But it is, nevertheless, His Majesty's Pleasure, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to any of His Majesty's Ships of War, or any other Ships or Vessels or Boats, in the Service of His Majesty, or employed or freighted by His Majesty's Board of Ordnance, or by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Navy; nor to prevent any Ship or Vessel from taking or having on Board such Quantities of Naval Stores as may be necessary for the Use of such Ship or Vessel during the Course of her intended Voyage, or by Licence from the Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, or the Commissioners of the Admiralty for the Time being; nor to the Exportation of the said several Articles to Ireland, or to His Majesty's Yards or Garrisons, or to His Majesty's Colonies or Plantations in America or the West Indies, or to Newfoundland, or to His

Westminster, June 29, 1798.

THIS Day His Majesty came to the House of Peers, and being in His Royal Robes, seated on the Throne with the usual Solemnity, Sir Francis Molyneux, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a Message from His Majesty to the House of Commons, commanding their Attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majesty was pleased to give the Royal Assent to

An Act for enabling His Majesty to raise the Sum of One Million for the Uses and Purposes therein mentioned, and for applying a certain Sum of Money therein mentioned, for the Service of the Year One thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight; for further appropriating the Supplies granted in this Session of Parliament, and for making forth Duplicates of Exchequer Bills, Lottery Tickets, Certificates, Receipts, Annuity Orders, or other Orders lost, burnt, or otherwise destroyed.

An Act for raising the Sum of Three Millions by Loans or Exchequer Bills.

An Act to revive and continue, until the Tenth Day of April, One thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine, and amend an Act, passed in the last Session of Parliament, intituled, "An Act for granting to His Majesty additional Duties on Distilleries in the several Parts of the Highlands of Scotland, therein particularly described, for a limited Time, and for regulating the Duties on Distilleries in the respective Districts in Scotland; and for granting to His Majesty certain additional Duties on Spirits distilled titled for Consumption, and a Duty on unmalted Grain used in Distillation in Scotland, and for altering and amending certain other Acts of Parliament for the Regulation of Distilleries in Scotland.

An Act for ascertaining the Duty payable on Taxed Carts.

An Act for the Regulation of the Provisional Force of Cavalry, raised by Virtue of Two Acts of the last Session of Parliament.

An Act for the better Security and Defence of the Town and Port of Liverpool.

After which His Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious Speech.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

BY the Measures adopted during the present Session, you have amply fulfilled the solemn and unanimous Assurances which I received from you at its Commencement.

The Example of your Firmness and Constancy has been applauded and followed by My Subjects in every Rank and Condition of Life. A Spirit of voluntary and ardent Exertion, diffused through every Part of the Kingdom, has strengthened and confirmed Our internal Security; the same Sentiments have continued to animate My Troops of every Description, and My Fleets have met the Menaces of Invasion, by blocking up Our Enemies in all their principal Ports.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The extensive and equitable Scheme of Contribution, by which so large a Proportion of our Expences will be defrayed within the Year, has defeated the Expectations of those who had vainly hoped to exhaust Our Means, and to destroy our Public Credit. You have been enabled to avail yourselves of farther Resources from a Commerce increased in Extent and Vigour, notwithstanding the Difficulties of War, and have had the singular Satisfaction of deriving at the same Moment, large additional Aid from individual Exertions of unexampled Zeal, Liberality, and Patriotism.

The Provision which has been made for the Redemption of the Land Tax has also established a System which, in its progressive Operation, may produce the happiest Consequences, by the Encrease of Our Resources, the Diminution of Our Debt, and the Support of Public Credit.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The Designs of the Disaffected, carried on in Concert with Our inveterate Enemies, have been unremittingly pursued, but have been happily and effectually counteracted in this Kingdom by the general Zeal and Loyalty of My Subjects.

In Ireland they have broken out into the most criminal Acts of open Rebellion. Every Effort has been employed on My Part to subdue this dangerous Spirit, which is equally hostile to the Interest and Safety of every Part of the British Empire. I cannot too strongly commend the unshaken Fidelity and Valour of My Regular, Fencible and Militia Troops in Ireland, and that determined Spirit with which My Yeomanry and Volunteer Forces of that Kingdom, have stood forward in the Defence of the Lives and Properties of their Fellow-Subjects, and in Support of the lawful Government.

The striking and honourable Proof of Alacrity and Public Spirit, which so many of My Fencible and Militia Regiments in this Kingdom have manifested on this Occasion, has already received the fullest Testimony of the Approbation of Parliament.

This Conduct, personally so honourable to the Individuals, affords the strongest Pledge both of the Military Ardor which actuates this valuable Part of Our National Defence, and of their affectionate Concern for the Safety and Happiness of Ireland, which are essentially connected with the general Interests of the British Empire.

