

the Russian Army, Major-General Emme's being also wounded; but I am happy to say that their Wounds are not of a Nature to lead me to apprehend that I shall long be deprived of the Assistance of their Abilities and Gallantry. It is impossible for me at this Moment to do Justice to the Merits of the other Generals and Officers of the Allied Army who distinguished themselves, as I must defer until To-morrow paying my Tribute of Praise to them and to the Troops generally, as well as giving the Details of the Battle of the 2d Instant. My Attention is seriously engaged in making the Arrangements which are necessary for occupying a forward Position in Front of Beverwyck and Wyckop-Zee, to which Line the Enemy has retreated. I entertain no Doubt that the Extent of Country which will now be under the Protection of the Allied Army, and rescued from French Tyranny, will afford an Opportunity to its Loyal Inhabitants of declaring themselves. The Town of Alkmaar, which is the Seat of the States of North Holland, has opened its Gates to our Troops, and a considerable Number of the Dutch Troops have come over to the Prince of Orange's Standard.

In order that you may be in Possession of such Information as Want of Time will not at present allow me to detail, I charge my Aid-de-Camp Captain Fitzgerald with this Dispatch. He is entirely in my Confidence, and I request Leave to recommend him to His Majesty as an Officer of superior Merit and Intelligence.

I am, Sir, yours,

FREDERICK.
