

Fire of Grape and Musketry, excites my Admiration even more, if possible, than the gallant Manner in which the Brig was carried; I therefore feel it my Duty to recommend Lieutenant Dick to their Lordships' Notice, who speaks highly of the Officers and Men employed under him, both from this Ship and the African Corps; and we had the Satisfaction at Daylight to perceive the Brig had sunk up to her Gunwales in a quick Sand. It appears she was called the Senegal; had been fitted out there at the Expence of the Republic; and was commanded by Citizen Renou, who was on board at the Time, and of whose Fate we are uncertain; she mounted Eighteen Guns, Twelve and Nine-Pounders, and had nearly Sixty Men on board, some of which escaped in a Boat, the Rest were killed in boarding, except Five Whites and Thirteen Blacks, who are now on board this Ship. It was chiefly owing to the Alacrity and Courage of the latter that we met such Resistance. Enclosed I have the Honor to transmit a List of Killed and Wounded.

I remain, Sir, &c. &c. &c.

Signed C. HAMILTON.