With the Advantage of this Support, and after the distinguished and important Success which has recently attended the Operations of my Arms against the principal Force of the Rebels, I trust the Time is fast approaching, when those now seduced from their Allegiance will be brought to a just Sense of the Guilt they have incurred, and will entitle themselves to Forgiveness, and to that Protection which is My constant Wish to afford to every Class and Condition of My Subjects who manifest their Desire to pay a due Obedience to the Laws.

This temporary Interruption of Tranquillity, and all its attendant Calamities, must be attributed to those pernicious Principles which have been industriously propagated in that Country, and which, wherever they have prevailed, have never failed to produce the most disastrous Effects.

With such Warnings before Us, sensible of the Danger which We are called upon to repel, and of the Blessings we have to preserve, let us continue firmly united in a determined Resistance to the Designs of Our Enemies, and in the Defence of that Constitution which has been found, by Experience, to ensure to Us, in so eminent a Degree, Public Liberty, National Strength, and the Security and Comfort of all Classes of the Community.

It is only by Perseverance in this Line of Conduct that We can hope, under the Continuance of that Divine Protection which We have so abundantly experienced, to conduct this arduous Contest to a happy Issue; and to maintain undiminished, the Security, Honour, and lasting Prosperity of the Country.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by His Majesty's Command, said;

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is His Majesty's Royal Will and Pleasure, That this Parliament be prorogued to Wednesday, the Eighth Day of August next, to be then here holden; and his Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Wednesday, the Eighth Day of August next.

Westminster, June 28, 1798.

THIS Day the Lords being met, a Message was sent to the Honourable House of Commons by Mr. Quarre, the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, acquainting them, that The Lords, authorized by virtue of His Majesty's Commission for declaring His Royal Assent to several Acts agreed upon by both Houses, do desire the immediate Attendance of this Honourable House in the House of Peers, to hear the Commission read; and the Commons being come thither, the said Commission, empowering the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and several other Lords therein named, to declare and notify the Royal Assent to the said Acts, was read accordingly, and the Royal Assent given to

A Dispatch, of which the following is a Copy has been received from His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland by His Grace the Duke of Portland, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department.

Dublin Castle, June 25, 1798.

My Lord,

I HAVE the Honour of inclosing to your Grace
the Copy of a Letter received this Day by Lord Castlereagh, from Major General Sir Charles Asgill, and a Return of the killed, wounded and missing by the Attack on Vinegar Hill and the Town of Enniscorthy.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

CORNWALLIS.

His Grace the Duke of Portland.

Kilkenny June 24, 1798. Nine o'Clock, P. M.

My Lord,

I HAVE the Honour to inform you, that early on the Morning of the 23d Instant, I received Information that the Rebels, amounting to several Thousands, had escaped from the County of Wexford, and formed a Camp at Killymount, and were proceeding to Gores Bridge. I instantly assembled all the Force I could collect, and marched towards them.
I did not arrive in Time to prevent their defeating a Detachment at that Place, and taking 24 Men of the Wexford Militia Prisoners. They marched off rapidly.

rapidly towards Leighlin. The Troops from thence consisting of a small Party of the Ninth Dragoons, commanded by Lieutenant Higgins, Lieut. Colonel Rochfort's, and Captain Cornwall's Yeomanry, killed Sixty of them. Night coming on, I could not pursue them any further. By the Position they took up near Sharkill, I conceived their Intentions were to form a Junction with the Colliers at Castle-comer. As soon as the Troops were able to move, I marched with Nine Hundred Men to attack them, and was sorry to find, they had burnt the whole Town, and forced the Soldiers who were in it, to retire before my Arrival. Having cleared the Town with the Guns, I attacked them on all Sides. About Four Hundred were killed, the Remainder fled. They were commanded by a Priest called Murphy, and their Numbers are said to amount to 5000. Our Loss was inconsiderable. My Force consisted of the Wexford and Wicklow Militia, under the Command of Lord Lorus and the Honourable Col. Howard. The Dragoons were commanded by Major Donaldson of the Ninth Dragoons, and Major Barnard, of the Romney Fencibles, with several Yeomanry Corps from this County and Carlow, who, as well as the other Troops are entitled to my warmest Praise for their Bravery and Alertness, on this and every Occasion.

I have the Honour to be, &c. &c.

G. HEWETT, A. G.

Dublin Castle, June 23, 1798.

This Day, at half past Three o'Clock, the Earl Camden, late Lord-Lieutenant of this Kingdom, left the Castle, in order to embark on board His Majesty's Yacht, the Dorset, on his Return to England.

