Whitehall, January 19, 1799. Whitehall, January 19, 1799.

Whereas it has been humbly represented to His Majesty, That on Wednesday the 26th Day of December last, between Ten and Eleven o' Clock at Night, Mr. Ambrose Bowden, Sitter of the Custom-House Boat stationed at Cawsand, within the Port of Plymouth, in the County of Devon, being out upon Duty with Four of his Men in his Boat, rowing from Cawsand Beach towards Penlee Point on the Coast of Cornavell, in consequence of Information which he had rewall, in confequence of Information which he had re-served, that a Smuggling Vessel called the Lottery was about to land her Cargo near the faid Point, he discovered a large Sloop or Cutter lying at Anchor, about Half a Mile from the Point, bearing S. W. by W.

That on coming near to the faid Sloop or Cutter, Mr. Bowden perceived several Boats lying alongside of the state of the sta her and at her Stern; and when he got within about One Hundred Yards of the faid Sloop or Cutter, some Person on board called out and asked, What Boat that was? Upon which Mr. Bowden answered it was a King's Boat; upon which fome Person on board the Smuggling Sloop or Cutter, called out and faid, "Keep off, or I will fire into you." Mr. Bowden again said, that his was a King's Boat, and a Revenue Boat, and dared the People on board to fire. That being by this dared the People on board to fire. That being by this Time within Twenty Yards of the Snuggling Sloop or Cutter, the People on board again ordered Mr. Bowden to keep off, and fired with Guns or Blunderbuffes at his Boat Three Times, by which Humphry Glinn One of Mr. Bowden's Men in the faid Boat, was killed:—That Mr. Bowden then took up a Musket, which he had in his Boat, and fired at the said Sloop or Cutter several Times, upon which the People on board either cut or slipped their Cable, and said away before the Wind to the Westward, at the same Time before the Wind to the Westward, at the same Time continuing to fire over her Stern at Mr. Bowden's Boat: That Mr. Bowden, not being able to pursue the said Sloop or Cutter, returned to Cawsand Bay, where he went on board of His Majesty's Ship Stag, and the Surgeon and his Mate examined the said Humphry Glinn, when they found that the fore Part of his Skull was that any court and that he was quite dead.

flot away, and that he was quite dead.

His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned in this Felony and Murder, is hereby pleased to promise His most gra-cious Pardon to any One or more of the said Offenders (except the Master or Commander of the said Sloop or Cutter, and the Person or Persons who adually fired) who shall discover his or their Accomplices, so that any One or more of them may be apprehended.

Custom House, London, 16th Jan. 1799.

And as a farther Encouragement, the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs do hereby promise a Reward of

TWO HUNDRED POUNDS to any Person of Persons (except as before slated) who shall discover and apprehend, or cause and procure to be discovered and apprehended, any One or more of the said Offenders, to be paid by the Receiver General of His Majesty's Cuftonis.

By Order of the Commissioners,

J. Hume, Secretary.
