems to be no good understanding between these two Princes, and probably the occasion of it is, that the Duke still retains a resentment of his sufferings, and the great losses he has sustained. The Marriage between the King of Sueden and the Princess of Denmark will be speedily consummated. This Princess was contracted to the King of Sueden some years since, a solemn Embassie having to that purpose been sent to Copenhagen, and Articles concluded and signed, which the War that followed between those two Crowns hindered then the execution of. The King of Denmark has restored to the Suedes the places he was possessed of in Schonen, Bleking, and Halland, but as yet we do not hear any thing of the evacuating of Wismar. Neither do our Letters from Pomeran tell us when Stettin is to be delivered up. The King of Denmark has demanded of the Emperor the Investiture of Oldenburg and Delmenborst, which after a Suite of many years before the Imperial Chamber, have been adjudged to him, though there seems yet to remain some difficulty in the thing.

Cologne, Nov. 24. The Princes and Courts of Wetteravia have made a League among themselves for the security of their Countries against quartering of Foreign Troops. Our Elector has made a like Treaty with those of the Country of Eyfelt, to which they have likewise invited the Elector of Trier. The French have sold their Bridge at Wesel for 2000 Crowns, but as yet we hear not of their quitting quitting that place. The Prince of Furtemberg is still here, but means in few days to return for France. We have this day advice from Aix la Chapelle that Monsieur Calvo had received orders to quit that place.

Portsmouth, Nov. 23. Yesterday His Majesties Ships the Woolwich, and King-Fisher, which are designed for the Streights, failed to the Spithead, and are there waiting for further orders.

Edenburg, Nov. 13. Yesterday Mrs. Hamilton, who was convicted of having killed the Lord Forrester, was, according to the Sentence passed upon her, beheaded.

Edenburg, Nov. 15. Yesterday the Lord Chancellor having called an extraordinary Council, their Lordships after having sat some hours (the Clerks being commanded to withdraw) ordered a Warrant to be issued to the Earl of Linlithgow, Constable of His Majesties Castle of Blackness, to secure and keep close Prisoner the Lord Berganey, for having Abetted and Incited the late Rebellion.

His Majesty having been graciously pleased to grant a general Pardon to all those concerned in the late Rebellion (some of the most notorious Ringleaders and Preachers, and particularly the Murderers of the Archbishop of St. Andrews excepted) upon Condition they signed a Bond obliging themselves never for the future to rise up in Arms against His Majesty, or His Authority; Which five of those taken at Bothwell-Bridge refusing to do, as likewise to own that their late taking up of Arms against the King was Rebellion, or that the Murder of the said Archbishop was a Murder, or a Sin; They were, after Tryal, sentenced by the Lords of the Justice Court, to be Hanged in Chains on the place where the Horrid Murder of the said Archbishop was committed; which Sentence will be executed on Tuesday next.

Edenburg, Nov. 20. Great preparations are making here for their Royal Highnesses reception. The Lords of the Privy Council, accompanied with the Nobility and Gentry of the Southern Shires, and of some Shires on the North of Forth, are gone to receive their Royal Highnesses upon the Borders.

Barwicke, Nov. 21. Yesterday about noon their Royal Highnesses, attended with a great number of the principal Gentry of these parts, came hither from Middleton near Belford. At their entrance into the Town they were saluted with a treble discharge of the great Guns, and were received by the Deputy-Governor Ralph Wdrington Esq; and by the Mayor, Aldermen, and principal Burgeses of this place, and conducted to the Kings Palace, where the Mayor and Aldermen waited on their Royal Highnesses, and by their Recorder Sir Richard Scott made their Compliment to them; after which the Town presented their Royal Highnesses with a Banquet, and with Wines; and the Deputy-Governor nobly entertained them and the Nobility and Gentry at Supper. This morning their Royal Highnesses parted from hence (the great Guns round the Lines being again thrice discharged, and the Mayor, Aldermen, and the principal Burgeses waiting upon them to the Bound-rod, where the Lord Chancellor, and the Lords of the Privy Council of Scotland, accompanied with a great number of Nobility and Gentry, making a very great Body of Horse, were ready to receive their Royal Highnesses. A particular account of which reception you may expect in our next.

Westminster, Nov. 25. This day Thomas Knox and John Lane (formerly a Servant to Dr. Oates) were Tryed at the Kings Bench Bar, for conspiring together with one William Osborne (who is now fled) to scandalize the said Dr. Oates, and Mr. Bedloe, and by false informations to render them persons of no Credit, &c. and upon full Evidence were found Guilty, and immediately committed to the Prison of the Kings Bench, in order to their receiving Judgment.

Whitehall, Nov. 25. His Majesty has appointed John Hippeley Esq; to be Sheriff of Berkshire in the room of Sir Henry Kenricke Baronet; and George Luxford of Hellingby, Esq; to be Sheriff of Suffex, in the room of William Peckham Esq;

Whitehall, Nov. 26. Sir Robert Payton having been this afternoon Examined before His Majesty in Council, he was ordered to give in Bail for his appearance the first day of the next Term at the Kings Bench Bar, to answer to such Information as shall be exhibited against him.