His Excellency Marquis Cornwallis, and the Earl Camden, proceeded on Horseback, attended by their respective Suits. They were escorted by numerous Bodies of Yeomen Cavalry, and attended by a great Number of the Nobility and Persons of Distinction, the Lord-Mayor, Sheriffs, Aldermen and principal Citizens in their Carriages, followed by a Concourfe of People to the Water-side. The Streets were lined by the Yeomen Infantry. Lord Camden received the strongest Demonstrations of Affection and Respect in passing through the Streets from the People, who testified their Regard by repeated Wishes for his Welfare and Happiness.

Admiralty-Office, June 29, 1798.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Sir Thomas Williams, Commander of His Majesty's Ship Endymion, to Evan Nepean, Esq; dated off Wexford, the 22d of June, 1798.

I Beg to acquaint you, for the Information of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that, when cruising at the Entrance of St. George's Channel with the Squadron under my Command; I received Information on the 19th, that the King's Troops were to commence their Attack on the Rebels at Wexford on the 20th or 21st. I immediately proceeded off that Harbour with the Ships named in the Margin*, and Five Cutters which I had collected. Lieutenant Carpenter, Sen. Lieutenant of the Endymion, was immediately dispatched in Command of the Cutters and Ship's Launches, manned and armed with Carronades in their Prows to blockade the inward Part of the Entrance of the Harbour, and to prevent the Escape of the Rebel armed Vessels, and others, of which they were in Possession, to the Amount of Forty or Fifty Sail. On the 21st I was joined by the Chapman and Weazle Sloops, which, being of light Draught of Water, anchored much nearer in than the Frigates could venture, and thereby gave more effectual Protection to the Cutters and Launches destined to attack the Harbour and Fort at the entrance of it, which fired on them. On the Arrival of Captain Keen, of the Chapman, I directed him to conduct the Operations of the Cutters and Launches, and endeavour to possess himself of the Harbour and Fort, the Tides being so low, and the Wind blowing out, that neither of the Sloops could get in. The Launches proceeded to attack the Fort, of which they soon possessed themselves, upwards of 200 of the Rebels precipitately retreating from it, leaving behind them their Colours flying and Three Six-pounders. The Launches then immediately proceeded up the Harbour; and, upon their Arrival at the Town, had the Happiness to find the King's Troops were just marching into it, they having entirely defeated the Rebels in Two separate Attacks on the 20th and 21st, and who are now flying in all Directions, Two of their Generals, Hay and Roche, taken Prisoners.

As the Object of the Squadron remaining at Anchor here is now fully accomplished, it is my Intention to get to Sea to-morrow, if possible; and I am happy to be informed, since the Reduction of Wexford, that the Appearance of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels off the Harbour, and the Measures pursued by them, has been attended with the happiest Consequences, and greatly contributed to check the further Progress of the horrible Massacres that have been committed in the Town of Wexford, disgraceful to Humanity.

There being a Number of Boats and small Vessels along the Coast, belonging to the Rebels, which I conceived would be employed in facilitating the Escape of the Fugitives, I have ordered the Boats of the Squadron in, and destroyed about 100 of them; in some, Pikes were found concealed.

The Public Service has greatly benefited by the judicious Arrangements of Captain Keen and Lieutenant Carpenter, and by the Zeal and Activity manifested by them and the Officers and People employed in the different Ships, Boats and Launches under their Command, and otherwise.

Admiralty Office, June 30, 1798.

Extract of a Letter from Captain Halsted, of His Majesty's Ship Phoenix, to Evan Nepean, Esq. dated at Plymouth, the 5th Instant.

I HAVE the Honour of acquainting you, for their Lordships Information, that His Majesty's Ship, under my Command, arrived here this Morning, in Company with the Caroline French Privateer, and the Henry of Liverpool, her Prize. The above Ships were captured by the Phoenix on the 31st Ult. in Lat. 49 Deg. 02 Min. N. Long. 15 Deg. 38 Min. W. The Caroline is a very handsome Ship, coppered, only Eight Months old, and sails exceedingly fast. She is pierced for Twenty Guns, carrying Twelves and Sixes, most of which were thrown overboard in Chace, and 105 Men, had been Ten Days from Nantz, without making any other Capture than the Henry, and a Danish Ship. The Henry is a valuable Ship, bound to Jamaica, and was captured by the above Privateer, on the 3d Ult. on which Day we also sent in an American Ship, which had been taken some Days before.

This Privateer is one of those I went in Search of, the 28th Ult. agreeably to Intelligence I received from the Success Transport, and by which Ship I had the Honour of acquainting you for their Lordships' Information, by Letter of that Day's Date.
