

and Clergy of your Majesty's Island of Guernsey assembled, beg leave, for themselves and the other Inhabitants of your said Island, to offer our Congratulations to your Majesty on the providential Protection of your sacred Person when lately endangered by the atrocious Attempt of an execrable Assassin.

With the sincerest Affection and the most heartfelt Sense of the Happiness which we enjoy in common with our fellow Subjects under your Majesty's Auspicious Reign, we have been deeply affected, and have seen with Horror and Indignation your Majesty's precious Life endangered, upon which not only the welfare of your Majesty's People, but that of all Europe, and of the Christian World so eminently depends.

That the Almighty may guard your sacred Person from every Danger, and long preserve your Majesty as a bright Example and a Blessing to your People, is the ardent Prayer of,

May it please your Majesty,
Your Majesty's most loyal and most affectionate Subjects.

[Presented by Sir Charles Grey.]

The humble Address of the German Lutheran Ministers and Congregations in Saint James's, the Savoy, Trinity-Lane, Spital-Fields, and Goodman's-Fields.

Most High and Most Potent Sovereign, Most Gracious King and Lord,

YOUR Majesty's gracious and paternal Affection towards all your faithful Subjects, assures us of the favourable Reception of these Congratulations with which we again approach your exalted Throne.

Full of the most heartfelt Gratitude, Sire, we and our Congregations look up to that Omnipotent Hand, which has been of late again so manifestly extended to save and preserve a Life so infinitely dear to us; and we observe with the most lively Joy, that the greatest Misfortunes which the Benign Ruler of the World in His Divine Providence permits to befall your Majesty, all tend to shed the greater Lustre on your Royal Virtues, and to increase the Respect and Love of your Subjects towards you.

May your Majesty long remain the most admired and the most honored Monarch of a grateful People.

May we still many Years rejoice in your wise and bountiful Reign, and praise in you a Thousand and a Thousand Times, the Christian, the Friend of Mankind, the Pattern of Princes, the Dispenser of Happiness, and the Father of your People.

We are, with the most profound Respect,
and the most unshaken Fidelity,
Sire,

Your Majesty's most devoted and most faithful Subjects and Servants,

*H. O. Schrader and C. H. Giese, Ministers of the Lutheran Congregation of St. James's.
Rev. Dr. F. G. Burckhardt, Minister of the Lutheran Church, St. Mary, in the Savoy.
F. C. Beuthin, Minister of the Lutheran Church in Trinity-Lane.
F. U. C. Ubele, Minister of the Lutheran Church in Spital-Fields.
C. C. A. Schwabe, Minister of the Lutheran Church in Goodman's Fields.*

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects assembled at a Meeting of the Cornwall Agricultural Society, held at Bodmin in the said County, take this Opportunity of offering to your Majesty our most loyal Congratulations on the very fortunate Escape from the late dangerous Attack to which your Majesty's Person was exposed.

Whilst we look with Horror upon an Attempt which might have involved this Country in so deep a Calamity, we cannot but acknowledge with Gratitude the signal Interposition of that Power which has so long preserved your Majesty to a faithful and loyal People.

Under your Majesty's Auspices the Agriculture of this Country has so conspicuously flourished, that we naturally avail ourselves of the present Occasion to congratulate your Majesty on the fair Prospect of its continued Improvement, and of its advancing to a state of unexampled Prosperity.

Dated June 3, 1800.

[Presented by Lord De Dunstanville, President of the Cornwall Agricultural Society.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of the Town of Whitehaven, beg leave to approach your Throne with our sincere and most heartfelt Congratulations upon your Majesty's late happy Escape from the violent Attempt of an Assassin: whether this Attempt is to be ascribed to the unhappy Derangement of an Individual, or to more combined and systematic Treachery, we cannot presume to determine; but enjoying, as we do, the Benefits of a free and equal Government, and these also heightened and endeared to us by your Majesty's mild and paternal Administration, we cannot but feel, and therefore we wish to express the strongest Abhorrence of such an Attempt. In a Constitution like our own, we think, that not only the Feelings of the Subject are outraged, but even his Rights invaded by any Attack upon the sacred Person of his Sovereign, and therefore we felicitate ourselves, at the same Time that we congratulate your Majesty upon your late providential Escape from such an Attack, and have only to add to our Congratulations, our devoutest Wishes, that your Majesty may long continue to reign in the Hearts and Affections of your Subjects, the King over a free, a loyal, and united People.

[Presented by Sir William Lowther.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of Montrose.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of Montrose, humbly beg Leave to approach your Majesty to express our Indignation and Astonishment at the late daring and atrocious Attempt on your Majesty's sacred Person.

While we most sincerely congratulate your Majesty on your Deliverance, we cannot withhold our Gratitude to Almighty God for having in His Pro-